Rasem Badran:

Understanding Islamic Architecture Attilo Petruccioli, Khalil K. Pirani, 2013-09-13 The ongoing debate among practitioners and in academia about the meaning and understanding of Islamic architecture will be energized by this book. It contains essays by architects and academics from various parts of the world which clarify how the various disciplines of the design profession can be employed to build in the spirit of Islam. Divided into three sections, the book covers meaning from Faith which draws meaning from the Islamic faith in order to propose a built environment that is universally beneficial; analysis of History which examines historical buildings and planning concepts and suggest how to apply lessons learned to contemporary practice; contemporary Trends which discusses current trends in architecture education and socio economic aspects of various Muslim countries. Illustrated throughout, this book will appeal to students and scholars practising architects and planners alike.

Architecture, Power and Religion in Lebanon Ward Vloeberghs, 2015-11-24 In Architecture Power and Religion in Lebanon, Ward Vloeberghs explores Rafiq Hariri's patronage and his posthumous legacy to demonstrate how religious architecture becomes a site for power struggles in contemporary Beirut. By tracing the 150 year long history of the Muhammad al Amin Mosque, Lebanon's principal Sunni mosque and the subsequent development of the site as a commemoration venue, this account offers a unique illustration of how architecture, religion and power become discursively and visually entangled. Set in a multi-confessional society marked by social inequalities and political fragmentation, this interdisciplinary study analyses how architectural practice and urban reconfigurations reveal a nascent personality cult, communal mourning and the consolidation of political territory in relation to constantly shifting circumstances.

The Culture of Building Howard Davis, 2006-05-12 The Culture of Building describes how the built world, including the vast number of buildings that are the settings for people's everyday lives, is the product of building cultures: complex systems of people relationships, building types, techniques and habits in which design and building are anchored. These cultures include builders, bankers, architects, developers, clients, contractors, craftspeople, building inspectors, planners and many others. The product of these cultures, which operate building after building, is the built world of cities and settlements. In this book, Howard Davis uses historical, contemporary and cross-cultural examples to describe the nature and influence of these cultures. He shows how building cultures reflect the general cultures in which they exist, how they have changed over history, how they affect the form of buildings and cities, and how present building cultures, which are responsible for the contemporary everyday environments, may be improved. Following the development of the idea of building cultures, using several historical examples, the book lays out a framework that puts such topics as craft and professionalism, the vernacular and nonvernacular, and design and construction in common frameworks. Although the book ranges widely over different cultures and historical periods, it emphasizes the transformations that took place in architecture and building practice from the late eighteenth century to the present. Finally, the book uses a series of contemporary examples that demonstrate the building culture as a living concept These examples which include built work as well as innovative processes that go beyond the work of architects alone are described as the seeds that can help the emergence of a better build world This beautiful book features over 260 color and black and white illustrations most from the authors extensive collection of slides and includes photographs prints and drawings from historical archives and contemporary architectural offices

Islamic Beliefs, Practices, and Cultures ,2010 Presents an overview of the beliefs customs and culture of Islam covering the history of the religion its sacred texts important holidays holy places art architecture literature and contemporary philosophy

The Contemporary Arab Contribution to World Culture Magdi Youssef,2018-07-27 This book comprises a selection of papers delivered at a research meeting of the International Association of Intercultural Studies IAIS which took place in Paris in March 2009 As suggested by its title it addresses prejudices prevailing not only in Western societies but also in marginalized ones especially among their Western oriented intelligentsia It is often claimed that there exists no serious contribution to world culture that is not based on the Western models that prevail worldwide especially in the aftermath of globalization This book challenges the projected image of a dominant West serving as a necessary and indispensable model for a dependent receptive rest of the world It can be read as a necessary decolonization of today s human knowledge in all disciplines by taking as an example recent Arab contributions in many areas of human knowledge from the natural sciences to the political economy or architecture Other marginalized socio cultures worldwide like those of Africa India Thailand Persia and Ireland should follow suit in presenting an alternative to the extant globalization of Western norms by offering a truly equal open exchange of human inventions on a world scale

Cities' Identity Through Architecture and Arts Nabil Mohareb,Alessio Cardaci,Sreetheran Maruthaveeran,Nicola Cavalagli,2022-07-29 This book presents works that book offer a novel interpretation of how today s urban problems can be tackled through the efficient use of resources and the modeling of solutions to best utilize the available features of cities The second edition of this book compiles several research papers that present a detailed discussion of the formation and identification of cities and illustrate different case studies that deal with historical areas and buildings as part of preserving cities vocabularies and self identities By unfolding a stimulating variety of topics in relation to the conservation of culture and identity the book provides insights into planners and decision makers aiding them in their contributions to the implementation of the 2030 Sustainable Development goals with reference to heritage preservation

Descendants Abdel-moniem El-Shorbagy,2020-06-26 Hassan Fathy s 1900 1989 ideas and philosophy opened opportunities and became a source of inspiration for architects to recognize and appreciate their traditional architecture The response to Fathy s approach from architects in the Developing World differed from that of Western architects When Fathy s architecture began to be widely known from the 1970s onward these architects were influenced by his works not only because of their links to the vernacular but also because of their associations with Islamic architecture The common response of these architects to Fathy s architecture was that they regarded his buildings as prototypes for the contemporary Islamic architecture of the Middle East as his traditional forms and techniques epitomize their national and regional features On the other hand the response of Western architects to Fathy's architecture and ideas varied While some architects admired the new possibilities of building domes and vaults with a primitive material such as mud others were inspired by Fathy's philosophy and his humanistic approach

