Rapid Marine Biodiversity Assessment Of The Calamianes Islands Palawan Province Philippines:

A Rapid Marine Biodiversity Assessment of the Calamianes Islands, Palawan Province, Philippines, 2000 A Rapid Marine Biodiversity Assessment of the Coral Reefs of Northwest Madagascar Sheila Anne McKenna, Gerald R. Allen, 2005 This volume 31 in the series reports the results of a marine survey in 2002 off the northwestern coast of Madagascar This marine area is one that many conservationists think has the greatest potential in all of Madagascar for the development of both ecotourism and marine protected areas The survey documented a rich variety of coral mollusk and fish species and the report makes further recommendations for conservation in the region Atlas of Philippine Coral Reefs, 2002

Mesophotic Coral Ecosystems Yossi Loya, Kimberly A. Puglise, Tom C.L. Bridge, 2019-05-22 This book summarizes what is known about mesophotic coral ecosystems MCEs geographically and by major taxa MCEs are characterized by light dependent corals and associated communities typically found at depths ranging from 30 40 m and extending to over 150 m in tropical and subtropical ecosystems They are populated with organisms typically associated with shallow coral reefs such as macroalgae corals sponges and fishes as well as specialist species unique to mesophotic depths During the past decade there has been an increasing scientific and management interest in MCEs expressed by the exponential increase in the number of publications studying this unique environment Despite their close proximity to well studied shallow reefs and the growing evidence of their importance our scientific knowledge of MCEs is still in its early stages The topics covered in the book include regional variation in MCEs similarities and differences between mesophotic and shallow reef taxa biotic and abiotic conditions biodiversity ecology geomorphology and geology potential connectivity between MCEs and shallow reefs MCE disturbances conservation and management challenges and new technologies key research questions knowledge gaps priorities and future directions in MCE research Sacred Natural Sites Bas Verschuuren, Robert Wild, Jeffrey Mcneely, Gonzalo Oviedo, 2012-06-25 Sacred Natural Sites are the world's oldest protected places This book focuses on a wide spread of both iconic and lesser known examples such as sacred groves of the Western Ghats India Sagarmatha Chomolongma Mt Everest Nepal Tibet and China the Golden Mountains of Altai Russia Holy Island of Lindisfarne UK and the sacred lakes of the Niger Delta Nigeria The book illustrates that sacred natural sites although often under threat exist within and outside formally recognised protected areas heritage sites Sacred natural sites may well be some of the last strongholds for building resilient networks of connected landscapes They also form important nodes for maintaining a dynamic socio cultural fabric in the face of global change The diverse authors bridge the gap between approaches to the conservation of cultural and biological diversity by taking into account cultural and spiritual values together with the socio economic interests of the custodian communities and other relevant stakeholders Ecology of Indonesian Papua Part One Andrew J. Marshall, Bruce M. Beehler, 2011-07-19 The Ecology of Papua provides a comprehensive review of current scientific knowledge on all aspects of the natural history of western Indonesian New Guinea Designed for students of conservation environmental workers and academic researchers it is a richly detailed text dense with biogeographical data historical reference and fresh insight on this complicated and marvelous region We hope it will serve to raise awareness of Papua on a global as well as local scale and to catalyze effective conservation of its most precious natural assets New Guinea is the largest and highest tropical island and one of the last great wilderness areas remaining on Earth Papua the western half of New Guinea is noteworthy for its equatorial glaciers its vast forested floodplains its imposing central mountain range its Raja Ampat Archipelago and its several hundred traditional forest dwelling societies One of the wildest places left in the world Papua possesses extraordinary biological and cultural diversity Today Papua s environment is under threat from growing outside pressures to exploit its expansive forests and to develop large plantations of oil palm and biofuels It is important that Papua s leadership balance economic development with good resource management to ensure the long term well being of its culturally diverse populace

Ecology of Indonesian Papua Part Two Andrew J. Marshall, Bruce M. Beehler, 2012-06-26 The Ecology of Papua provides a comprehensive review of current scientific knowledge on all aspects of the natural history of western Indonesian New Guinea Designed for students of conservation environmental workers and academic researchers it is a richly detailed text dense with biogeographical data historical reference and fresh insight on this complicated and marvelous region We hope it will serve to raise awareness of Papua on a global as well as local scale and to catalyze effective conservation of its most precious natural assets New Guinea is the largest and highest tropical island and one of the last great wilderness areas remaining on Earth Papua the western half of New Guinea is noteworthy for its equatorial glaciers its vast forested floodplains its imposing central mountain range its Raja Ampat Archipelago and its several hundred traditional forest dwelling societies One of the wildest places left in the world Papua possesses extraordinary biological and cultural diversity Today Papua s environment is under threat from growing outside pressures to exploit its expansive forests and to develop large plantations of oil palm and biofuels It is important that Papua s leadership balance economic development with good resource management to ensure the long term well being of its culturally diverse populace

