Shingwauks Vision:

Shingwauk's Vision J.R. Miller, 1996-05-24 With the growing strength of minority voices in recent decades has come much impassioned discussion of residential schools the institutions where attendance by Native children was compulsory as recently as the 1960s Former students have come forward in increasing numbers to describe the psychological and physical abuse they suffered in these schools and many view the system as an experiment in cultural genocide In this first comprehensive history of these institutions J R Miller explores the motives of all three agents in the story He looks at the separate experiences and agendas of the government officials who authorized the schools the missionaries who taught in them and the students who attended them Starting with the foundations of residential schooling in seventeenth century New France Miller traces the modern version of the institution that was created in the 1880s and finally describes the phasing out of the schools in the 1960s He looks at instruction work and recreation care and abuse and the growing resistance to the system on the part of students and their families Based on extensive interviews as well as archival research Miller s history is particularly rich in Native accounts of the school system This book is an absolute first in its comprehensive treatment of this subject J R Miller has written a new chapter in the history of relations between indigenous and immigrant peoples in Canada Co winner of the 1996 Saskatchewan Book Award for nonfiction Winner of the 1996 John Wesley Dafoe Foundation competition for Distinguished Writing by Canadians Named an Outstanding Book on the subject of human rights in North America by the Gustavus Myer Center for the Study of Human Rights in North America Shingwauk's Vision James Rodger Miller, 1996 This book is an absolute first in its comprehensive treatment of this subject J R Miller has written a new chapter in the history of relations between indigenous and immigrant peoples in Canada The Betrayal of Faith Emma Anderson, 2007-10-31 Anderson uses one man s compelling story to explore the collision of Christianity with Native religion in colonial North America Pastedechouan s story illuminates struggles to retain and impose religious identity on both sides of the 17th century Atlantic even as it has relevance to the contemporary encounter between native and nonnative peoples Carnivalizing Reconciliation Hanna Teichler, 2021-10-15 Transitional justice and national inquiries may be the most established means for coming to terms with traumatic legacies but it is in the more subtle social and cultural processes of memory work that the pitfalls and promises of reconciliation are laid bare This book analyzes within the realms of literature and film recent Australian and Canadian attempts to reconcile with Indigenous populations in the wake of forced child removal As Hanna Teichler demonstrates their systematic emphasis on the subjectivity of the victim is problematic reproducing simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization Such fictions of reconciliation venture beyond simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization offering new opportunities for confronting painful histories This Benevolent Experiment Andrew John Woolford, 2015-09 A Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2017 At the end of the nineteenth century Indigenous boarding schools were touted as the means for solving the Indian problem in both the United States and Canada With the goal of permanently transforming Indigenous young people into Europeanized colonial subjects the schools were ultimately a means for eliminating Indigenous communities as obstacles to land acquisition resource extraction and nation building Andrew Woolford analyzes the formulation of the Indian problem as a policy concern in the United States and Canada and examines how the solution of Indigenous boarding schools was implemented in Manitoba and New Mexico through complex chains that included multiple government offices with a variety of staffs Indigenous peoples and even nonhuman actors such as poverty disease and space The genocidal project inherent in these boarding schools however did not unfold in either nation without diversion resistance and unintended consequences Inspired by the signing of the 2007 Indian Residential School Settlement Agreement in Canada which provided a truth and reconciliation commission and compensation for survivors of residential schools This Benevolent Experiment offers a multilayered comparative analysis of Indigenous boarding schools in the United States and Canada Because of differing historical political and structural influences the two countries have arrived at two very different responses to the harm caused by assimilative education

Residential Schools and Reconciliation J.R. Miller,2017-01-01 Residential Schools and Reconciliation is a unique timely and provocative work that tackles and explains the institutional responses to Canada's residential school legacy

