

Ralph Ellison: The Next Fifty Years

Ronald A. T. Judy

When Jonathan Arac and I sat down in my dining room four years ago in July 1999—at his strong suggestion, I must say—we could have and perhaps dared to imagine much of what was to transpire in the imminent future of the world, particularly in the two months just prior to the November 2001 conference we were planning. That July dining room discussion was a moment in a continuing, albeit sporadic, conversation about Ralph Ellison that Jonathan and I had been having for some years since I first came to the University of Pittsburgh in 1993. Over time, the focus of our conversation became the significance of Ellison's work in the formation of American intelligence during the postwar period just after the Second World War.

"The formation of American intelligence during the postwar period." How absurd that phrase sounds today, and so appropriately American in its absurdity. An absurdity whose import is aptly articulated in the mercurial consolidation in the last five years of the past century of Ralph Ellison's stature as a novelist and essayist. Evidence of this was to be found in the 1993 New Yorker profile commemorating Ellison's eightieth birthday, and in the 1995 publication of the Modern Library Collected Essays. The cul-

Ralph Ellison The Next Fifty Years:

Ralph Ellison Ronald A. T. Judy, Jonathan Arac, 2003 While Ralph Ellison is perhaps best known for his novel Invisible Man he was also a significant twentieth century intellectual having authored numerous essays and papers that shaped thought on subjects from jazz to liberalism Ralph Ellison The Next Fifty Years gathers outstanding scholars in the fields of American and African American studies to engage Ellison's theoretical and critical writings Several essays in this collection focus on an area of Ellison's thinking that has yet to be adequately scrutinized his study of and writing about music specifically jazz and the blues Although not a systematic philosopher of music Ellison exhibited the seriousness and rigor associated with the critical musical writings of Theodor Adorno and Edward Said Other essays in this special issue examine salient questions raised by Ellison's work including the nature of the connection between the novel and the democratic mind Vietnam and the crisis of liberal society and the problematic of modernism and freedom Ralph Ellison addresses the ways in which Ellison's writings about art were also efforts to think about and discuss political agency Contributors Jonathan Arac Kevin Bell Adam Gussow Ronald A T Judy Robert O Meally Donald E Pease Barry Shank Hortense Spillers Kenneth Warren Alexander G Weheliye John Wright Black Odysseys Justine McConnell, 2013-06-20 This book explores works from Africa and the African diaspora which respond to the Homeric Odyssey As a founding text of the Western canon and as a homecoming trope and quest for identity the Odyssey has inspired writers who are simultaneously striving against and appropriating the very forms which had been used to oppress them

Refracting the Canon in Contemporary British Literature and Film Susana Onega Jaén, Christian Gutleben, 2004 Contemporary works of art that remodel the canon not only create complex hybrid and plural products but also alter our perceptions and understanding of their source texts This is the dual process referred to in this volume as refraction that the essays collected here set out to discuss and analyse by focusing on the dialectic rapport between postmodernism and the canon What is sought in many of the essays is a redefinition of postmodernist art and a re examination of the canon in the light of contemporary epistemology Given this dual process this volume will be of value both to everyone interested in contemporary art particularly fiction drama and film and also to readers whose aim it is to promote a better appreciation of canonical British literature

Gramsci in the World Roberto M. Dainotto, Fredric Jameson, 2020-07-27 Antonio Gramsci's Prison Notebooks have offered concepts categories and political solutions that have been applied in a variety of social and political contexts from postwar Italy to the insurgencies of the Arab Spring The contributors to Gramsci in the World examine the diverse receptions and uses of Gramscian thought highlighting its possibilities and limits for understanding and changing the world Among other topics they explore Gramsci's importance to Caribbean anticolonial thinkers like Stuart Hall his presence in decolonial indigenous movements in the Andes and his relevance to understanding the Chinese Left The contributors consider why Gramsci has had relatively little impact in the United States while also showing how he was a major force in pushing Marxism beyond Europe especially into the Arab world and other regions of the Global South Rather than taking one interpretive position on Gramsci the contributors demonstrate the ongoing relevance of his ideas to revolutionary theory and praxis Contributors Alberto Burgio Cesare Casarino Maria Elisa Cevalco Kate Crehan Roberto M Dainotto Michael Denning Harry Harootunian Fredric Jameson R A Judy Patrizia Manduchi Andrea Scapolo Peter D Thomas Catherine Walsh Pu Wang Cosimo Zene

