Landmark Essays on Writing Program Administration Kelly Ritter, MELISSA IANETTA, 2024-11-01 Leading with the provocative observation that writing programs administration lacks an established set of texts that provides a baseline of shared knowledge in which to root our ongoing conversations and with which to welcome newcomers Landmark Essays on Writing Program Administration focuses on WPA identity to propose one such grouping of texts This Landmark volume is the cornerstone resource for new Writing Program Administrators and graduate students seeking an ever important overview of the literature on Writing Program Administration Drawing broadly across scholarship in writing programs and writing centers Ritter and Ianetta work to historicize theorize and problematize the ever shifting answers offered to the question Who or what is a WPA Historical Studies of Writing Program Administration Barbara L'Eplattenier, Lisa Mastrangelo, 2004 Historical Studies of Writing Program Administration Individuals Communities and the Formation of a Discipline collects essays that shine new light on the early history of writing program administration Broad in scope the book illuminates the development of the profession in the narratives of the individuals who helped form the discipline prior to the emergence of the Council of Writing Program Administrators in 1976 including those narratives of Gertrude Buck and Laura J Wylie Edwin Hopkins Regina Crandall Rose Colby George Jardine Clara Stevens Stith Thompson and George Wykoff Drawing from deep archival work these narratives offer rare glimpses into writing program administration and the development of composition as a college requirement In addition to eleven chapters from contributors Historical Studies of Writing Program Administration includes a preface by Edward M White a concluding essay by Jeanne Gunner interviews with Erika Lindemann and Kenneth Bruffee and a detailed introduction by the editors Barbara L Eplattenier and Lisa Mastrangelo Introduction to Classical Legal Rhetoric Michael H. Frost, 2017-03-02 Lawyers law students and their teachers all too frequently overlook the most comprehensive adaptable and practical analysis of legal discourse ever devised the classical art of rhetoric Classical analysis of legal reasoning methods and strategy is the foundation and source for most modern theories on the topic Beginning with Aristotle s Rhetoric and culminating with Cicero s De Oratore and Quintilian s Institutio Oratoria Greek and Roman rhetoricians created a clear experience based theoretical framework for analyzing legal discourse This book is the first to systematically examine the connections between classical rhetoric and modern legal discourse It traces the history of legal rhetoric from the classical period to the present day and shows how modern theorists have unknowingly benefited from the classical works It also applies classical rhetorical principles to modern appellate briefs and judicial opinions to demonstrate how a greater familiarity with the classical sources can deepen our understanding of legal reasoning Ars Poetriae William Michael Purcell, 1996 Purcell suggests that the medieval genre holds contemporary significance as a model for rhetorical concerns brought to light by the critiques of post modernism and feminism Purcell examines the six Latin artes poetriae or works intended to instruct students in the composition of prose and poetry He contends that because of their position in the shift from oral to written communication the treatises reveal much about the nature of rhetoric and grammar Rhetorical Education In America Cheryl Jean Glenn, 2009-03-15 A timely collection of essays by prominent scholars in the field on the past present and future of rhetoric instruction From Isocrates and Aristotle to the present rhetorical education has consistently been regarded as the linchpin of a participatory democracy a tool to foster civic action and social responsibility Yet questions of who should receive rhetorical education in what form and for what purpose continue to vex teachers and scholars The essays in this volume converge to explore the purposes problems and possibilities of rhetorical education in America on both the undergraduate and graduate levels and inside and outside the academy William Denman examines the ancient model of the citizen orator and its value to democratic life Thomas Miller argues that English departments have embraced a literary research paradigm and sacrificed the teaching of rhetorical skills for public participation Susan Kates explores how rhetoric is taught at nontraditional institutions such as Berea College in Kentucky where Appalachian dialect is espoused Nan Johnson looks outside the academy at the parlor movement among women in antebellum America Michael Halloran examines the rhetorical education provided by historical landmarks where visitors are encouraged to share a common public discourse Laura Gurak presents the challenges posed to traditional notions of literacy by the computer the promises and dangers of internet technology and the necessity of a critical cyber literacy for future rhetorical curricula Collectively the essays coalesce around timely political and cross disciplinary issues Rhetorical Education in America serves to orient scholars and teachers in rhetoric regardless of their disciplinary home and help to set an agenda for future classroom practice and curriculum design