Capitalism and Colonialism: The Making of Modern Canada 1890-1960 Bryan D. Palmer,2025-09-02 This second volume of Bryan Palmer's history of Canada covers 1890 to 1960 Weaving together themes that include business labour politics and social history this account brings the experiences of Indigenous peoples into the centre of the narrative Canada experienced extraordinary growth during these decades notably after the Second World War when many Canadians quickly became far better off Yet vast inequalities persisted Indigenous peoples experienced ongoing and often worsening deprivation and ordinary people saw little or no real improvement in their lives These realities set the stage for the interplay of reform resistance and reaction that followed after 1960 Palmer examines the continuing role of capitalism and colonialism in structuring Canada in the period between 1890 and 1960 from capital's conflicts and fragile ententes with labour to the struggles of Indigenous Peoples and francophone Canada and the changing role of Canadian capital internationally Relying on the work of scholars who have produced a vast academic literature on a wide range of topics in Canadian history Bryan Palmer offers a new history of Canada which reflects the knowledge and values of 21st century Canadians Skyscrapers

Hide the Heavens J. R. Miller,2018-01-01 Author J R Miller charts the deterioration of the relationship from the initial mutually beneficial contact in the fur trade to the current impasse in which Indigenous peoples are resisting displacement and marginalization The Peripatetic Journey of Teacher Preparation in Canada Rosa Bruno-Jofré,Joseph

Stafford,2020-10-12 This book situates teacher training preparation and education in Canada within national and global histories The authors lead the reader through an exploration of the objectives of schooling the contextual role of teachers and the political undercurrents sustaining various educational conceptions and policies Transnational Indians in the North

American West Clarissa Confer, Andrae Marak, Laura Tuennerman, 2015-10-07 This collection of eleven original essays goes beyond traditional border driven studies to place the histories of Native Americans indigenous peoples and First Nation peoples in a larger context than merely that of the dominant nation As Transnational Indians in the North American West shows transnationalism can be expressed in various ways To some it can be based on dependency so that the history of the indigenous people of the American Southwest can only be understood in the larger context of Mexico and Central America Others focus on the importance of movement between Indian and non Indian worlds as Indians left their reserved lands to work hunt fish gather pursue legal cases or seek out education to name but a few examples Conversely even natives who remained on reserved lands were nonetheless transnational inasmuch as the reserves did not fully belong to them but were administered by a nation state Boundaries that scholars once viewed as impermeable it turns out can be quite porous This book stands to be an important contribution to the scholarship that is increasingly breaking free of old boundaries     The Fire Still Burns Sam George, 2023-05-31 My name is Sam George In spite of everything that happened to me by the grace of the Creator I have lived to be an Elder Set in the Vancouver area in the late 1940s and through to the present day this candid account follows Sam from his idyllic childhood growing up on the Eslih 7an Mission reserve to the confines of St Paul s Indian Residential School and then into a life of addiction and incarceration But an ember of Sam s spirit always burned within him and even in the darkest of places he retained his humour and dignity until he found the strength to face his past The Fire Still Burns is an unflinching look at the horrors of a childhood spent trapped within the Indian Residential School system and the long term effects on survivors It illustrates the healing power of one s culture and the resilience that allows an individual to rebuild a life and a future     Healing the World's Children Cynthia Comacchio, Janet Golden, George Weisz, 2008-06-26 Essays range from historical overviews and historiographic surveys of children s health in various regions of the world to disability and affliction narratives from polio in North American to AIDS orphans in post Apartheid South Africa to interpretations of artistic renderings of sick children that tell us much about medicine family and society at specific times in history     Scotland, empire and decolonisation in the twentieth century Bryan Glass, John M. MacKenzie, 2017-03-01 This volume represents one of the first attempts to examine the connection between Scotland and the British empire throughout the entire twentieth century As the century dawned the Scottish economy was still strongly connected with imperial infrastructures like railways engineering construction and shipping and colonial trade and investment By the end of the century however the Scottish economy its politics and its society had been through major upheavals which many connected with decolonisation The end of empire played a defining role in shaping modern day Scotland and the identity of its people Written by scholars of distinction these chapters represent ground breaking research in the field of Scotland s complex and often changing relationship with the British empire in the period The introduction that opens the collection will be viewed for years to come as the single most important historiographical statement on Scotland and empire during the tumultuous years of the twentieth century A final chapter from Stuart Ward and Jimmi stergaard Nielsen covers the 2014 referendum