The Critical Situation Robert T. Tally Jr, 2023-03-14 The Critical Situation Vexed Perspectives in Postmodern Literary Studies comprises a selection of essays that register the situatedness of critical theory and practice amid various intellectual institutional and cultural contexts This book offers examples of situated criticism which in turn are concerned with the ways in which literary and cultural criticism are and have been situated in relation to a variety of ideological and institutional structures including those of world literature American studies spatial literary studies cultural critique globalization and postmodernity These structures influence the ways that criticism is practiced and due recognition of their continuing effects is crucial to the success of any meaningful critical practice in the twenty first century

Off Beat Jan Hein Hoogstad, Birgitte Stougaard Pedersen, 2013-08-01 Off Beat Pluralizing Rhythm draws attention to rhythm as a tool for analyzing various cultural objects

In fields as diverse as music culture nature and economy rhythm can be seen as a phenomenon that both connects and divides It suggests a certain measure with which people practices and cultures may comply Yet for this very reason rhythm can also function as a field of exclusion contestation and debate In that respect rhythm possesses an underestimated meaning creating potential Whereas its connecting force is often accentuated in the aesthetic political and commercial usage of the term the divisive aspect of rhythm is at least as important This volume wants to rid rhythm of its harmless nearly esoteric reputation as a cosmic unifier by understanding it in the light of the contemporary medial turn In the present collection of essays we have encouraged approaches that combine political aesthetic musical and theoretical dimensions of rhythm Jan Hein Hoogstad is Assistant Professor in Comparative Literature and Cultural Analysis at the University of Amsterdam the Netherlands Birgitte Stougaard Pedersen is Associate Professor in the Section for Aesthetics and Culture Department of Aesthetics and Communication Aarhus University Denmark

Post/Colonialism and the Pursuit of Freedom in the Black Atlantic Jerome C Branche, 2018-01-19 Post Colonialism and the Pursuit of Freedom in the Black Atlantic is an interdisciplinary collection of essays of wide historical and geographic scope which engages the legacy of diaspora colonialism and slavery The contributors explore the confrontation between Africa s forced migrants and their unwelcoming new environments in order to highlight the unique individual experiences of survival and assimilation that characterized Atlantic slavery As they focus on the African or Afro diasporan populations under study the chapters gauge the degree to which formal independence coming out of a variety of practices of opposition and resistance lasting centuries in some cases has translated into freedom security and a good life By foregrounding Hispanophone Lusophone and Francophone African and Afro descendant concerns over and against an often Anglo centric focus in the field the book brings a more representative approach to the area of diaspora or Black Atlantic studies offering a more complete appreciation of Black Atlantic cultural production across history and across linguistic barriers

Critical Zone 3 Douglas Kerr, Q.S. Tong, Shouren Wang, 2009-02-01 Despite globalizing forces whether economic political or cultural there remain conspicuous differences that divide scholarly communities How should we understand and respond to those discursive gaps among different traditions and systems of knowledge production Critical Zone is a book series in cultural and literary studies that is concerned with current critical debates and intellectual preoccupations in the humanities The series aims to improve understanding across cultures traditions discourses and disciplines and to produce international critical knowledge Critical Zone is an expression of timely collaboration among scholars from Hong Kong mainland China the United States and Europe and conceived as an intellectual bridge between China and the rest of the world The second volume of Critical Zone as does its predecessor consists of two parts The first part includes original essays that deal with the concept and practice of empire as a collective response to the question of how imperial formations and operations in the past and at present should be examined in a larger context of international politics and how historical imperialism may be considered in relation to the conditions of our time Part II includes two sets of translations of essays first published in Chinese about two recent debates in China one on the canonicity of Lu Xun and the other on the problem of how to reform Peking University in the context of globalization These two groups of translations are led by review essays that contextualize the debates

Revolution Matthew Wilkens, 2016-11-16 A sophisticated theoretical treatment of postwar fiction as a model of literary and cultural change Socially politically and artistically the 1950s make up an odd interlude between the first half of the twentieth century still tied to the problems and orders of the Victorian era and Gilded Age and the pervasive transformations of the later sixties In Revolution Matthew Wilkens argues that postwar fiction functions as a fascinating model of revolutionary change Uniting literary criticism cultural analysis political theory and science studies Revolution reimagines the years after World War II as at once distinct from the decades surrounding them and part of a larger scale series of rare revolutionary moments stretching across centuries Focusing on the odd mix of allegory encyclopedism and failure that characterizes fifties fiction Wilkens examines a range of literature written during similar times of crisis in the process engaging theoretical perspectives from Walter Benjamin and Fredric Jameson to Bruno Latour and Alain Badiou alongside readings of major novels by Ralph Ellison William Gaddis Doris Lessing Jack Kerouac Thomas Pynchon and others Revolution links the forces that shaped postwar fiction to the dynamics of revolutionary events in other eras and social domains Like physicists at the turn of the twentieth century or the French peasantry of 1789 midcentury writers confronted a world that did not fit their existing models Pressed to adapt but lacking any obvious alternative their work became sprawling and figurative accumulating unrelated details and reusing older forms to ambiguous new ends While the imperatives of the postmodern eventually gave order to this chaos Wilkens explains that the same forces are again at work in today's fracturing literary market

