The Sociology of South Asian Women's Health Sara Rizvi Jafree, 2020-08-06 This contributed volume is the first known collection of essays that brings together scholarly review critiques and primary and secondary data to assess how sociocultural factors influence health behavior in South Asian women The essays are authored by working scholars or healthcare practitioners from Bangladesh India and Pakistan In the chapters the contributors acknowledge social economic and environmental factors to recommend improved interventions and health policy for women of the region Studies on South Asian women's health have targeted clinical evidence with less attention on social and environmental factors driving health recovery and health outcomes The South Asian region more than any other part of the world is driven by traditional and cultural forces that are possibly the most significant factors determining a woman's health awareness and her rights to adopt healthy behavior or pursue health recovery. Women of the region share a common culture and political history and there are benefits to understanding their problems collectively in order to design joint improvements in health policy for women. Salient but neglected socio-political areas that influence health behavior and health outcomes in women of the region are covered in the chapters including Oral Narrations of Social Rejection Suffered by South Asian Women with Irreversible Health Conditions, Women's Role in Decision Making for Health Care in South Asia, Poverty, Health Coverage and Credit Opportunities for South Asian Women, Refugee Displaced and Climate Affected Women of South Asia and Their Health Challenges, The Political Sociology of South Asian Women's Health. The Sociology of South Asian Women's Health is a useful resource for students, researchers and academicians especially those interested in public health, gender, social policy and occupational management as well as healthcare practitioners, administrators, health and public policy makers, government officers and scholars of South Asian studies.

Brides of the Buddha Karen Muldoon-Hules, 2017-06-05 For young women in early South Asia, marriage was probably the most important event in their lives as it largely determined their socioeconomic and religious future. Yet there has been little in the way of systematic examinations of the evidence on marriage customs among Buddhists of this time and our understanding of the lives of early Buddhist women is still quite limited. This study uses ten stories from the Avadanasataka, the collection of Buddhist narratives compiled from the second to fifth centuries CE, to examine the social landscape of early India. The author analyzes marital customs and the development of nuns' hagiographies while revealing regional variations of Buddhism in South Asia during this period.

The Middle East and South Asia 2019-2020, 2019-10-09 More than a quarter of the world's population live in the Middle East and South Asia, yet our knowledge and understanding of the region is often limited to news updates about the latest conflicts and crises. This 53rd edition of the annually updated volume of the World Today Series provides important insights that take the reader beyond the headlines. It offers detailed and up-to-date information about the politics, economies and societies of the twenty-four states that make up the region. Contemporary events are placed in their historical context through an examination of major civilizations and key historical events. This volume introduces major themes that have shaped the region, including the struggles of ordinary people to achieve democratic rights, the role of oil in shaping society, burgeoning environmental threats and the rise and fall of the Islamic State caliphate. While there is reason for optimism in regards to the Middle East and South Asia, this is tempered by the very real challenges that confront the region. The general reader will gain an understanding of these challenges and opportunities through an exploration of current and past developments.
