Long Walks In The Afternoon Poems:

Long Walks in the Afternoon Margaret Gibson, 1982-11-01 With a quiet eloquence the poems in Long Walks in the Afternoon follow the deep imagination's long tap into the dark inward toward the still and radiant center of the self But Margaret Gibson's poetry is not self-serving or isolationist She writes out of the firm conviction that our personal griefs held energies that can move is to reach beyond ourselves and join with others in common struggle Beginning with poems that struggle against illusion egotism and emptiness the collection progresses to poems that challenge violence social violence against women political violence in east Asia and Chile and in Radiation the violence that still reverberates from the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki We made the scars and the radiant air We made people invisible as numbers We did this In a final section the desire to know and claim the self is transformed in a sequence of elegies into the passion to lose myself in work and in love and in the world to be no one The meditative mood of Gibson's poems becomes a movement against isolation a wrestle with our roots and common bonds and a way of challenging the self to be more openly aligned with creative forces and to speak out against dishonesty injustice chaos and war Long Walks in the Afternoon Margaret

I know myself most of all in question Waiting for a grasp of permanent unity and clarity the poet turns the act of waiting into a discipline that enables the obstructions encountered desire fear ambition death disharmony to become teachers Meeting others we meet ourselves one poem says and whether the other is a love or someone dying a former Nazi pilot or a blind woman in Zagorsk there is self meeting and sometimes a deep recognition of something beyond and yet within self At the core of what I am in that sacred space light does its work as it will without my consent or blessing and better so Echoes of Taoist Buddhist and Christian thinking haunt the mind in these poems although the vision arrived at in the last poems is syncretic an existential clarity in which struggle of wills is momentarily stilled The wind breathes light into our bones turning stars into power we can touch impluse we can follow of tell teaching love for that is what we are Earth Elegy: New and Selected Poems Margaret Gibson,1997 Vital Signs Ronald Wallace,1989 This anthology includes 179 poets published by university presses in recent years It seeks to provide a rich overview of the best contemporary American poetry irrespective of publisher age of poet aesthetic program or current status in the literary canon to celebrate the work of university presses in discovering and supporting that poetry and to suggest some questions about American poetry its democratization canonization aesthetics politics and sociology The volume includes brief histories of poetry publishing at each press their poetry lists and an essay on the American poetry scene of the last 20 years It features poems by such established poets as John Ashbery Marge Piercy Adrienne Rich and James Wright ISBN 0 299 12160 7 29 95 Selected Poems Edmund Blunden,2018-12-27 To mark the centenary of the First World War a Selected Poems of Edmund Blunden brings back into print the work of a major war poet and author of the classic memoir Undertones of War Edmund Blunden joined the Royal Sussex Regiment in 1915 and served in France and Flanders This selection of his poems includes a substantial sampler of his war verse the last poem he wrote was on revisiting the battlefields of the Somme And yet it is not easy to draw a line between the poems on war and those on other subjects so deeply did his wartime experience suffuse and haunt his writing Memories of what was shrieking dumb defiled constantly test a vision of faith life virtue in the sun Here is a poet of range and depth deserving of rediscovery Katharine Conway Margaret E.