Whose Blues? Adam Gussow, 2020-09-28 Mamie Smith's pathbreaking 1920 recording of Crazy Blues set the pop music world on fire inaugurating a new African American market for race records Not long after such records also brought black blues performance to an expanding international audience A century later the mainstream blues world has transformed into a multicultural and transnational melting pot taking the music far beyond the black southern world of its origins But not everybody is happy about that If there's No black No white Just the blues as one familiar meme suggests why do some blues people hear such pronouncements as an aggressive attempt at cultural appropriation and an erasure of traumatic histories that lie deep in the heart of the music Then again if blues is black music as some performers and critics insist what should we make of the vibrant global blues scene with its all comers mix of nationalities and ethnicities In Whose Blues award winning blues scholar and performer Adam Gussow confronts these challenging questions head on Using blues literature and history as a cultural anchor Gussow defines interprets and makes sense of the blues for the new millennium Drawing on the blues tradition's major writers including W C Handy Langston

Hughes Zora Neale Hurston and Amiri Baraka and grounded in his first person knowledge of the blues performance scene Gussow's thought provoking book kickstarts a long overdue conversation Critical Zone 1 Q.S. Tong, Shouren Wang, Douglas Kerr, 2005-03-01 Amid the globalizing forces whether economic political or cultural there remain conspicuous differences and divergences that divide and antagonize scholarly communities How should we understand and respond to those discursive gaps among different traditions and systems of knowledge production Critical Zone is a book series that is envisaged as a forum where communities of critical scholarship can come together to share ideas and participate in the debates that preoccupy the humanities today The series aims to improve understanding across cultures traditions discourses and disciplines and to produce international critical knowledge Critical Zone is an expression and an embodiment of timely collaboration among scholars in Hong Kong mainland China the United States and Europe and is conceived as an intellectual bridge between China and the rest of the world Each volume in the series has two sections The first section contains original articles on a set of related topics by scholars from around the world the second section includes review essays highlighting one or two issues in regional critical scholarship and translations that reflect intellectual trends and concerns in the region in particular in China Seen and Unseen Marc Lamont Hill, Todd Brewster, 2022-05-03 A riveting exploration of how the power of visual media over the last few years has shifted the narrative on race and reignited the push towards justice by the author of the worthy and necessary The New York Times Nobody Marc Lamont Hill and the bestselling author and acclaimed journalist Todd Brewster With his signature clear and courageous Cornel West voice Marc Lamont Hill and New York Times bestselling author Todd Brewster weave some of the most pivotal recent moments in the country's racial divide the killings of George Floyd and Ahmaud Arbery and the harassment of Christian Cooper into their historical context In doing so they reveal the common thread between these harrowing incidents video recordings and the immediacy of technology has irrevocably changed our conversations about race and in many instances tipped the levers of power in favor of the historically disadvantaged Drawing on the powerful role of technology as a driver of history identity and racial consciousness Seen and Unseen asks why after so much video confirmation of police violence on people of color it took the footage of George Floyd to trigger an overwhelming response of sympathy and outrage In the vein of The New Jim Crow and Caste Seen and Unseen incisively explores what connects our moment to the history of race in America but also what makes today different from the civil rights movements of the past and what it will ultimately take to push social justice forward Revisiting the Sixties Laura Bieger, Christian Lammert, 2013-11 The Vietnam War the Cuban Missile Crisis the Civil Rights Movement and the Summer of Love the 1960s were one of the most turbulent decades in US history These years launched an unprecedented public debate over the meaning of America dividing US society in deep and troubling ways Yet despite the passage of time the contemporary crises in the American way of life and the political system that sustain it might well make one wonder to what degree are we still living on the outskirts of the 60s By examining crucial events trends and individuals from the civic social political intellectual cultural and economic spheres across a range of disciplines this volume offers a nuanced and pluralist account of the longest decade in America Society and Culture in the Slave South J. William Harris, 2013-02-01 Combining established work with that of recent provocative scholarship on the antebellum South this collection of essays puts students in touch with some of the central debates in this dynamic field It includes substantial excerpts from the work of Eugene Genovese and Elizabeth Fox Genovese who lay