Handbook of History Teaching and Learning Scott Alan Metzger, Lauren McArthur Harris, 2018-04-10 A comprehensive review of the research literature on history education with contributions from international experts The Wiley International Handbook of History Teaching and Learning draws on contributions from an international panel of experts Their writings explore the growth the field has experienced in the past three decades and offer observations on challenges and opportunities for the future The contributors represent a wide range of pioneering established and promising new scholars with diverse perspectives on history education Comprehensive in scope the contributions cover major themes and issues in history education including policy research and societal contexts conceptual constructs of history education ideologies identities and group experiences in history education practices and learning historical literacies texts media and social spaces and consensus and dissent This vital resource Contains original writings by more than 40 scholars from seven countries Identifies major themes and issues shaping history education today Highlights history education as a distinct field of scholarly inquiry and academic practice Presents an authoritative survey of where the field has been and offers a view of what the future may hold Written for scholars and students of education as well as history teachers with an interest in the current issues in their field The Wiley International Handbook of History Teaching and Learning is a comprehensive handbook that explores the increasingly global field of history education as it has evolved to the present day The Guided Reader to Teaching and Learning History Richard Harris, Katharine Burn, Mary Woolley, 2013-10-15 The Guided Reader to Teaching and Learning History draws on extracts from the published work of some of the most influential history education writers representing a range of perspectives from leading classroom practitioners to academic researchers and highlighting key debates surrounding a central range of issues affecting secondary History teachers This book brings together key extracts from classic and contemporary writing and contextualises these in both theoretical and practical terms Each extract is accompanied by an introduction a summary of the key points and issues raised questions to promote discussion and suggestions for further reading to extend thinking Taking a thematic approach and including a short introduction to each theme the chapters include The purpose of history education Pupil perspectives on history education Assessment and progression in history Inclusion in history Diversity in history Teaching difficult issues Technology and history education Change and continuity Historical Interpretations Professional development for history teachers Aimed at

trainee and newly qualified teachers including those working towards Masters level qualifications as well as existing teachers this accessible but critically provocative text is an essential resource for those that wish to deepen their understanding of History Education International Review of History Education ,2013 Contemporary Public Debates Over History Education Isabel Barca,Irene Nakou,2010-10-01 The 6th book of the International Review of History Education Series Contemporary public debates over history education presents public debates on history education as they appear in 14 different areas of the world in Asia Europe North and South America In alphabetical order in Brazil by Maria Auxiliadora Schmidt and T nia Braga Garcia in Canada by Peter Seixas in England by Rosalyn Ashby and Christopher Edwards in Greece by Irene Nakou and Eleni Apostolidou in Israel by Eyal Naveh in Japan and South Korea by Yonghee Suh and Makito Yurita in Northern Ireland by Alan McCully in Portugal by Isabel Barca in Quebec Canada by Jean Francois Cardin in Singapore by Suhaimi Afandi and Mark Baidon in Spain by Lis Cercadillo in Turkey by Dursun Dilek and G lcin Yapici Dilek and in the United States by Peter Stearns By illuminating common trends national peculiarities and differences this collective book further enriches our knowledge about crucial issues concerning public perspectives over history education in diverse parts of the world It opens new questions and issues to be further investigated by all who are interested in this field in terms of its historical educational global national ethnic cultural social and political dimensions in the current transitional and multicultural environment This international dialogue therefore addresses historians history education researchers university professors school teachers policy makers publishers parents and all those who insist that history education is very important especially if it enables young people to orientate in the present and the future in historical terms Teaching and Learning Difficult Histories in International Contexts Terrie Epstein,Carla Peck,2017-08-07 Grounded in a critical sociocultural approach this volume examines issues associated with teaching and learning difficult histories in international contexts Defined as representations of past violence and oppression difficult histories are contested and can evoke emotional often painful responses in the present Teaching and learning these histories is contentious yet necessary for increased dialogue within conflict ridden societies reconciliation in post conflict societies and greater social cohesion in long standing democratic nations Focusing on locations and populations across the globe chapter authors investigate how key themes including culture identity collective memory emotion and multi perspectivity historical consciousness distance and amnesia inform the teaching and learning of difficult histories Rethinking the School Curriculum John White,2004 In 2000 the school curriculum in England was equipped for the first time in the country s history with an extensive set of aims and purposes In this book leading experts in the teaching of school subjects examine the significance of the new aims for the reform of the curriculum In two general introductory chapters John White discusses the validity of the aims and how they might be realized in schools The remainder of the book focuses on subject specific areas and how these need to be brought into line with the new aims so as to produce a more relevant and enjoyable curriculum experience for pupils including more opportunities for choice of activities The book concludes with suggestions about how government policy on the curriculum should now succeed This portrayal of the school curriculum today and how it could be developed in line with the new aims will be of interest to those studying education with a particular focus on the areas of curriculum assessment school management philosophy of education and the history of education Handbook of Research in Social Studies Education Linda S. Levstik, Cynthia A. Tyson, 2010-04-15 This Handbook outlines the current state of research in social studies education a complex dynamic challenging field with competing perspectives about appropriate goals and on going conflict over the content of the curriculum Equally important it encourages new research in order to advance the field and foster civic competence long maintained by advocates for the social studies as a fundamental goal In considering how to organize the Handbook the editors searched out definitions of social studies statements of purpose and themes that linked or divided theory research and practices and established criteria for topics to include Each chapter meets one or more of these criteria research activity since the last Handbook that warrants a new analysis topics representing a major emphasis in the NCSS standards and topics reflecting an emerging or reemerging field within the social studies The volume is organized around seven themes Change and Continuity in Social Studies Civic Competence in Pluralist Democracies Social Justice and the Social Studies Assessment and Accountability Teaching and Learning in the Disciplines Information Ecologies Technology in the Social Studies Teacher Preparation and Development The Handbook of Research in Social Studies is a must have resource for all beginning and experienced researchers in the field Palgrave Handbook of Research in Historical Culture and Education Mario Carretero, Stefan Berger, Maria Grever, 2017-03-07 This volume comprises a broad interdisciplinary examination of the many different approaches by which contemporary scholars record our history The editors provide a comprehensive overview through thirty eight chapters divided into four parts a Historical Culture and Public Uses of History b The Appeal of the Nation in History Education of Postcolonial Societies c Reflections on History Learning and Teaching d Educational Resources Curricula Textbooks and New Media This unique text integrates contributions of researchers from history education collective memory museum studies heritage social and cognitive psychology and other social sciences stimulating an interdisciplinary dialogue Contributors come from various countries of Northern and Southern America Europe and Asia providing an international perspective that does justice to the complexity of this field of study The Palgrave Handbook of Research in Historical Culture and Education provides state of the art research focussing on how citizens and societies make sense of the past through different ways of representing it Culture, Music Education, and the Chinese Dream in Mainland China Wai-Chung Ho, 2018-01-04 This book focuses on the rapidly changing sociology of music as manifested in Chinese society and Chinese education It examines how social changes and cultural politics affect how music is currently being used in connection with the Chinese dream While there is a growing trend toward incorporating the Chinese dream into school education and higher education there has been no scholarly discussion to date The combination of cultural politics transformed authority relations and officially approved songs can provide us with an understanding of the official content on the Chinese dream that is conveyed in today s Chinese society and how these factors have influenced the renewal of values based education and practices in school music education in China

