Status of the Common Loon in the Northcentral United States Helen M. Hands, Ronald D. Drobney, Mark R. Ryan, 1989

Victimhood in American Narratives of the War in Vietnam Aleksandra Musiał, 2020-03-02 This book revisits the American canon of novels memoirs and films about the war in Vietnam in order to reassess critically the centrality of the discourse of American victimization in the country's imagination of the conflict and to trace the strategies of representation that establish American soldiers and veterans as the most significant victims of the war By investigating in detail the imagery of the Vietnamese landscape recreated by American authors and directors the volume explores the proposition that Vietnam has been turned into an American myth demonstrating that the process resulted in a dehistoricization and mystification of the conflict that obscured its historical and political realities Against this background representations of the war's victims Vietnamese civilians and American soldiers are then considered in light of their ideological meanings and uses Ultimately the book seeks to demonstrate how in a relation of power the question of victimhood can become ideologized transforming into both a discourse and a strategy of representation and in doing so to demythologize something of the Vietnam of American cultural narrative

Ecstasy, Ritual, and Alternate Reality Felicitas D. Goodman, 1988-12-22 A cross disciplinary exploration of comparative religion that offers a unified field theory of religion as human behavior In this book anthropologist and spiritual explorer Felicitas Goodman examines ritual the religious trance alternate reality ethics and moral code and the named category designating religion The analysis is divided into two sections The first reviews species wide human traits that form the basis for religious behavior Goodman in speculative examination traces the origins of religion to the dawn of human history when religious ritual was accompanied by gesture rather than full fledged modern speech Ritual is seen as being the expression of the vastness of the drama of human life death birth and procreation The common neurophysiological basis for religious experience is seen to be a particular type of brain tuning the religious altered state of consciousness a trance facilitating contact with an alternate reality The content of this other reality is shown to vary according to the type of adaptation to the habitat The second section describes the religious systems of the world dividing them according to societal type A systematic comparison shows that religions vary according to whether people are hunter gatherers horticulturalists agriculturalists nomadic pastoralists or city dwellers An important book which deserves the careful attention of serious students of religion Religious Studies Review Very few such global interpretations are ever attempted and this one succeeds The book s importance is in the interpretation as well as in the rich data base materials the book presents Willard Johnson
