
TABLE 2. The Psychodynamic Intervention Rating Scale

Interpretive interventions

Defense interpretations: Therapist remarks that try to point out, refer to, or explain the motives for processes that mitigate or diminish affect or processes that reflect shifts in the content of topics or representations of persons. These interventions may address any aspect of a dynamic conflict.

Transference interpretations: Therapist remarks that point out, refer to, wonder about, or explain the patient's experience of the therapeutic relationship.

Noninterpretive interventions

Acknowledgments: Therapist remarks intended to convey that the patient's communication has been received.

Clarification: Therapist remarks that summarize what the patient has said without interpretation and with the intent of ensuring that the therapist has understood properly the patient's communication.

Questions: Therapist inquiries about affects or details of the patient's life, relationships, or significant others. These are not considered interpretive.

Associations: Therapist remarks that reflect on something the patient has said at another point, but without making an interpretation, or that involve therapist self-disclosures or general statements of fact or opinion. These may include answers to questions or explanations.

Reflections: Therapist remarks in which the intent is to briefly express the patient's experience; usually this involves the assertion of an affect.

Work-enhancing strategies: Therapist remarks that explain the value and rationale of therapy and encourage the patient to say whatever comes to mind, no matter how seemingly unimportant or obscure.

Support strategies: Therapist remarks that make suggestions, reinforce, or question patient's solutions to various problems.

Contractual arrangements: Therapist remarks that relate to the "whens," "for how longs," and "how much" of treatment.
