Maritime Animals Kaori Nagai, 2023-08-31 This volume explores nonhuman animals involvement with human maritime activities in the age of sail as well as the myriad multispecies connections formed across different geographical locations knitted together by the long history of global ship movement Far from treating the ship as a confined space defined by the sea Maritime Animals considers the ship's connections to broader contexts and networks and covers a variety of locations from the Canadian Arctic to the Pacific Islands Each chapter focuses on the oceanic experiences of a particular species from ship vermin animals transported onboard as food and animal specimens for scientific study to livestock companion and working animals deep sea animals that find refuge in shipwrecks and terrestrial animals that hunker down on flotsam and jetsam Drawing on recent scholarship in animal studies maritime studies environmental humanities and a wide range of other perspectives and storytelling approaches Maritime Animals challenges an anthropocentric understanding of maritime history Instead this volume highlights the ways in which species through their interaction with the oceans tell stories and make histories in significant and often surprising ways In addition to the editor the contributors to this volume include Anna Boswell Nancy Cushing Lea Edgar David Haworth Donna Landry Derek Lee Nelson Jimmy Packham Laurence Publicover Killian Quigley Lynette Russell Adam Sundberg and Thom van Dooren

Last of the Giants Jeff Campbell, 2019-08-01 Today an ancient world is vanishing right before our eyes the age of giant animals Over 40 000 years ago the earth was ruled by megafauna mammoths mastodons saber toothed tigers and giant sloths Of course those creatures no longer exist and there is only one likely reason for that the evolution and arrival of the earth's only tool wielding hunter the wildly adaptive comparatively pint sized human species Many more of the world's biggest and baddest creatures including the black rhino the dodo giant tortoises and the great auk have vanished since our world became truly global Last of the Giants chronicles those giant animals and apex predators pushed to extinction in the modern era The book also highlights those giant species that remain even though many barely survive living in such low numbers that they are on the brink of leaving this world within the next few decades However there is hope for many endangered species can still be saved As it profiles each extinct and endangered animal Last of the Giants focuses on the conservation efforts that are trying to preserve the world's remaining charismatic species before they are lost forever On the Backs of Tortoises Elizabeth Hennessy, 2019-10-29 An insightful exploration of the iconic Galapagos tortoises and how their fate is inextricably linked to our own in a rapidly changing world Finalist for the 2020 E O Wilson Literary Science

Writing Award sponsored by PEN America Literary Awards The Galapagos archipelago is often viewed as a last foothold of pristine nature For sixty years conservationists have worked to restore this evolutionary Eden after centuries of exploitation at the hands of pirates whalers and island settlers This book tells the story of the islands namesakes the giant tortoises as coveted food sources objects of natural history and famous icons of conservation and tourism By doing so it brings into stark relief the paradoxical and impossible goal of conserving species by trying to restore a past state of prehistoric evolution The tortoises Elizabeth Hennessy demonstrates are not prehistoric but rather microcosms whose stories show how deeply human and nonhuman life are entangled In a world where evolution is thoroughly shaped by global history Hennessy puts forward a vision for conservation based on reckoning with the past rather than trying to erase it Fresh insightful Hennessy's melding of human and natural history makes for thought provoking reading Booklist starred review Gripping well researched and thought provoking whether you're well versed in the intricacies of conservation or have only just begun to long for a look at the tortoises yourself On the Backs of Tortoises is a natural history that asks important questions and challenges us to think about how best to answer them Genevieve Valentine NPR Wonderfully interesting informative and engaging as well as scholarly Janet Browne author of Charles Darwin Voyaging and Charles Darwin The Power of Place

