The Mind in Pieces Sharon A. Jones, 2025-06-19 The story of Ruth is more than a story it's a life lesson of interruptions and kairos moments that come into each of our lives Again they come in many forms including tragedies Ruth's character was one of resilience and courage It takes courage to move beyond tragedy and trust God amidst the unknown It takes looking outside of ourselves to refocus on living we must love Christ to cultivate a heart of compassion for others and help them through adversities We often say all the right words but we don't take action to prove our love for people On the cross in agonizing pain Jesus focused His ministry away from the physical suffering and spoke to John to care for His mother This is what love looks like His focus was now on finishing the task before Him dying for mankind What task are we willing to complete during the time we have left What excuses will we give to Christ when we stand before Him Why we didn't Notice the pain of Peter he looked within focusing upon himself through his own fear he denied his Lord he felt defeated When he realized the effect his shame had caused the agony of what he had done to his Master His action caused a mountain of shame and loneliness All of these emotions shed light on Peter's guilt But once he was forgiven by Christ and reconciled he stopped hiding from the cross and could move forward His ministry began and courage took place No longer in the shadows he spoke with the boldness of the one that died and was raised again His sermon brought salvation to three thousand souls and more Even in our despair we must visualize that we have a great cloud of witnesses in the heavenly saying Don't give up Why Because your fight has not ended Change your perspective and work until the end I'm cheering you on You got this Byte,1983-04 Commentary,1983 Subscription Books Bulletin Reviews,1962 Reference Books Bulletin,