A Critical History of Contemporary Architecture Elie G. Haddad, David Rifkind, 2016-12-05 1960 following as it did the last CIAM meeting signalled a turning point for the Modern Movement From then on architecture was influenced by seminal texts by Aldo Rossi and Robert Venturi and gave rise to the first revisionary movement following Modernism Bringing together leading experts in the field this book provides a comprehensive critical overview of the developments in architecture from 1960 to 2010 It consists of two parts the first section providing a presentation of major movements in architecture after 1960 and the second a geographic survey that covers a wide range of territories around the world This book not only reflects the different perspectives of its various authors but also charts a middle course between the aesthetic histories that examine architecture solely in terms of its formal aspects and the more ideological histories that subject it to a critique that often skirts the discussion of its formal aspects

Grove Encyclopedia of Islamic Art & Architecture: Three-Volume Set Jonathan Bloom, Sheila Blair, 2009-05-14 The Grove Encyclopedia of Islamic Art and Architecture deals with all aspects of Islamic art and architecture ranging from the Middle East to Central Asia to Southeast Asia and Africa The volumes cover all subject areas in Islamic art including artists rulers writers architecture ceramics sculpture metalwork painting calligraphy textiles and more The Grove Encyclopedia of Islamic Art and Architecture provides unparalleled scope and depth on this rapidly growing area of interest It offers fully updated articles and bibliography as well as more than 500 plans maps diagrams illustrations and colour plates Similar in scope and design to The Grove Encyclopedia of Decorative Arts this three volume reference work contains articles of various lengths in alphabetical order The shorter more factual articles none shorter than 50 words are combined with larger multi section articles tracing the development of the art forms in various geographical locations

Eco-Homes Doctor Jenny Pickerill, 2016-01-15 It is widely understood that good affordable eco housing needs to be at the heart of any attempt to mitigate or adapt to climate change This is the first book to comprehensively explore eco housing from a geographical social and political perspective It starts from the premise that we already know how to build good eco houses and we already have the technology to retrofit existing housing Despite this relatively few eco houses are being built Featuring over thirty case studies of eco housing in Britain Spain Thailand Argentina and the United States Eco Homes examines the ways in which radical changes to our houses such as making them more temporary using natural materials or relying on manual heating and ventilation systems require changes in how we live As such it argues it is not lack of technology or political will that is holding us back from responding to climate change but deep rooted cultural and social understandings of our way of life and what we expect our houses to do for us

The Transnational Mosque Kishwar

Rizvi,2015-10-08 Kishwar Rizvi drawing on the multifaceted history of the Middle East offers a richly illustrated analysis of the role of transnational mosques in the construction of contemporary Muslim identity As Rizvi explains transnational mosques are structures built through the support of both government sponsorship whether in the home country or abroad and diverse transnational networks By concentrating on mosques especially those built at the turn of the twenty first century as the epitome of Islamic architecture Rizvi elucidates their significance as sites for both the validation of religious praxis and the construction of national and religious ideologies Rizvi delineates the transnational religious political economic and architectural networks supporting mosques in Saudi Arabia Iran Turkey and the United Arab Emirates as well as in countries within their spheres of influence such as Pakistan Syria and Turkmenistan She discerns how the buildings feature architectural designs that traverse geographic and temporal distances gesturing to far flung places and times for inspiration Digging deeper however Rizvi reveals significant diversity among the mosques whether in a Wahabi Sunni kingdom a Shi i theocratic government or a republic balancing secularism and moderate Islam that repudiates representations of Islam as a monolith Mosques reveal alliances and contests for influence among multinational corporations nations and communities of belief Rizvi shows and her work demonstrates how the built environment is a critical resource for understanding culture and politics in the contemporary Middle East and the Islamic world

Under Construction: Logics of Urbanism in the Gulf Region Steffen Wippel, Katrin Bromber, Birgit Krawietz, 2016-02-17 Interdisciplinary in approach this volume explores and deciphers the symbolic value and iconicity of the built environment in the Arab Gulf Region its aesthetics language and performative characteristics Bringing together a range of studies by artists curators and scholars it demonstrates how Dubai appeared at least until the financial crisis to be leading the construction race and has already completed a large number of its landmark architecture and strategic facilities In contrast cities like the Qatari capital Doha still appear to be heavily under construction and in countries like the Sultanate of Oman ultra luxury tourism projects were started only recently While the construction of artificial islands theme parks and prestige sport facilities has attracted considerable attention much less is known about the region's widespread implementation of innovative infrastructure such as global container ports free zones inter island causeways and metro lines This volume argues that these endeavours are not simply part of a strategy to prepare for the post oil era for future economic survival and prosperity in the Lower Gulf region but that they are also aiming to strengthen identitarian patterns and specific national brands In doing so they exhibit similar yet remarkably diverse modes of engaging with certain global trends and present questionably distinct ideas for putting themselves on the global map Each country aims to grab attention with regard to the world wide flow of goods and capital and thus provide its own citizens with a socially acceptable trajectory for the future By doing that the countries in the Gulf are articulating a new semiotic and paradigm of urban development For the first time this volume maps these trends in their relation to architecture and infrastructure in particular by treating them as semiotics in their own right It suggests that recent developments in this region of the world not only represent

Understanding Architecture Leland M.
