From Bureaucracy to Hyperarchy in Netcentric and Quick Learning Organizations Lawrence R. Jones,Fred Thompson,2007-02-01 This book focuses on the inherent contradiction between bureaucracy hierarchy and the vision inspired by the architecture of modern information technology of a more egalitarian culture in public organizations We agree with Evans and Wurster and others who have argued that in the future knowledge based productive relationships will be designed around fluid teambased collaborative communities either within organizations i e deconstructed value chains or in collaborative alliances such as those with amorphous and permeable corporate boundaries characteristic of companies in the Silicon Valley that is deconstructed supply chains In such relationships everyone can communicate richly with everyone else on the basis of shared standards and like the Internet itself these relationships will eliminate the need to channel information thereby eliminating the trade off between information bandwidth and connectivity The possibility or the threat of random access and information symmetry they conclude will destroy all hierarchies whether of logic or power

State-Led Privatization in China Jin Zeng, 2013-10-01 Large scale privatization did not emerge spontaneously in China in the late 1990s Rather the Chinese state led and carefully planned ownership transformation with timetables and measurable privatization quotas not for the purpose of extracting the state from the economy but in order to strengthen the rule of the Party While it is widely believed that authoritarian regimes are better suited than democracies to carry out economic reform this book provides a more nuanced understanding of reform in China demonstrating that the Chinese state s capacity to impose unpopular reform is contingent on its control over local state agents and its adaptability to societal demands Building on rich fieldwork data gathered in three Chinese cities Shenyang Shanghai and Xiamen this book offers the first comparative study of China s privatization processes at the local level Instead of focusing solely on political elites Jin Zeng adopts a multi level interaction approach to examine how the complex interplay of the central leadership grassroots officials and state owned enterprise managers and workers shaped the contour of privatization in China The book advances three central arguments First local economic structure and cadre evaluation system mediated local officials incentives to initiate privatization Second local officials relied on mobilization campaigns and various appeasement measures to implement privatization Finally the dynamics of privatization were fundamentally driven by the central government s reactions to social opposition and by the subsequent responses of local officials to the changed political regulatory environment As a detailed analysis of the dual transformation of the property regime and state society relations in China this book will be invaluable to students and scholars of Chinese politics economic reform as well as those interested in comparative political economy and economic development more broadly