Identity, Trauma, Sensitive and Controversial Issues in the Teaching of History Hilary Cooper,Jon

Nichol,2015-10-13 History Education is a politically contested subject It can be used to both promote xenophobia and to develop critical thinking multiple perspectives and tolerance Accordingly this book critically examines complex issues and constructivist approaches that make history relevant to students understanding of the modern world As such it has global appeal especially in North and South America Canada Europe and Asia The book s authors address the major challenges that History Education faces in an era of globalisation digital revolution and international terror nationalism and sectarian and religious conflict and warfare Central to this volume are controversial issues trauma and questions of personal and national identity from a wide range of international settings and perspectives The research in this book was undertaken by leading history educators from every continent Their interdisciplinary research represents an important contribution to the teaching of social sciences social psychology civic education programmes history and history education in schools colleges and universities The book offers new approaches to history educators at all levels In addition the chapters offer potential as required reading for students to both develop an international perspective and to compare and contrast their own situations with those that the book covers Section I considers issues related to identity how can history education promote social coherence in multicultural societies in societies divided by sectarianism or countries adapting to regime changes whether Communist or Fascist including for example South Africa previously Communist countries of Eastern Europe and previous dictatorships in South America and Western Europe It discusses such questions as How important is it that students learn the content of history through the processes of historical enquiry What should that content be and who should decide it educators or politicians What is the role of textbooks and who should write and select them Should history be taught as a discrete discipline or as part of a citizenship or social sciences curriculum Sections II and III explore ways in which memory of sensitive issues related to the past to war or to massacres may be addressed Are there new methodologies or approaches which make this possible How can students understand situations involving intolerance and injustice Really Raising Standards Philip Adey,Dr Michael Shayer,MICHAEL Shayer,2006-10-19 Written by experienced teachers and educational researchers Phillip Adey and Michael Shayer Really Raising Standards analyses attempts to teach children to think more effectively and efficiently Their practical advice on how to improve children s performance by the application of the findings of the CASE research project will radically alter the approach of many professional teachers and student teachers as to the education of children in schools An important contribution to the application of psychological theory in education

Understanding History Ros Ashby,Professor Peter Gordon,Peter Lee,2004-08-02 Examining students ideas about the discipline of history and the knowledge it produces this book also explores in detail teachers own ideas about teaching

Teaching History 11-18 Husbands, Chris, Kitson, Alison, 2010-07-01 This book provides a comprehensive and radical guide to the challenges facing history and history teaching in contemporary schools

Social Education in Asia David L. Grossman, Joe Tin-Yau Lo, 2007-10-01 This book aims to fill this gap in the scholarship on social education by drawing on the research findings and or experiences from scholars in eight East and Southeast Asian societies In this regard the editors of this book hope that it will be a significant addition to the literature and will shed light on how the social education curricula are constructed and implemented across these societies in response to both internal and external forces At the same time this book is not a comprehensive survey of social education in the region Rather it is a selective set of case studies examining contested and compelling issues in the debates about social education in eight diverse societies in East and Southeast Asia The book will be intellectually stimulating and inspiring not only to the social educators and comparativists who can see more about social science education from non western perspectives but also to curriculum developers policy makers social educators and front line teachers who can enrich their professional experiences through learning from other countries regions