Biogeography, Time and Place: Distributions, Barriers and Islands Willem Renema, 2007-09-07 Biogeography considers the distribution of biological units over a wide range of scales The units range from genotypes populations and species to families and higher taxa Processes can be local such as the isolation on islands due to sea level fluctuations or large scale tectonic processes that separates continents and creates oceans In all processes time is an important factor and by combining data on recent patterns with paleontological data the understanding of the distribution of extant taxa can be improved This volume focuses on speciation due to isolation in island like settings and the evolution of large scale diversity as the result of origination maintenance and extinction

Fishing for Fairness Michael Fabinyi, 2012-01-01 FISHING FOR FAIRNESS develops an explicitly cultural perspective on environmental politics in the Philippines by analysing the responses of fishers to marine resource regulations In the resource frontier of the Calamianes Islands fishing conservation and tourism provide the context where competing visions of how to engage with marine resources are played out The book draws on data from ethnographic fieldwork with fishers government and NGO officials fish traders and tourism operators to show how the strategic responses of fishers to management initiatives are couched within particular cultural idioms Tapping into broader notions of morality in the Philippines fishers express a discourse that emphasises their poverty and the obligations of the wealthy to treat them with fairness By deploying this discourse fishers are able to reframe what are on the surface questions of environmental management into issues about poverty within particular social relationships By using a cultural political ecology framework to analyse fishers responses to regulation the book emphasises the distinctive ways in which marginalised people in the Philippines resist and reframe resource management initiatives FISHING FOR FAIRNESS will appeal to both academics and policy makers interested in marine resource management political ecology anthropology and development studies particularly throughout the Asia Pacific Historical Dictionary of the Philippines Artemio R. Guillermo, 2012 The Historical Dictionary of the Philippines Third Edition contains a chronology an introductory essay an extensive bibliography and several hundred cross referenced dictionary entries The Philippine Biodiversity Conservation Priorities, 2002 CD ROM contains an overview of the state of biodiversity in the Philippines as well as materials used during the workshop

Groupers of the World Matthew T. Craig, Yvonne J. Sadovy de Mitcheson, Phillip C. Heemstra, 2024-07-31 This is the sixteenth issue in the FAO series of worldwide annotated and illustrated catalogues of major groups of organisms that enter marine fisheries It contains the 159 species in 15 genera known from the serranid subfamily Epinephelinae including one species new to science There is an introductory section with general remarks on habitat and fisheries of the family a glossary of technical terms an illustrated key to each genus and all species and a detailed account for all species Species accounts include an illustration of each species scientific and vernacular names and information on habitat biology fisheries size relevant literature and distribution The Philippine Agricultural Scientist, 2011 Zoological Studies, 1994

Proceedings of the Ninth International Coral Reef Symposium, Bali, 23-27 October 2000, 2002 Cultural Revival in a Changing World Y. D. Arquiza, 2005 This report looks at the extent of research and documentation on indigenous knowledge systems and practices IKSP in the Philippines how information is transmitted from one generation to another and how the practice is integrated into the development process A review of indigenous systems of governance their revitalization and integration into the national system and mechanisms for protection against attempts to appropriate or destroy IKSP is also presented Aqua, 2006 An Introduction to Resource Valuation, 2006 XIX Pacific Science Congress, 4-9 July 1999, Sydney, Australia, 1999 A Rapid Marine Biodiversity Assessment of Milne Bay Province, Papua New Guinea Gerald R. Allen, 2003 Based on Conservation International's successful terrestrial biological survey approach the Marine Rapid Assessment Program's goal is to rapidly generate and disseminate information on coastal and near shore shallow water marine biodiversity Its surveys yield appropriate and realistic recommendations for conservation and have at times resulted in the finding of new species This marine assessment surveys the coral reefs of Papua New Guinea s Milne Bay Province which plays an integral role in sustaining coastal communities and represents an important component of the nation s rich natural heritage Until recently this environment was under minimal stress threatened only by a small human population Now however there are increasing signs of habitat degradation due to land based activities and over harvesting of sedentary marine resources Milne Bay Province contains some of the best examples of undisturbed coral reefs in the entire Coral Triangle region making it vitally important for both government agencies and communities to respond to these threats