Missions of Interdependence, 2021-11-01 At the beginning of the twenty first century it is necessary to combine into a productive programme the striving for individual emancipation and the social practice of humanism in order to help the world survive both the ancient pitfalls of particularist terrorism and the levelling tendencies of cultural indifference engendered by the renewed imperialist arrogance of hegemonial global capital In this book thirty five scholars address and negotiate in a spirit of learning and understanding an exemplary variety of intercultural splits and fissures that have opened up in the English speaking world Their methodology can be seen to constitute a seminal field of intellectual signposts They point out ways and means of responsibly assessing colonial predicaments and postcolonial developments in six regions shaped in the past by the British Empire and still associated today through their allegiance to the idea of a Commonwealth of Nations They show how a new ethic of literary self assertion interpretative mediation and critical responsiveness can remove the deeply ingrained prejudices silences and taboos established by discrimination against race class and gender

A History of Early Childhood Education in Canada, Australia, and New Zealand Larry Prochner, 2010-01-01 In the early nineteenth century governments developed kindergartens and infant schools to give children a head start in life These programs hinged on new visions of childhood that originated in England and Europe but what happened when they were transported to the colonies This book unwinds the tangled threads of this history by tracing how Enlightenment thought and Romantic ideas translated into early infant schools in England kindergartens in Germany and the United States and free kindergarten systems in the Commonwealth countries The systems that emerged in Canada Australia and New Zealand maintained the integrity of the ideas and models that inspired them but adapted them to suit local ideas politics and populations This unique account of early childhood education in comparative perspective provides fresh insight into how to reconcile educational theory and practice in an increasingly global world

Roots of Entanglement Myra Rutherdale, Kerry Abel, P. Whitney Lackenbauer, 2018-01-31 Roots of Entanglement offers an historical exploration of the relationships between Indigenous peoples and European newcomers in the territory that would become Canada Various engagements between Indigenous peoples and the state are emphasized and questions are raised about the ways in which the past has been perceived and how those perceptions have shaped identity and in turn interaction both past and present Specific topics such as land resources treaties laws policies and cultural politics are explored through a range of perspectives that reflect state of the art research in the field of Indigenous history Editors Myra Rutherdale Whitney Lackenbauer and Kerry Abel have assembled an array of top scholars including luminaries such as Keith Carlson Bill Waiser Skip Ray and Ken Coates Roots of Entanglement is a direct response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission's call for a better appreciation of the complexities of history in the relationship between Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples in Canada

Cultural Genocide Jeffrey S. Bachman, 2019-05-24 This book explores concepts of Cultural genocide its definitions place in international law the systems and methods that contribute to its manifestations and its occurrences Through a systematic approach and comprehensive analysis international and interdisciplinary contributors from the fields of genocide studies legal studies criminology sociology archaeology human rights colonial studies and anthropology examine the legal structural and political issues associated with cultural genocide This includes a series of geographically representative case studies from the USA Brazil Australia West Papua Iraq Palestine Iran and Canada This volume is unique in its interdisciplinarity regional coverage and the various methods of cultural genocide represented and will be of interest to scholars of genocide studies cultural studies and human rights international law international relations indigenous studies anthropology and history

Reparations Nigel Biggar, 2025-09-25 Compelling and timely Tirthankar Roy Essential reading David Eltis Many now claim that Western countries should pay reparations to former colonies for the lasting damage they caused especially through slavery Why is this claim being made now How far does it make sense And more generally how can historic wrongs be righted Reparations removes the sloganeering from a newly fashionable cause sets the issue in its proper historical context and mounts an ethical counter argument The natural sequel to Nigel Biggar's bestselling and widely acclaimed Colonialism A Moral Reckoning it makes a powerful contribution to an increasingly prominent public debate

Rhetoric and Settler Inertia Patrick Belanger, 2019-05-23 Rhetoric and Settler Inertia Strategies of Canadian Decolonization explores how communication might accelerate decolonial actions in Canada Tracing a middle path between essential Indigenous focused calls for resurgence and idealistic appeals to settler conscience Patrick Belanger identifies communication forms that can generate settler support for decolonization Accenting the importance of both Indigenous and settler audiences this book suggests the promise of decolonial rhetoric framed in the language of mutual benefit
