Disputing the Deluge Darko Suvin, 2021-12-02 Featured on the 2021 Locus Recommended Reading List For over 50 years Darko Suvin has set the agenda for science fiction studies through his innovative linking of scifi to utopian studies formalist and leftist critical theory and his broader engagement with what he terms political epistemology Disputing the Deluge joins a rapidly growing renewal of critical interest in Suvin's work on scifi and utopianism by bringing together in a single volume 24 of Suvin's most significant interventions in the field from the 21st century with an Introduction by editor Hugh O'Connell and a new preface by the author Beginning with writings from the early 2000s that investigate the function of literary genres and reconsider the relationship between science fiction and fantasy the essays collected here each a brilliant example of engaged thought highlight the value of scifi for grappling with the key events and transformations of recent years Suvin's interrogations show how speculative fiction has responded to 9/11 the global war on terror the 2008 economic collapse and the rise of conservative populism along with contemporary critical utopian analyses of the Capitalocene the climate crisis COVID-19 and the decline of democracy By bringing together Suvin's essays all in one place this collection allows new generations of students and scholars to engage directly with his work and its continuing importance and timeliness Extrapolation, 1991 International Books in Print, 1995 Barbara Hopkinson, [Anonymus AC01401231], 1995 Anthology of Magazine Verse and Yearbook of American Poetry, 1986-1988 Alan F. Pater, 1988 Journal of Canadian Poetry, 1989 Canadiana, 1989 Canadian Literature Index, 1988 The American Humanities Index Stephen H. Goode, 1990 Poetry Harriet Monroe, 1987 Canadian Book Review Annual, 1987 The Miskitos in Nicaragua, 1981-1984, 1984 Water in a Changing World World Water Assessment Programme (United Nations), 2009 The United Nations World Water Development Report published every three years is a comprehensive review providing an authoritative picture of the state of the world's freshwater resources It offers best practices as well as in depth theoretical analyses to help stimulate ideas and actions for better stewardship in the water sector It is the only report of its kind resulting from the collaboration and contributions of the 26 UN agencies commissions program funds secretariats and conventions that have a significant role in addressing global water concerns The news media are full of talk of crises in climate change energy and food and troubled financial markets These crises are linked to each other and to water resources management Unresolved they may lead to increasing political insecurity and conflict Water is required to meet our fundamental needs and rising living standards and to sustain our planet's fragile ecosystems Pressures on the resource come from a growing and mobile population social and cultural change economic development and technological change Adding complexity and risk is climate change with impacts on the resource as well as on the sources of pressure on water The challenges though substantial are not insurmountable The Report shows how some countries have responded Progress in providing drinking water is heartening with the Millennium Development Goal target on track in most regions But other areas remain unaddressed and after decades of inaction the problems in water systems are enormous and will worsen if left unattended Leaders in the water sector can inform decisions outside their domain and manage water resources to achieve agreed socioeconomic objectives and environmental integrity Leaders in government the private sector and civil society determine these objectives and allocate human and financial resources to meet them Recognizing this responsibility they must act now Two volume set 336 96 pages case studies Includes CD ROM Published jointly with UNESCO Publishing

The State against Society Grzegorz Ekiert,1996-09-30 Classical images of state socialism developed in contemporary social sciences were founded on simple presuppositions State socialist regimes were considered to be politically stable due to their pervasive institutional and ideological control over the everyday lives of their citizens impervious to reform and change and representative of extreme political and economic dependency Despite their contrasting historical experiences they have been treated as basically identical in their institutional design social and economic structures and policies Grzegorz Ekiert challenges this notion in a comparative analysis of the major political crises in post 1945 East Central Europe Hungary 1956 63 Czechoslovakia 1968 76 and Poland 1980 89 The author maintains that the nature and consequences of these crises can better explain the distinctive experiences of East Central European countries under communist rule than can the formal characteristics of their political and economic systems or their politically dependent status He explores how political crises reshaped party state institutions redefined relations between party and state institutions altered the relationship between the state and various groups and organizations within society and modified the political practices of these regimes He shows how these events transformed cultural categories produced collective memories and imposed long lasting constraints on mass political behavior and the policy choices of ruling elites These crises shaped the political evolution of the region produced important cross national differences among state socialist regimes and contributed to the distinctive patterns of their collapse Resources in Education ,1997-10 Global View on the World Economy Horst Siebert,2007-06-11 This book utilizes up to date empirical evidence to illuminate the mechanics of the world as a single entity The author explores the properties of the world economy the diverse mechanisms of interdependence shocks and disturbances economic processes and structures and the institutional arrangements that guide these processes Earth System Monitor ,2009

France International Monetary Fund. Monetary and Capital Markets Department,2013-07-01 This technical note examines housing prices and financial stability in France The note highlights that sharply rising housing prices have caused concerns about mortgage credit risk and the stability of the financial system particularly if the macroeconomic environment were to deteriorate further France s housing market proved resilient during the crisis declining by about 9 percent from its precrisis peak before rebounding since mid 2009 to surpass its precrisis peak This resilience has reflected a confluence of fundamental macroeconomic financial and asset allocation factors that have caused the demand for housing to remain well in excess of supply
