De Graw,2023-12-15 On August 7 1942 U S Marines waded ashore in the Solomons defended by warships of the U S Navy The amphibious landing was the first major American ground campaign of the Pacific War intended to prevent the Japanese from establishing naval and air bases in the island chain and to establish Allied bases for future operations Most famously and most gruelingly the invasion marked the beginning of the months long Guadalcanal campaign Caught off guard the Japanese swiftly regrouped for a seaborne counterattack on the night of August 8 9 The result was one of the worst American naval defeats of the war after Pearl Harbor In this meticulous minute by minute retelling of the First Battle of Savo Island Lawrence De Graw covers the navy's role in the initial landings on Guadalcanal before setting the stage for the naval clash that would come the next night On the eighth the American commander fearing Japanese attacks and cautious about fuel levels withdrew his aircraft carriers and let his cruisers and destroyers exhausted from two days of high alert and combat operate with only half their crews on duty The navy was unaware the Japanese had been training to fight at night The American ships were sitting ducks when the Japanese fleet steamed through The Slot between Savo Island and Guadalcanal and into what became known as Ironbottom Sound In little more than thirty minutes the Japanese sent three U S and one Australian heavy cruisers to the bottom and damaged three other vessels The American fleet withdrew from the area for the foreseeable future and limited shipments of men and materiel to the daytime helping turn the battle of Guadalcanal into a long hard slog Sitting Ducks at Guadalcanal is naval history featuring a colorful narrative that covers the big picture as well as stories of individual vessels and sailors as well as a careful analysis of the battle and just what went wrong for the U S Navy off the island of Guadalcanal Journal of the Royal United Services Institute for Defence Studies Royal United Services Institute for Defence Studies,1897 The naval war film Jonathan Rayner,2013-07-19 This book undertakes a unique coherent and comprehensive consideration of the depiction of naval warfare in the cinema The films under discussion encompass all areas of naval operations in war and highlight varying institutional and aesthetic responses to navies and the sea in popular culture The examination of these films centres on their similarities to and differences from the conventions of the war genre and seeks to determine whether the distinctive characteristics of naval film narratives justify their categorisation as a separate genre or sub genre in popular cinema The explicit factual bases and drama documentary style of many key naval films such as In Which We Serve They Were Expendable and Das Boot also requires the consideration of these films as texts for popular historical transmission Their frequent reinforcement of establishment views of the past which derives from their conservative ideological position towards national and naval culture makes these films key texts for the consideration of national cinemas as purveyors of contemporary history as popularly conceived by filmmakers and received by audiences Van Nostrand's Eclectic Engineering Magazine ,1881 Van Nostrand's Engineering Magazine ,1881 United States Naval Institute Proceedings United States Naval Institute,1918 Darkest Before Dawn John Peterson,2011-10-21 In the autumn of 1944 the Second World War was coming to an end In the Atlantic the U boats had been beaten back through a massive programme of Allied shipbuilding combined with tactical technological and intelligence improvements The threat to Allied shipping had diminished But it had not disappeared and a lone U boat on its first active patrol slipped into the North Channel in just a few days five ships lay broken on the seabed including the Empire Heritage one of the largest Allied ships lost during the war and the Jacksonville an American tanker sailing out of New York In Darkest Before Dawn John Peterson presents the story for the first time of how U 482 managed to slip undetected into the busy shipping lanes of the North Channel and carry out the last great U boat patrol of the war It is the story of the attack the aftermath and the men involved including the aristocratic U boat commander von Matushka who was on the Bismarck when it was sunk earlier in the war was he driven by revenge to torpedo the Pinto a rescue ship trying to pick up the survivors of Empire Heritage an act that some claimed to be a war crime Based on new research and previously unpublished material Darkest Before Dawn presents the definitive account of the attack on convoy HX 305 and unravels the mystery of the fate of U 482 Proceedings of the United States Naval Institute United States Naval Institute,1918 Dictionary of American Naval Fighting Ships ,1991 The dictionary consists of an alphabetical index to over 10 000 ship histories documenting nearly every ship that the US Navy has put to sea Continental and Confederate vessels are also included Entries include physical information commissioning service record notable actions and decommissioning Drawings photographs and documents are also included The Web site is an electronic version of the previously published dictionary series Web entries may be corrected and updated from those that appeared in the printed series Dictionary of American Naval Fighting Ships United States.
