The Shimmering Maya, and Other Essays Catharine Savage Brosman, 1994 But she moors her musings to specific places people and events sharing with us stories of herself and the individuals who have influenced her parents relatives lovers husbands teachers writers and philosophers She moves with entertaining ease from abstract philosophical considerations to immediate pragmatic ones

Passages Catharine Savage Brosman, 1996-04-01 In Passages Catharine Savage Brosman presents journeys between the world and spirit journeys that share an axis of yearning for a realm as pure as desire Brosman refracts through metrical virtuosity historical imagination and a vision like cleansing light a world alive with coruscating color and sensual textures Each line is subtle quiet yet breathtaking in its precision and the spare eloquence of Brosman's perfectly executed gestures invests with stunning pathos poems such as Wind which reflects a woman abandoned by husband children and faith itself and Carnival in which a lonely aging woman at Mardi Gras muses Whether rendering a speaker's spiritual communion with Mozart the febrile longings of a woman caught in adultery in French Algeria or a love letter by Madame d'Epainay deftly couched in the metrics and tropes of eighteenth century France Brosman moves effortlessly from the broodingly intimate perspectives of other eyes other souls to the most abstract of aesthetic meditations These are poems of wit and passion poems that beg to be read and reread and this remarkable collection reminds us again and again of the passages that open into the lives of our imagination

Louisiana Creole Literature Catharine Savage Brosman, 2013-10-17 Louisiana Creole Literature is a broad ranging critical reading of belles lettres in both French and English connected to and generally produced by the distinctive Louisiana Creole peoples chiefly in the southeastern part of the state The book covers primarily the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the flourishing period during which the term Creole had broad and contested cultural reference in Louisiana The study consists in part of literary history and biography

When available and appropriate each discussion arranged chronologically provides pertinent personal information on authors as well as publishing facts Readers will find also summaries and evaluation of key texts some virtually unknown others of difficult access Brosman illuminates the biographies and works of Kate Chopin Lafcadio Hearn George Washington Cable Grace King and Adolphe Duhaime among others In addition she challenges views that appear to be skewed regarding canon formation The book places emphasis on poetry and fiction reaching from early nineteenth century writing through the twentieth century to selected works by poets still writing in the early twenty first century A few plays are treated also especially by Victor Séjour Louisiana Creole Literature examines at length the writings of important Francophone figures and certain Anglophone novelists likewise receive extended treatment Since much of nineteenth century Louisiana literature was transnational the book considers Creole based works which appeared in Paris as well as those published locally

Under the Pergola Catharine Savage Brosman, 2011-09-02 Always spirited and elegant by turns witty and meditative Catharine Savage Brosman's Under the Pergola contemplates Louisiana past and present before traveling a broader path that crosses Colorado landscapes and the island of Sicily Brosman's collection reflects on the recent light years of the poet's life which she characterizes as silken slipping smoothly off like a gown

Places in Mind Catharine Savage Brosman, 2000-04-01 On this familiar planet all is strange writes Catharine Savage Brosman and with that she takes her reader on an eye and mind opening journey that starts cocktail in hand at the Columns Hotel veranda on New Orleans St Charles Avenue and flies to such memorable and varied sites as the rainy bank of London's Thames an English greengrocer's winter produce bin an abbey on the Norman plain an island under palms where the flames of bougainvillea and the hibiscus burn magenta and across the Utah line Remember though the poet warns a manual for tourists this is not adventures in the mind are what you've got And the mind's eye that refracts these vivid places is unmistakably Brosman's richly allusive deeply meditative and ranging widely Travel's unsettling sensation of being in one place having just left another and going somewhere else gives way Brosman discovers to the stimulus to savor stillness stepping out alone I am in a green and golden masterpiece and all the rest just falls away Both cerebral and sensuous boulevards by Caillebotte a platter by Chardin an old Chilean disk of Neruda declaiming in inimitable voice unearthly notes from Ravel's tomb Brussels sprouts touched with Cézanne blue Brosman's poems cause time thought and subject to luster and converge In language always controlled and precise Places in Mind offers readers on this hurtling missile of modern pace days of sweet slow syrup a silken seamless afternoon Whether light an airplane seat in tourist class I have before me this a plastic plate heartrending those carrying sacks in the street wearing cracked shoes and faces or seductive the olive that plump savory and salubrious could wait no longer to be tasted Brosman's poems delight in their imaginative brilliance
