Ruined Pages Selected Poems:

Ruined Pages Padraic Fiacc, Gerald Dawe, Aodán Mac Póilin, 2012      Ruined Pages Padraic Fiacc, 1994      Balancing Acts Frank Ferguson, 2023-02-15 Balancing Acts gathers together interviews and conversations between Gerald Dawe and a wide cast of interlocutors between 1995 and 2020 Drawn from exchanges on television and radio print and online media these conversations with fellow poets critics journalists colleagues and friends are a testament to Dawe's generous open hearted and open minded approachability as a poet for whom the artful way of making poetry has always been informed by an attitude of just getting on with it In the same way that memory for him is not just about the past but involves a route into the present these fascinating interviews and conversations provide an insight into the poet on the go in the process of making unforgettable poetry happen      The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Poetry Fran Brearton, Alan Gillis, 2012-10-25 The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Poetry consists of 40 essays by leading scholars and new researchers in the field Beginning with W B Yeats the figure who towers over the century's poetry it includes chapters on the major poets to have emerged in Ireland over the last 100 years      Face to Face Gabrielle Warnock, Jeff W. O'Connell, 2000 Portraits of writers taken in Kennys Bookshop Galway      Armed Struggle Richard English, 2008-09-04 A timely work of major historical importance examining the whole spectrum of events from the 1916 Easter Rising to the current and ongoing peace process fully updated with a new afterword for the paperback edition An essential book closely reasoned formidably intelligent and utterly compelling required reading across the political spectrum important and riveting Roy Foster The Times An outstanding new book on the IRA a calm rational but in the end devastating deconstruction of the IRA Henry McDonald Observer Superb the first full history of the IRA and the best overall account of the organization English writes to the highest scholarly standards Moreover he writes with the common reader in mind he has crafted a fine balance of detail and analysis and his prose is clear fresh and jargon free sets a new standard for debate on republicanism Peter Hart Irish Times The one book I recommend for anyone trying to understand the craziness and complexity of the Northern Ireland tragedy Frank McCourt author of Angela's Ashes      The Cambridge Companion to Contemporary Irish Poetry Matthew Campbell, 2003-08-28 In the last fifty years Irish poets have produced some of the most exciting poetry in contemporary literature writing about love and sexuality violence and history country and city This book provides a unique introduction to major figures such as Seamus Heaney but also introduces the reader to significant precursors like Louis MacNeice or Patrick Kavanagh and vital contemporaries and successors among others Thomas Kinsella Paul Muldoon and Nuala Ni Dhomhnaill Readers will find discussions of Irish poetry from the traditional to the modernist written in Irish as well as English from both North and South This Companion the only book of its kind on the market provides cultural and historical background to contemporary Irish poetry in the contexts of modern Ireland but also in the broad currents of modern world literature It includes a chronology and guide to further reading and will prove invaluable to students and teachers alike      Writing Home Elmer Kennedy-Andrews, 2008 The idea of place and of being displaced is a powerful leit motif in Northern Irish poetry It is here explored in depth from the 1960s to the present day Ideas of home place and identity have been continually questioned re imagined and re constructed in Northern Irish poetry Concentrating on the period since the outbreak of the Troubles in the late 1960s this study provides a detailed consideration of the work of several generations of poets from Hewitt and MacNeice to Fiacca and Montague to Simmons Heaney Mahon and Longley to Muldoon Carson Paulin and McGuckian to McDonald Morrissey Gillis and Flynn It traces the extent to which their writing represents a move away from concepts of rootedness and towards a deterritorialized poetics of displacement mobility openness and pluralism in an era of accelerating migration and globalisation In the new readings of place inherited maps are no longer reliable and home is no longer the stable ground of identity but seems instead to be always where it is not The crossing of boundaries and the experience of diaspora open up new understandings of the relations between places a new sense of the permeability and contingency of cultures and new concepts of identity and home Professor ELMER KENNEDY ANDREWS teaches in the Department of English at the University of Ulster

