Hugh Barton

Rural Environmental Planning For Sustainable Communities:

Rural Environmental Planning for Sustainable Communities Frederic O. Sargent, 1991-10 Rural Environmental Planning for Sustainable Communities offers an explanation of the concept of Rural Environmental Planning REP along with case studies that show how to apply REP to specific issues such as preserving agricultural lands planning river and lake basins and preserving historical sites

Creating Sustainable Community Programs Mark R. Daniels, 2001-02-28 Public opinion polls consistently reveal the lack of confidence disillusionment and mistrust that citizens feel toward government Daniels and his contributors believe that the relationship between citizens and their governments can be changed by facilitating greater citizen collaboration with government particularly through local sustainable programs As the case studies show often sustainable community programs are created through grassroots movements that are initiated and managed by citizens themselves bringing them in contact with their local elected and appointed officials Unlike traditional programs that are administered by local officials on behalf of their citizens once sustainable community programs are created citizens administer their own programs in collaboration with local officials The case studies look at a variety of sustainable programs primarily in the United States that help to deal with issues such as recycling transportation microcredit site redevelopment pollution health care and hunger Creating Sustainable Community Programs is the first book on sustainable programs that is intended for an audience of public administration scholars researchers and students as well as practitioners who are searching for ways to change the relationship between citizens and their governments

Sustainable Regional Development Methodologies For Microregional Diagnostics Literature Review Richard Edwards, 1995

Sustainable Regional Development Methodologies For Microregional Diagnostics Richard Edwards, Asset Building & Community Development Gary Paul Green, Anna Haines, 2015-04-01 A comprehensive approach focused on sustainable change Asset Building and Community Development Fourth Edition examines the promise and limits of community development by showing students and practitioners how asset based developments can improve the sustainability and quality of life Authors Gary Paul Green and Anna Haines provide an engaging thought provoking and comprehensive approach to asset building by focusing on the role of different forms of community capital in the development process Updated throughout this edition explores how communities are building on their key assets physical human social financial environmental political and cultural capital to generate positive change With a focus on community outcomes the authors illustrate how development controlled by community based organizations provides a better match between assets and the needs of the community

Water Centric Sustainable Communities Vladimir Novotny, Jack Ahern, Paul Brown, 2010-10-12 The current literature compartmentalizes the complex issue of water and wastewater into its discrete components technology planning policy construction economics etc Considered from the perspective of sustainability however water in the urban environment must be approached as a single resource that can be continuously reused and recycled This book will be the first to capture all of the current work on this idea in a single integrated plan for designing the water centric cities of the future From new construction to the retrofitting of existing systems this book presents the case for a new urban relationship to water one with a more sustainable connection to the environment and the hydrological cycle Through case studies of successfully planned and built systems around the world the book will educate the reader about the need for a new approach to urban water management and make the case that these changes are not only possible but imperative Community Culture and the Environment ,2002 Ecosystem Management for Sustainability John Peine,Samab Foundation,1998-06-23 As the 21st century approaches the need to put principles of sustainable living and ecosystem management into practice has never been so urgent Ecosystem Management for Sustainability recognizes this need and shares the experiences of the editor and 54 contributing authors each leaders in the advancement of ecosystem management and champions of the natural environment The book uses the Man And Biosphere program as a case example of a wide variety of resource management activities at work Through the multi authored contributions to this book documentation of a comprehensive spectrum of ecosystem management and sustainable development principles is achieved Ecosystem Management for Sustainability provides a link between theory and practice of these two philosophies A Research Framework for Natural Resource-based Communities in the Pacific Northwest Harriet H. Christensen,2001 New Tools for Environmental Protection National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change,2002-07-13 Many people believe that environmental regulation has passed a point of diminishing returns the quick fixes have been achieved and the main sources of pollution are shifting from large point sources to more diffuse sources that are more difficult and expensive to regulate The political climate has also changed in the United States since the 1970s in ways that provide impetus to seek alternatives to regulation This book examines the potential of some of these new tools that emphasize education information and voluntary measures Contributors summarize what we know about the effectiveness of these tools both individually and in combination with regulatory and economic policy instruments They also extract practical lessons from this knowledge and consider what is needed to make these tools more effective The book will be of interest to environmental policy practitioners and to researchers and students concerned with applying social and behavioral sciences knowledge to improve environmental quality Environment and Planning ,2003 Publishes interdisciplinary research on issues of Government and Policy with an international perspective Committed to a broad range of policy questions not just those related to government and public policy Topics covered include nonstate agents private public collaboration and NGOs nongovernmental organisations All areas of economic social and environmental institutions and policy are included Disciplines from which papers are derived include political science planning geography economics law sociology and public administration Guidelines for Integrated Resource Management Planning in Indian Country United States.

