Shipwrecks in the Bodrum Museum of Underwater Archaeology George Fletcher Bass,1996      Commercial Amphoras of the Bodrum Museum of Underwater Archaeology Oğuz Alpözen,Bodrum Sualtı Arkeoloji Müzesi,A. Harun Özdaş,Bahadır Berkaya,1995      Late Bronze-Age Metal Artifacts off Hahotrim, Israel Shelley Wachsmann,2025-05-30

During an inspection dive in 1980 along Israel's Mediterranean coast off of Kibbutz Hahotrim Shelley Wachsmann then Inspector of Antiquities for the Israel Department of Antiquities and Museums now the Israel Antiquities Authority discovered artifacts on a section of seabed swept clear of sand by a storm. Scattered around two large stone anchors the finds consisted primarily of small broken or damaged pieces of metal artifacts and ingots. Late Bronze Age Metal Artifacts off Hahotrim Israel comprises the careful analysis of the materials by Wachsmann and ten collaborators. Examination of the artifacts along with the context in which they were found suggests that rather than being all that remains of an undiscovered ancient wreck the artifacts may have found their way to the seabed as jetsam dumped overboard by a crew hoping to extricate their vessel from a sand bar or other obstruction. As Wachsmann notes the discovery and study of this humble group of artifacts provides evidence of a vibrant culture of maritime commerce that existed in the Late Bronze Age Mediterranean world prior to its collapse. Positing the existence of a dynamic international period when a system of land and sea trade routes stretched from Sardinia in the west to Iran in the east spanning roughly a tenth of the earth's circumference this careful analysis adds important context to our evolving understanding of the interconnectedness of the Mediterranean world at a pivotal moment in history.

Out of the Depths Alan G. Jamieson,2024-08-12 A highly illustrated voyage through shipwrecks ancient and contemporary. Out of the Depths explores all aspects of shipwrecks across four thousand years examining their historical context and significance showing how shipwrecks can be time capsules and shedding new light on long departed societies and civilizations. Alan G. Jamieson not only informs readers of the technological developments over the last sixty years that have made the true appreciation of shipwrecks possible but he also covers shipwrecks in culture and maritime archaeology their appeal to treasure hunters and their environmental impacts. Although shipwrecks have become less common in recent decades their implications have become more wide ranging since the 1960s foundering supertankers have caused massive environmental disasters and in 2021 the blocking of the Suez Canal by the giant container ship Ever Given had a serious effect on global trade.

Seagoing Ships and Seamanship in the Bronze Age Levant Shelley Wachsmann,2018-05-04 During the Bronze Age the ancient societies that ringed the Mediterranean once mostly separate and isolate began to reach across the great expanse of sea to conduct trade marking an age of immense cultural growth and technological development. These intersocietal lines of communication and paths for commerce relied on rigorous open water travel. And as a potential superhighway the Mediterranean demanded much in the way of seafaring knowledge and innovative ship design if it were to be successfully navigated. In Seagoing Ships and Seamanship in the Bronze Age Levant Shelley Wachsmann presents a one of a kind comprehensive examination of how the early eastern Mediterranean cultures took to the sea and how they evolved as a result The author surveys the blue water ships of the Egyptians Syro Canaanites Cypriots Early Bronze Age Aegeans Minoans Mycenaeans and Sea Peoples and discusses known Bronze Age shipwrecks Relying on archaeological ethnological iconographic and textual evidence Wachsmann delivers a fascinating and intricate rendering of virtually every aspect of early sea travel from ship construction and propulsion to war on the open water piracy and laws pertaining to conduct at sea This broad study is further enhanced by contributions from other renowned scholars J Hoftijzer and W H van Soldt offer new and illuminating translations of Ugaritic and Akkadian documents that refer to seafaring J R Lenz delves into the Homeric Greek lexicon to search out possible references to the birdlike shapes that adorned early ships stem and stern F Hocker provides a useful appendix and glossary of nautical terms and George F Bass s foreword frames the study s scholarly significance and discusses its place in the nautical archaeological canon This book brings together for the first time the entire corpus of evidence pertaining to Bronze Age seafaring and will be of special value to archaeologists maritime historians philologists and Bronze Age textual scholars Offering an abundance of line drawings and photographs and written in a style that makes the material easily accessible to the layperson Wachsmann s study is certain to become a standard reference for anyone interested in the dawn of sea travel

Digital in Underwater Cultural Heritage Guzden Varinlioglu,2016-04-26 One can argue that academia has always existed in an information age however as the general public gains access to ever more advanced systems it can be claimed that areas of academia require updating to maintain vitality in today s world When nautical archaeology produces inspiring reports they are often at the hand of large budgets rather than general day to day dissemination This book proposes using state of the art low budget digital technology from the outset of surveys so that data may be recorded analysed and disseminated with seamless efficiency and great flair while employing progressively less decontextualized means Further it conveys a simple methodology that allows for data collection by teams of volunteer divers Big data rapid analysis and cross reference requirements have created a shift towards the need for advanced digital means particularly relating to underwater archaeology where survey time is limited This book logs several years of studies which respect in situ preservation where the limits of technology were stretched to the cutting edge using novel collection methods to populate custom built numerical and visual databases generating 2D and 3D digital models and further creating a Virtual Reality museum These advances not only propel the function of academia but also promote the image of archaeology in an age where visualisation matters
