Adventuring in Dictionaries John Considine,2010-10-12 Adventuring in Dictionaries New Studies in the History of Lexicography brings together seventeen papers on the making of dictionaries from the sixteenth century to the present day. The first five treat English and French lexicography in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Heberto Fernandez and Monique Cormier discuss the outside matter of French English bilingual dictionaries. Kusujiro Miyoshi reassesses the influence of Robert Cawdrey. John Considine uncovers the biography of Henry Cockeram. Antonella AmatuZZi discusses Pierre Borel's use of his predecessors and Fredric Dolezal investigates multi word units in the dictionary of John Wilkins and William Lloyd. Linda Mitchell's account of dictionaries as behaviour guides in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries leads on to Giovanni Iamartino's presentation of words associated with women in the dictionary of Samuel Johnson and Thora Van Male's of the ornaments in the Encyclopédie. Nineteenth century and subsequent topics are treated by Anatoly Liberman on the growth of the English etymological dictionary, Julie Coleman on dictionaries of rhyming slang, Laura Pinnavaia on Richardson's New Dictionary and the changing vocabulary of English, Peter Gilliver on early editorial decisions and reconsiderations in the making of the Oxford English Dictionary, Anne Dykstra on the use of Latin as the metalanguage in Joost Halbertsma's Lexicon Frisicum, Laura Santone on the Dictionnaire critique serialized in Georges Bataille's Surrealist review Documents, Sylvia Brown on the stories of missionary lexicography behind the Eskimo English Dictionary of 1925 and Michael Adams on the legacies of the Early Modern English Dictionary project. The diverse critical perspectives of the leading lexicographers and historians of lexicography who contribute to this volume are united by a shared interest in the close reading of dictionaries and a shared concern with the making and reading of dictionaries as human activities which cannot be understood without attention to the lives of the people who undertook them.

Slang and Its Analogues Past and Present: C to Fizzle John Stephen Farmer, 1891 Endangered Metaphors Anna Idström, Elisabeth Piirainen, 2012-03-23 When the last speaker of a language dies, she takes to oblivion the memories, associations and the rich imagery this language community has once lived by. The cultural heritage encoded in conventional linguistic metaphors handed down through generations will be lost forever. This volume consists of fifteen articles about metaphors in endangered languages from Peru to Alaska from India to Ghana. The empirical data demonstrate that the assumptions of contemporary cognitive linguistic theory about universal metaphors and the underlying cognitive processes are still far from plausible since culture plays an important role in the formation of metaphors. Moreover that theory has been based on knowledge of metaphors in some standard languages. Indigenous and other minority languages especially mainly orally used ones have been disregarded completely. Besides researchers and students in linguistics especially in metaphor and figurative language theory this compilation provides food for thought for scholars in large fields of cultural studies ranging from anthropology and ethnology to folkloristics and philosophy.