Bureau of Indian Affairs. Office of Trust Responsibilities, Don Hall, 1998 Preserving the Legacy Allen G. Noble, Frank J. Costa, 1999-01-01 Though only a relatively recent topic of worldwide discussion and interest the concept of sustainable development traces its origins to the late eighteenth century when concern for resource conservation and environmental integrity first arose From this beginning the concern for sustainable development progressively expanded from being purely local to having a regional and national relevance and finally to being a global concern of import Preserving the Legacy examines this expansion while discussing several general approaches to the understanding and application of the concept of sustainability Also discussed are such weighty issues as the balancing of development aspirations with environmental management in developing countries and the means by which residents in an urbanizing region in a developed country can be induced to consider sustainable development as both a goal and a limiting factor in the conversion of agricultural land Offering both real world examples of sustainability issues and a forecast for the future of sustainability theory and practice this fascinating volume will prove invaluable to scholars of the environment geography and urban planning Sustainable Communities Hugh Barton, 2013-12-02 This book re addresses the concepts of neighbourhood and community in a refreshing and challenging way It will be of immense benefit not only to town planners but also to all those professional and voluntary groups and politicians who seek to create the new communities of tomorrow From the Foreword by Jed Griffiths Past President of the Royal Town Planning Institute There is widespread support for the principle of creating more sustainable communities but much hazy wishful thinking about what this might mean in practice In reality we witness more the death of local neighbourhoods than their creation or rejuvenation reflecting an increasingly mobile privatized and commodified society Sustainable Communities examines the practicalities of re inventing neighbourhoods It is neither an idealistic utopian tract nor a designer s manual but is rather a serious attempt to address the real issues This collection of expert contributions examines the nature of local community and methods of building social capital presents the findings of a world wide survey of eco neighbourhoods and eco villages with case studies from the United Kingdom Europe America and Australia develops a fresh perspective on the planning and design of neighbourhoods in urban areas based on the eco system approach explores practical programmes for local resource management and the implications for community based decision making provides a detailed appendix listing current eco village and eco neighbourhood schemes by country Written by an interdisciplinary team of social and environmental scientists town planners and urban designers this is a thought provoking and important contribution to both the theory and practice of the development of sustainable communities Under The Blade Thomas Lyson, 2018-05-04 Under the Blade The Conversion of Agricultural Landscapes examines the patterns causes and consequences of current land use decisions in the United States particularly the conversion of farmland to housing roads and other development Changes in land use are the result of complex interactions among law economics landscape characteristics social and political forces ethics and aesthetics By examining farmland loss from each of these perspectives and then integrating the results into policy recommendations Under the Blade makes an important contribution to the ongoing debate on the optimal use of a finite resource land In 1998 the last farm in Des Plaines Illinois was subdivided Seven acres along the Niobrara River in north central Nebraska sold for USD5700 per acre twenty times the price for agricultural use Waukesha County Wisconsin although still largely in agriculture has been almost entirely zoned for small lot subdivisions Nationwide the cumulative effect of thousands of individual land use decisions is an orgiastic devouring of the countryside that consumes at least 1 4 million acres of rural land each year and fragments a much larger area The effects on landscape functions include loss of agricultural production water pollution increases in local runoff and flooding loss of habitat and biodiversity and the loss of natural beauty In exchange we get malls retail strips and an ugly sprawl that degrades people and community How have we come to this and more importantly how might we find a better sustainable approach to the use of land Land use decisions are the result of complex interactions among law economics landscape characteristics population growth social and political forces ethics and aesthetics Under the Blade The Conversion of Agricultural Landscapes examines the loss of farmland and other rural lands from each of these perspectives and shows how interactions among different factors greatly complicate sustainable land management Included throughout the seven main chapters of the book are descriptions of some of the tools and strategies that can be used to preserve farmland and guide development The application of these tools is illustrated by 22 case studies of towns and regions throughout the United States each with a somewhat different challenge response and degree of success or failure Dietrich Bonhoeffer a Protestant theologian hanged by the Nazis in 1945 stated that the ultimate test of a moral society is the kind of world that it leaves to its children Our current choices in the use of the land are among the most important factors shaping that future world and Under the Blade demonstrates that the quality of that future is far from certain
