manufactory at Lyons but with which John Fausset had no longer any connection He had taken his capital out of the business and had cleansed himself from the stain of commercial dealings before he married the Honourable Maud Donfrey third daughter of Lord Castle Connell Miss Donfrey had given herself very willingly to the commoner albeit he was her senior by more than twenty years and in her own deprecating description of him was quite out of her set She liked him not a little for his own sake and for the power his strong will exercised over her own weaker nature but she liked him still better for the sake of wealth which seemed unlimited She was nineteen at the time of her marriage and she had been married nine years Those years had brought the Honourable Mrs Fausset only one child the seven year old daughter playing about the room in the twilight and maternity had offered very little hindrance to the lady s pleasures as a woman of fashion She had been indulged to the uttermost by a fond and admiring husband and now for the first time in his life John Fausset had occasion to ask his wife a favour which was not granted too readily It must be owned that the favour was not a small one involving nothing less than the adoption of an orphan girl in whose fate Mr Fausset was interested It is very dreadful sighed Mrs Fausset as if she were speaking of an earthquake We have been so happy alone together you and I and Mildred Yes dearest when we have been alone which you will admit has not been very often O but visitors do not count They come and go They don t belong to us This dreadful girl will be one of us or she will expect to be I feel as if the golden circle of home life were going to be broken Not broken Maud only expanded O but you can t expand it by letting in a stranger Had the mother no people of her own no surroundings whatever nobody but you who could be appealed to for this wretched girl inquired Mrs Fausset fanning herself wearily as she lolled back in her low chair She wore a loose cream coloured gown of softest silk and Indian embroidery and there were diamond stars trembling amongst her feathery golden hair The flowing garment in which she had dined alone with her husband was to be changed presently for white satin and old Mechlin lace in which she was to appear at three evening parties but in the meantime having for once in a way dined at home she considered her mode of life intensely domestic The seven year old daughter was roaming about with her doll sometimes in one drawing room sometimes in another There were three opening into each other the innermost room half conservatory shadowy with palms and tropical ferns Mildred was enjoying herself in the quiet way of children accustomed to play alone looking at the pretty things upon the various tables peering in at the old china figures in the cabinets the ridiculous Chelsea shepherd and shepherdess the Chelsea lady in hawking costume with a falcon upon her wrist the absurd lambs and more absurd foliage and the Bow and Battersea ladies and gentlemen with their blunt features and coarse complexions Mildred was quite happy prowling about and looking at things in silent wonder turning over the leaves of illustrated books and lifting the lids of gold and enamelled boxes trying to find out the uses and meanings of things Sometimes she came back to the front drawing room and seated herself on a stool at her mother s feet solemnly listening to the conversation following it much more earnestly and comprehending it much better than either her father or mother would have supposed possible      Annual Report of the