The Collected Poems William Watson, 1899 The Rose and Irish Identity NK Harrington, 2021-06-09 Both Ireland and the Pacific Northwest are known for their climates and have historically been associated with the rose This collection of essays explores the exchange Ireland has had with the Northwest using the rose as an example by examining the beautiful and the harsh the petals and the thorns It is the culmination of the work of established and emerging historians and writers who have traversed the boundary between the Northwest and Ireland several times The timely contributions gathered here include essays about the imperialist mindset biased court systems the victims of social hatred and organized resistance Timeless themes include grief poetry and the oral tradition and the effect plants have upon a given population The book is a much needed contribution to often overlooked aspects of colonialism and boundaries

In the Chair John Brown, 2002 All of the poets interviewed in this collection are from Northern Ireland all were born after 1920 and each has published at least one volume of poetry Arranged chronologically by each poet's date of birth this collection deals with an impressive body of work The poets include Seamus Heaney Paul Muldoon Michael Longley John Montague Derek Mahon Ciaran Carson as well as less known voices including Gerald Dawe Roy McFadden and Conor O Callaghan The interviews explore the poet's work and development the social historical context and the impact of assimilated influences If they explore a poetry often rooted in the North they also suggest the individuality and diversity of this poetry of work whose imaginative range is not circumscribed by either literal borders or critically convenient categories The other poets included are James Simmons Tom Paulin Frank Orsmy Medbh McGuckian Robert Greacen Cathal P Searcaigh Colette Bryce Moyra Donaldson Jean Bleakney Martin Mooney Padraic Fiacca and Cherry Smyth Stepping Stones Dennis O'Driscoll, Seamus Heaney, 2008-12-09 Chronicles the life of twentieth century Irish poet Seamus Heaney from his infancy to his Nobel Prize in 1995 and also discusses his post Nobel life family writings and other related topics The Irish Review, 1994 Shelley: Selected Poems Kelvin Everest, 2023-03-23 Percy Bysshe Shelley 1792 1822 was one of the major Romantic poets and wrote what is critically recognised as some of the finest lyric poetry in the English Language In this volume the editors have selected the most popular significant and frequently taught poems from the six volume Longman Annotated edition of Shelley's poems Each poem is fully annotated explained and contextualised along with a comprehensive list of abbreviations an inclusive bibliography of material relating to the text and interpretation of Shelley's poetry plus an extensive chronology of Shelley's life and works Headnotes and footnotes furnish the personal literary historical and scientific information necessary for an informed reading of Shelley's richly varied and densely allusive verse making this an ideal anthology for students classroom use and anyone approaching Shelley's poetry for the first time however the level and extent of commentary and annotation will also be of great value for researchers and critics Rhetoric and Violence in Northern Ireland, 1968-98 P. Nelson examines the narratives and images that Americans produced as they confronted the war's destructiveness. Architectural ruins, cities and houses dominated the stories that soldiers and civilians told about the savage behavior of men and the invasions of domestic privacy. The ruins of living things, trees and bodies also provoked discussion and debate. People who witnessed forests and men being blown apart were plagued by anxieties about the impact of wartime technologies on nature and on individual identities. The obliteration of cities, houses, trees and men was a shared experience. Nelson shows that this is one of the ironies of the war's ruination in a time of the most extreme national divisiveness: people found common ground as they considered the war's costs. And yet very few of these ruins still exist, suggesting that the destructive practices that dominated the experiences of Americans during the Civil War have been erased from our national consciousness.

Reading the Ruins Leo Mellor, 2011-09-15. From fires to ghosts and from flowers to surrealist apparitions, the bombsites of London were both unsettling and inspiring terrains. Yet throughout the years prior to the Second World War, British culture was already filled with ruins and fragments. They appeared as content with visions of tottering towers and scraps of paper and also as form in the shapes of broken poetics. But from the outbreak of the Second World War, what had been an aesthetic mode began to resemble a proleptic template. During that conflict, many modernist writers such as Graham Greene, Louis MacNeice, David Jones, J. F. Hendry, Elizabeth Bowen, T. S. Eliot and Rose Macaulay engaged with devastated cityscapes and the altered lives of a nation at war. To understand the potency of the bombsites both in the Second World War and after, Reading the Ruins brings together poetry, novels and short stories as well as film and visual art.
