Rural Education In Search Of A Better Way Westview Special Studies In Education:

Rural Education Paul M. Nachtigal, Paul Nachtigal Director, 2019-06-26 The close knit personal nature of small rural communities results in school and community operating as a single integrated social structure Useful rural school improvement strategies must therefore address needs that are recognized by both the local school and the community and must operate in a style congruent with the local setting Although outside ideas and resources may contribute greatly to successful plans to improve rural schools a high level of local involvement is essential in determining the specifics of those plans This is clearly demonstrated by the thirteen case studies presented in this book in which the strategies that have been effective over time in resolving rural school problems are distinguished by a high degree of local participation The cases chosen to provide good examples of particular strategies and also to represent the diversity that characterizes rural America cover centrally designed heavily funded programs as well as small scale locally initiated efforts in such areas as teacher training the introduction of new curricula and community participation in education decision making and political action The final chapters analyze the case studies in practical terms and recommend policy and practice for future rural school improvement Rural Education ,1989 Rural Education Paul M. Nachtigal, 1982-01-01 America's Country Schools Andrew Gulliford, 1991 An abundantly illustrated history of the country school with plans of interiors and grounds Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Time to Write John Sylvester Lofty, 2015-02-10 Analyzes interviews with students teachers and administrators to develop a new set of literacies essential for student success in the digital age To read John s work is to take on the role of a patient listener A book like a piece of music is scored for time and I feel Time to Write is scored adagio I believe that Time to Write can be read as a critique of the time chopping approach to education and an argument for presence for being fully open to experience for being there To do good work we must enter something like island time or what John calls existential time or what is sometimes called flow when we lose at least temporarily a sense of clock time from the Foreword by Thomas Newkirk Twenty five years ago John Sylvester Lofty studied the influence of cultural time values on students resistance to writing instruction in an isolated Maine fishing community For the new edition of Time to Write Lofty returned to the island to consider how social and educational developments in the intervening years may have affected both local culture and attitudes toward education Lofty discovered how the island time values that previously informed students literacy learning have been transformed by outside influences including technology social media and the influx of new residents from urban areas Building on the ethnographic findings of the original study the new edition analyzes the current conflict between the digital age time values of constant connections and instant communication and those of school based literacy Lofty examines the new literacies now essential for students in a technologically connected world both those who aspire to continue the traditional island work of lobster fishing and for the many who now choose to pursue other careers and attend college on the mainland Rural Education (1991) Deyoung

Alan,2017-09-29 Originally published in 1991 essays discuss and analyse rural schooling in its historical social and political contexts as well as its educational mission Collections covering rural education in the United States are relatively rare particularly texts that focus on available research literature in context and many existing texts are written by educators outside of the University This book covers historical and social factors rural education in the field and the future of American Schooling The chapters comprise not only an airing of issues concerns and findings but also a guide to scholarship in the areas covered Included is a resource guide to information specific to rural education and rural special education Prairie Town Jacqueline Edmondson,2003 Like many other agricultural based towns Prairie Town struggled for survival within the context of the on going farm crisis NAFTA neoliberal agricultural policies and growing agribusiness that negatively impacted many farmers throughout the world Monographic Series Library of Congress,1982 The Life and Death of a Rural American High School (1995) Deyoung Alan,2017-12-22 Published in 1995 this book provides an account of a detailed research project focusing on a rural school in West Virginia Researched from several social science perspectives the book strives to capture intersections between biography and history in a particular public school Burnsville High and Middle school in Braxton County that has been influenced by social political and economic forces eventually leading to its closure The author also discusses how the example of this school can be applied within the framework of American public education and Western culture itself Based on research from unstructured interviews oral histories historical records and intermittent fieldwork that took place between 1989 and 1992 the book provides an in depth look at a specific school offering a basis for discussing rural schools in general It challenges the idea that bigger schools are better and more efficient schools in terms of the individual the social life of the school and the surrounding community and considers the lack of scholarly accounts available on the issues controversies and social dynamics that surround these vital community matters Rural Literacies Kim Donehower,Charlotte Hogg,Eileen E Schell,2007 Rural Literacies identifies the problems inherent in trying to understand rural literacy addresses the lack of substantive research on literacy in rural areas and reviews traditional misrepresentations of rural literacy This innovative volume frames debates over literacy in relation to larger social political and economic forces such as the impact of the No Child Left Behind Act on rural schools and the effects of out migration globalization and the loss of small family farms on rural communities Drawing upon traditional literacy and composition research and employing theory from education and sociology the text engages compositionists in broader conversations regarding rural literacies The authors share strategies that will help compositionists participate in pedagogies that are rooted in a richer understanding of rural literacies and work toward sustainability for all communities in a globalized age Resources in Education ,1994 Second International Handbook of Science Education Barry Fraser,Kenneth Tobin,Campbell J. McRobbie,2011-12-14 The International Handbook of Science Education is a two volume edition pertaining to the most significant issues in science education It is a follow up to the first Handbook published in 1998 which is seen as the most authoritative resource ever produced in science education The chapters in this edition are reviews of research in science education and retain the strong international flavor of the project It covers the diverse theories and methods that have been a foundation for science education and continue to characterize this field Each section contains a lead chapter that provides an overview and synthesis of the field and related chapters that provide a narrower focus on research and current thinking on the key issues in that field Leading researchers from around the world have participated as authors and consultants to produce a resource that is comprehensive detailed and up to date The chapters provide the most recent and advanced thinking in science education making the Handbook again the most authoritative resource in science education