The Unnatural History of the Sea Callum Roberts, 2009-01-05 Humanity can make short work of the oceans creatures In 1741 hungry explorers discovered herds of Steller's sea cow in the Bering Strait and in less than thirty years the amiable beast had been harpooned into extinction It's a classic story but a key fact is often omitted Bering Island was the last redoubt of a species that had been decimated by hunting and habitat loss years before the explorers set sail As Callum M Roberts reveals in The Unnatural History of the Sea the oceans bounty didn't disappear overnight While today's fishing industry is ruthlessly efficient intense exploitation began not in the modern era or even with the dawn of industrialization but in the eleventh century in medieval Europe Roberts explores this long and colorful history of commercial fishing taking readers around the world and through the centuries to witness the transformation of the seas Drawing on firsthand accounts of early explorers pirates merchants fishers and travelers the book recreates the oceans of the past waters teeming with whales sea lions sea otters turtles and giant fish The abundance of marine life described by fifteenth century seafarers is almost unimaginable today but Roberts both brings it alive and artfully traces its depletion Collapsing fisheries he shows are simply the latest chapter in a long history of unfettered commercialization of the seas The story does not end with an empty ocean Instead Roberts describes how we might restore the splendor and prosperity of the seas through smarter management of our resources and some simple restraint From the coasts of Florida to New Zealand marine reserves have fostered spectacular recovery of plants and animals to levels not seen in a century They prove that history need not repeat itself we can leave the oceans richer than we found them of the Wild Many scientists believe that we are currently living through the Earth's sixth mass extinction with species disappearing at a rate not seen for tens of millions of years a trend that will only accelerate as climate change and other pressures intensify What does it mean to live in such a time And what exactly do we lose when a species goes extinct In a series of fascinating encounters with subjects that are now nowhere to be found on Earth from giant tortoises to minuscule snails the size of sesame seeds from ocean hopping trees to fish that wag their tails like puppies Tom Lathan brings these lost wonders briefly back to life and gives us a tantalising glimpse of what we have lost within our own lifetime Drawing on the personal recollections of the people who studied these species as well as those who tried but ultimately failed to save them and with beautiful illustrations Lost Wonders is an intimate portrait of the species that have only recently vanished from our world and an urgent warning to hold on all the more tightly to those now slipping from our grasp Illustrated by Claire Kohda

Ghosts Katie Spalding, 2023-05-16 Publishers Weekly Best Summer Reads Overturn everything you knew about history's greatest minds in this raucous and hilarious book where it turns out there's a finer line between genius and idiot than we've previously known As Albert Einstein almost certainly never said everyone is a genius but if you judge a fish by its ability to climb a tree it will live its whole life believing that it is stupid So begins Katie Spalding's spunky takedown of the Western canon and how genius may not be as irrefutably great as we commonly understand While most of us may never become Einstein it may surprise you to learn that there's probably a bunch of stuff you can do that Einstein couldn't And as Spalding shows the famous prodigies she explores here were quite odd by any definition For example Thomas Edison inventor of the lightbulb believed that he could communicate with the undead and built the world's very first hotline to heaven the Spirit Phone Marie and Pierre Curie famous for discovering radioactivity slept next to a lump of radioactive material for years and strapped it to their arms to watch it burn them in real time Lord Byron acclaimed British poet literally took a bear with him to university Isaac Newton discovered the laws of gravity and motion but he also looked up at the sun without eye protection The result Three days of blindness Tesla whose scientific work led to the invention of the AC unit fell in love with a pigeon Edison's Ghosts is filled with examples of the so called best of humanity doing to put it bluntly some really dumb shit You'll discover stories that deserve to be told but never are the hilarious regrettable and downright bafflingly lesser known achievements that never made it into our history books until now Animals Strike Curious Poses Elena

Bauer,Alexandra Böhm,Micha Gerrit Philipp Edlich,Greta Gaard,Björn Hayer,Andreas Hübner,Michaela Keck,Maria Moss,Jobst Paul,Mieke Roscher,Pamela Steen,Nils Steffensen,2022-06-14 In light of the dramatic growth and rapid institutionalization of human animal studies in recent years it is somewhat surprising that only a small number of publications have proposed practical and theoretical approaches to teaching in this inter and transdisciplinary field Featuring eleven original pedagogical interventions from the social sciences and the humanities as well as an epilogue from ecofeminist critic Greta Gaard the present volume addresses this gap and responds to the demand by both educators and students for pedagogies appropriate for dealing with environmental crises The theoretical and practical contributions collected here describe new ways of teaching human animal studies in different educational settings and institutional contexts suggesting how learners equipped with key concepts such as agency or relationality can develop empathy and ethical regard for the more than human world and especially nonhuman animals As the contributors to this volume show these cognitive and affective goals can be achieved in many curricula in secondary and tertiary education By providing learners with the tools to challenge human exceptionalism in its various guises and related patterns of domination and exploitation in and outside the classroom these interventions also contribute to a much needed transformation not only of today's educational systems but of society as a whole This volume is an invitation to beginners and experienced instructors alike an invitation to reconsider how we teach human animal studies and how we could and should prepare learners for an uncertain future in ideally a more egalitarian and just multispecies world With contributions by Roman Bartosch Liza B Bauer Alexandra B hm Micha Gerrit Philipp Edlich Greta Gaard Bj rn Hayer Andreas H bner Michaela Keck Maria Moss Jobst Paul Mieke Roscher Pamela Steen and Nils Steffensen
