capture the breadth of China's oral based literary heritage. This collection presents works drawn from the large body of oral literature of many of China's recognized ethnic groups including the Han, Yi, Miao, Tu, Daur, Tibetan, Uyghur and Kazak and the selections include a variety of genres. Chapters cover folk stories, songs, rituals and drama as well as epic traditions and professional storytelling and feature both familiar and little known texts from the story of the woman warrior Hua Mulan to the love stories of urban storytellers in the Yangtze delta, the shaman rituals of the Manchu and a trickster tale of the Daur people from the forests of the northeast. The Cannibal Grandmother of the Yi and other strange creatures and characters unsettle accepted notions of Chinese fable and literary form. Readers are introduced to antiphonal songs of the Zhuang and the Dong who live among the fantastic limestone hills of the Guangxi Zhuang Autonomous Region, work and matchmaking songs of the mountain dwelling She of Fujian province and saltwater songs of the Cantonese speaking boat people of Hong Kong. The editors feature the Mongolian epic poems of Geser Khan and Jangar, the sad tale of the Qeo family girl from the Tu people of Gansu and Qinghai provinces and local plays known as rice sprouts from Hebei province. These fascinating juxtapositions invite comparisons among cultures, styles and genres and expert translations preserve the individual character of each thrillingly imaginative work.

Cassell's Book of In-door Amusements, Card Games, and Fireside

Fun Various, 2019-11-29 Cassell's Book of In-door Amusements Card Games and Fireside Fun is a delightful compendium that encapsulates the spirit of leisure activities from the late 19th century. The book blends instructional content with a playful literary style that invites readers into the world of indoor games and social entertainment. Written during the Victorian era, a time when industrialization and urbanization prompted a shift in leisure pursuits, this handbook addresses the cultural significance of social gatherings and family pastimes, presenting detailed descriptions of various card games, puzzles, and other amusements designed to foster camaraderie and enjoyment in the home. The author, a collective effort from various contributors, reflects the era's fascination with both recreation and the societal importance of family and community bonding. This anthology serves as a testament to the social fabric of the time, likely influenced by the growing middle class's need for structured entertainment within domestic spheres. These pastimes not only offered enjoyment but also reinforced social ties, etiquette, and interpersonal skills, thereby serving a dual purpose. I wholeheartedly recommend Cassell's Book of In-door Amusements to both history enthusiasts and contemporary readers seeking to enrich their own social experiences. The timeless nature of these games, combined with the charming prose, makes this book a valuable resource for anyone wishing to reconnect with friends and family through shared amusement.

Animation in China

Sean Macdonald, 2015-11-06 By the turn of the 21st century, animation production has grown to thousands of hours a year in the People's Republic of China (PRC). Despite this, and unlike American blockbuster productions and the diverse genres of Japanese anime, much animation from the PRC remains relatively unknown. This book is an historical and theoretical study of animation in the PRC. Although the Wan Brothers produced the first feature-length animated film in 1941, the industry as we know it today truly began in the 1950s at the Shanghai Animation Film Studio (SAFS), which remained the sole animation studio until the 1980s. Considering animation in China as a convergence of the institutions of education fine arts literature popular culture and film the book takes comparative approaches that link SAFS animation to contemporary cultural production including American and Japanese animation Pop Art and mass media theory Through readings of classic films such as Princess Iron Fan Uproar in Heaven Princess Peacock and Nezha Conquers the Dragon King this study represents a revisionist history of animation in the PRC as a form of postmodernism with Chinese characteristics As a theoretical exploration of animation in the People s Republic of China this book will appeal greatly to students and scholars of animation film studies Chinese studies cultural studies political and cultural theory
