equally important is the optimization principle such as getting somewhere in the shortest time or with the least resistance The book explains why an optimization principle underlies physics what action is what the Hamiltonian is and how new insights into energy space and time arise It assumes some background in the physical sciences at the level of undergraduate science but it is not a textbook The requisite derivations and worked examples are given but may be skim read if desired The author draws from Cornelius Lanczos s book The Variational Principles of Mechanics 1949 and 1970 Lanczos was a brilliant mathematician and educator but his book was for a postgraduate audience The present book is no mere copy with the difficult bits left out it is original and a popularization It aims to explain ideas rather than achieve technical competence and to show how Least Action leads into the whole of physics Inspiring Motivation in Children and Youth David A.

The Mobility Forum, 2000 The Truth Is H. W. L. This is a concrete practical book about spiritual accompaniment. While there may be no shortage of books on this matter, most of these books remain somewhat abstract in the way they highlight the beauty of this ministry and point out its pitfalls. This book instead resembles a toolbox with a user's manual. In six chapters, the author presents the following tools: there is no rush listening by following, searching for the soul, going deeper, evaluating, and accompanying towards spiritual maturity. By means of examples and case studies, he demonstrates how these tools may be used to good effect. Two introductory chapters discuss the choice for a practice-oriented book and the core values of an Ignatian approach to spiritual accompaniment. A final chapter specifically focuses on vocational discernment. New spiritual directors can learn from this book the tricks of the trade, and experienced directors can be encouraged to reflect upon their own practice. Although it is written from a Roman Catholic Jesuit background, this book may be used in a wider variety of Christian contexts.

Mysticism, Madness, Myth and

Mania Robert Laynton, 2015-02-14. What happens when a person has a clear, vivid, ecstatic, transcendent religious or spiritual experience where they sense that they are being caught up to God or Spirit? Do they really encounter an unseen, intangible spiritual realm that is Ultimate Reality and the Ground of existence? Why do some people who are diagnosed as mentally ill claim to have such experiences? If a person persists in these kinds of beliefs, are they deluded or even mad? Are they actually suffering from religious mania? Are atheists correct in dismissing these experiences as merely psychological? Or is it the atheists who are blind and deaf when it comes to Ultimate Reality? Drawing from personal experience and from over forty years of practical and theoretical engagement with spirituality and religion, as well as from approaches within psychology, author Robert Laynton explores these questions not as a defense of religion or spirituality but as an exploration of experience on the edge of reason.

Depicting Canada's Children Loren Lerner, 2009-05-20. Depicting Canada's Children is a critical analysis of the visual representation of Canadian children from the seventeenth century to the present. Recognizing the importance of methodological diversity, these essays discuss understandings of children and childhood derived from depictions across a wide range of media and contexts. But rather than simply examine images in formal settings, the authors take into account the components of the images and the role of image making in everyday life. The contributors provide a close study of the evolution of the figure of the child and shed light on the defining role children have played in the history of Canada and our assumptions about them. Rather than offer comprehensive historical coverage, this collection is a catalyst for further study through case studies that endorse innovative scholarship. This book will be of interest to scholars in art history, Canadian history, visual culture, Canadian studies, and the history of children.
