Television Research Ronald L. Jacobson, 1995 This directory consists of an alphabetical ordering of television related categories For each category a brief conceptual overview is presented followed by a list of relevant research or lecture topic suggestions and a bibliography of selected print sources mostly books Users should appreciate the directory as a reference tool intended solely as as guide to studying television and not as an end in itself As such the categories herein are not necessarily mutually exclusive nor are the overviews topic suggestions and bibliographies meant to be comprehensive. Instead, this publication is intended to inform broadly to stimulate critical thinking and to serve as a catalyst for further inquiry. An Additional Sources section is included at the end of the directory. General reference books, relevant indexes and databases, scholarly journals, popular magazines, newspapers, and trade publications are listed. Libraries and museums containing special television-related collections are also noted. There always seems to be new print publications and electronic databases that provide access to television-related content. Please consider this directory as but one entry point to television research. Users are encouraged to solicit the expertise of a professional librarian in order to access the most relevant sources available on topics of interest.

The Administration of Television Newsfilm and Videotape Collections Steven Davidson, Gregory Lukow, 1997 The Routledge Companion to Visual Journalism Nicole Dahmen, T.J. Thomson, 2025-09-02

Representing the first collection of its kind, The Routledge Companion to Visual Journalism introduces fundamental topics and ideas, delineates the diversity and complexity of this growing field, and creates a foundation for future scholarship and study. In the contemporary digital media landscape, still and moving images, interactive visualizations, and virtual reality are increasingly important to attract attention, cultivate engagement, inform, and influence opinions, and provide a more emotive and immediate viewing experience for news audiences. This Companion draws together leading voices from academia and industry to survey this dynamic and ubiquitous mode and inspire dialogue. Along with an introduction and conclusion, the volume is structured in five sections and covers people and identities, practices and processes, technologies, equipment, and forms, theories, concepts, and values, and audience interpretation and impact. Beginning by looking at the history of visual news, chapters go on to explore how visual news is created, how journalists visually represent gender, race, sexuality, disability, elites, and ordinary citizens, key ethical ideas and theories behind the creation of visual news, and how visual news is processed, drawing in research from eye tracking, media psychology, and media literacy. The book ends with a critical look at the future of the field. The Routledge Companion to Visual Journalism is a recommended resource for all advanced students and researchers of visual journalism and communication, and will also be of interest to practitioners in these fields.

Perspectives on Radio and Television F. Leslie Smith, David H. Ostroff, John W. Wright, 2023-05-31. This textbook describes the field of radio and television in the United States, presents the material in a manner the reader can grasp and enjoy, and makes the book useful for the classroom teacher. Written for adaptation to individual teaching situations, the book is divided by subject matter into logical chapter divisions that can be assigned in the order appropriate for specific course students. Each chapter stands by itself, but the book is also an integrated whole. It is easy to understand at first reading, by beginning radio/television majors or nonmajor elective students alike. To give readers a complete picture of the field, subjects