Cicero and Modern Law Richard O. Brooks, 2017-07-05 Cicero and Modern Law contains the best modern writings on Cicero's major law related works such as the Republic On Law On Oratory along with a comprehensive bibliography of writings on Cicero's legal works These works are organized to reveal the influence of Cicero's writings upon the history of legal thought including St Thomas the Renaissance Montesquieu and the U S Founding Fathers Finally the articles include discussions of Cicero's influence upon central themes in modern legal thought including legal skepticism republicanism mixed government private property natural law conservatism and rhetoric The editor offers an extensive introduction placing these articles in the context of an overall view of Cicero's contribution to modern legal thinking

Authoring A Discipline Maureen Daly Goggin, 2000-05 This volume examines the development of the rhetoric composition disciplines through a historical analysis of the journals that published scholarship in these areas For scholars researchers teachers and students of composition rhetoric

Writing Ourselves Into the Story Sheryl I. Fontaine, Susan Hunter, 1993 Collects 23 essays research studies and personal narratives on topics connected with teaching composition topics and voices rarely found in scholarly journals or at professional conferences Paper edition unseen 16 95 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Rereading Aristotle's Rhetoric Alan G. Gross, Arthur E. Walzer, 2008-02-20 In this collection edited by Alan G Gross and Arthur E Walzer scholars in communication rhetoric and composition and philosophy seek to reread Aristotle's Rhetoric from a purely rhetorical perspective So important do these contributors find the Rhetoric in fact that a core tenet in this book is that all subsequent rhetorical theory is but a series of responses to issues raised by the central work The essays reflect on questions basic to rhetoric as a humanistic discipline Some explore the ways in which the Rhetoric explicates the nature of the art of rhetoric noting that on this issue the tensions within the Rhetoric often provide a direct passageway into our own conflicts

(Re)Writing Craft Tim Mayers, 2005-06-10 Re Writing Craft focuses on the gap that exists in many English departments between creative writers and compositionists on one hand and literary scholars on the other in an effort to radically transform the way English studies are organized and practiced today In proposing a new form of writing he calls craft criticism Mayers himself a compositionist and creative writer explores the connections between creative writing and composition studies programs which currently exist as separate fields within the larger and more amorphous field of English studies If creative writing and composition studies are brought together in productive dialogue they can in his view succeed in inverting the common hierarchy in English departments that privileges interpretation of literature over the teaching of writing

Chinese Rhetoric and Writing Andy Kirkpatrick,Zhichang Xu,2012-03-07 Andy Kirkpatrick and and Zhichang Xu offer a response to the argument that Chinese students academic writing in English is influenced by culturally nuanced rhetorical baggage that is uniquely Chinese and hard to eradicate Noting that this argument draws from an essentially monolingual and Anglo centric view of writing they point out that the rapid growth in the use of English worldwide calls for a radical reassessment of what English is in today s world The result is a book that provides teachers of writing and in particular those involved in the teaching of English academic writing to Chinese students an introduction to key stages in the development of Chinese rhetoric a wide ranging field with a history of several thousand years Understanding this important rhetorical tradition provides a strong foundation for assessing and responding to the writing of this growing group of students

Tools, Not Rules Tommy Thomason,Geoff Ward,2010 If you want to start an argument in a teachers lounge bring up the topic of how best to teach grammar There is a wide spectrum of opinion Traditionalists claim that we must explicitly teach grammar Students drill the basics and diagram sentences Sometimes their study and drills take the place of writing but these teachers claim that good writing demands good grammar At the opposite end of the spectrum are teachers who claim that the best way to learn grammar is to write thereby being forced to use grammar in writing and editing They reason that students will learn grammar in the context of actually using it without all the drills and worksheets They trust the writing process to instill an appreciation for grammar instead of actually teaching it Teachers on the write to learn grammar side claim that students who are only taught grammar rules might pass tests but since they didn t learn in the context of writing they typically don t apply the rules when they write Grammar traditionalists say students in writing classes never learn grammar at all because it is not explicitly taught In Tools Not Rules authors Tommy Thomason and Geoff Ward take the middle ground position that grammar should be taught as part of the writing process Tommy Thomason is a veteran journalist and university journalism professor at TCU Geoff Ward is a well known Australian professor and associate dean from James Cook University in Townsville Both have written several books and work extensively with American teachers Publisher s website <http://www.eloquentbooks.com/ToolsNotRulesTeachingGrammarInTheWritingClassroom.html>