out the influential interpretation of the South as a paternalistic society and culture and contributions from more recent scholars who provide dissenting or alternative interpretations of the relations between masters and slaves and men and women The essays draw on a wide range of disciplines including economics psychology and anthropology to investigate the nature of plantation and family life in the South Explanatory notes guide the reader through each essay and the Editor's introduction places the work in its historiographical context The Indignant Generation Lawrence P. Jackson, 2021-10-12 Recovering the lost history of a crucial era in African American literature The Indignant Generation is the first narrative history of the neglected but essential period of African American literature between the Harlem Renaissance and the civil rights era The years between these two indispensable epochs saw the communal rise of Richard Wright Gwendolyn Brooks Ralph Ellison Lorraine Hansberry James Baldwin and many other influential black writers While these individuals have been duly celebrated little attention has been paid to the political and artistic milieu in which they produced their greatest works With this commanding study Lawrence Jackson recalls the lost history of a crucial era Looking at the tumultuous decades surrounding World War II Jackson restores the indignant quality to a generation of African American writers shaped by Jim Crow segregation the Great Depression the growth of American communism and an international wave of decolonization He also reveals how artistic collectives in New York Chicago and Washington fostered a sense of destiny and belonging among diverse and disenchanted peoples As Jackson shows through contemporary documents the years that brought us Their Eyes Were Watching God Native Son and Invisible Man also saw the rise of African American literary criticism by both black and white critics Fully exploring the cadre of key African American writers who triumphed in spite of segregation The Indignant Generation paints a vivid portrait of American intellectual and artistic life in the mid twentieth century Left of the Color Line Bill V. Mullen, James Smethurst, 2012-01-01 This collection of fifteen new essays explores the impact of the organized Left and Leftist theory on American literature and culture from the 1920s to the present In particular the contributors explore the participation of writers and intellectuals on the Left in the development of African American Chicano Chicana and Asian American literature and culture By placing the Left at the center of their examination the authors reposition the interpretive framework of American cultural studies Tracing the development of the Left over the course of the last century the essays connect the Old Left of the pre World War II era to the New Left and Third World nationalist Left of the 1960s and 1970s as well as to the multicultural Left that has emerged since the 1970s Individual essays explore the Left in relation to the work of such key figures as Ralph Ellison T S Eliot Chester Himes Harry Belafonte Am rico Paredes and Alice Childress The collection also reconsiders the role of the Left in such critical cultural and historical moments as the Harlem Renaissance the Cold War and the Black Arts Movement of the 1960s and 1970s The contributors are Anthony Dawahare Barbara Foley Marcial Gonz lez Fred Ho William J Maxwell Bill V Mullen Cary Nelson B V Olgu n Rachel Rubin Eric Schocket James Smethurst Michelle Stephens Alan Wald and Mary Helen Washington

The Dream of the Great American Novel Lawrence Buell, 2014-02-10

Magisterial make s you suddenly see new things in familiar books brilliant analyses of a dozen or so front runners in the Great American Novel sweepstakes Michael Dirda Virginia Quarterly Review The idea of the great American novel continues to thrive almost as vigorously as in its nineteenth century heyday defying more than 150 years of attempts to dismiss it as amateurish or obsolete In this landmark book the first in many years to take in the whole sweep of national fiction Lawrence Buell reanimates this supposedly antiquated idea demonstrating that its history is a key to the dynamics of national literature and national identity itself The dream of the G A N as Henry James nicknamed it crystallized soon after the Civil War In fresh in depth readings of selected contenders from the 1850s onward in conversation with hundreds of other novels Buell delineates four scripts for G A N candidates and their themes illustrated by such titles as The Scarlet Letter The Great Gatsby Invisible Man Uncle Tom s Cabin Beloved Moby Dick and Gravity s Rainbow works dwelling on topics from self invention to the promise and pitfalls of democracy The canvas of the great American novel is in constant motion reflecting revolutions in fictional fashion the changing face of authorship and the inseparability of high culture from popular As Buell reveals the elusive G A N showcases the myth of the United States as a nation perpetually under construction Engaging and provocative ultimately affirms the importance of literature to a nation s sense of itself Sarah Graham Times Literary Supplement Rich in critical insight Buell wonders if the GAN isn t stirring again in surprising new developments in science fiction An impressively ambitious literary survey Booklist starred review