The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric Winifred Bryan Horner,1990 In the years since its publication in 1983 The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric has become a classic in its field proving to be an invaluable resource for students of rhetoric and composition as well as for scholars in English speech and philosophy This revised and updated edition defines the field of rhetoric as no other volume has Publishers website

Greek Rhetoric Before Aristotle Richard Leo Enos,2011-11-29 Recent archaeological discoveries coupled with long lost but now available epigraphical evidence and a more expansive view of literary sources provide new and dramatic evidence of the emergence of rhetoric in ancient Greece Many of these artifacts gathered through onsite fieldwork in Greece are analyzed in this revised and expanded edition of Greek Rhetoric Before Aristotle This new evidence along with recent developments in research methods and analysis reveal clearly that long before Aristotle s Rhetoric long before rhetoric was even stabilized into formal systems of study in Classical Athens nascent pre disciplinary rhetorics were emerging throughout Greece

Local Histories Patricia Donahue,Gretchen Flesher Moon,2007-09-23 In Local Histories the contributors seek to challenge the widely held belief that the origin of American composition as a distinguishable discipline can be traced to a small number of elite colleges such as Harvard Yale and Michigan in the mid to late nineteenth century Through extensive archival research at liberal arts colleges normal schools historically black colleges and junior colleges the contributors ascertain that many of these practices were actually in use prior to this time and were not the sole province of elite universities Though not discounting the elites influence the findings conclude that composition developed in many locales concurrently Individual chapters reflect on student responses to curricula the influence of particular instructors or pedagogies in the context of compositional history and the difficulties inherent in archival research What emerges is an original and significant study of the developmental diversity within the discipline of composition that opens the door to further examination of local histories as guideposts to the origins of composition studies

Emulation on the Shakespearean Stage Vernon Guy Dickson,2017-03-02 The English Renaissance has long been considered a period with a particular focus on imitation however much related scholarship has misunderstood or simply marginalized the significance of emulative practices and theories in the period This work uses the interactions of a range of English Renaissance plays with ancient and Renaissance rhetorics to analyze the conflicted uses of emulation in the period including the theory and praxis of rhetorical imitatio humanist notions of exemplarity and the stage s purported ability to move spectators to emulate depicted characters This book emphasizes the need to see emulation not as a solely or even primarily literary practice but rather as a significant aspect of Renaissance culture giving insight into notions of self society and the epistemologies of the period and informed by the period s own sense of theory and history Among the individual texts examined here are Shakespeare s Titus Andronicus and Hamlet Jonson s Catiline and Massinger s The Roman Actor with its strong relation to Jonson s Sejanus

Teaching through the Archives Tarez Samra Graban,Wendy Hayden,2022-06-09 Disruptive pedagogies for archival research In a cultural moment when institutional repositories carry valuable secrets to the present and past this collection argues for the critical intellectual and social value of archival instruction Graban and Hayden and 37 other contributors examine how undergraduate and graduate courses in rhetoric history community literacy and professional writing can successfully engage students in archival research in its many forms and successfully model mutually beneficial relationships between archivists instructors and community organizations Combining new and established voices from related fields each of the book s three sections includes a range of form disrupting pedagogies Section I focuses on how approaching the archive primarily as text fosters habits of mind essential for creating and using archives for critiquing or inventing knowledge making practices and for being good stewards of private and public collections Section II argues for conducting archival projects as collaboration through experiential learning and for developing a preservationist consciousness through disciplined research Section III details praxis for revealing critiquing and intervening in historic racial omissions and gaps in the archives in which we all work Ultimately contributors explore archives as sites of activism while also raising important questions that persist in rhetoric and composition scholarship such as how to decolonize research methodologies how to conduct teaching and research that promote social justice and how to shift archival consciousness toward more engaged notions of democracy This collection highlights innovative classroom and curricular course models for teaching with and through the archives in rhetoric and composition and beyond
