Discovering the Religious Dimension of Trauma Caralie Cooke, 2022-09-19 This book reads the Joseph novella alongside contemporary trauma novels in order to analyze the loss of the assumptive world of the writer and readers of the Joseph novella In turn it re thinks trauma theory in light of the religious understood as the belief in and relationship to a God who orders the universe Thus this book argues that when we read the Joseph novella alongside contemporary trauma novels we see a story written by people trying to reconstruct their assumptive world after the shattering of their old one highlighting the significance of the religious dimension in trauma theory

Family in Six Tones Lan Cao, Harlan Margaret Van Cao, 2021-09-14 A dual first person memoir by the acclaimed Vietnamese American novelist and her thoroughly American teenage daughter In 1975 thirteen year old Lan Cao boarded an airplane in Saigon and got off in a world where she faced hosts she had not met before a language she didn t speak and food she didn t recognize with the faint hope that she would be able to go home soon Lan fought her way through confusion and racism to become a successful lawyer and novelist Four decades later she faced the biggest challenge in her life raising her daughter Harlan half Vietnamese by birth and 100 percent American teenager by inclination In their lyrical joint memoir told in alternating voices mother and daughter cross ages and ethnicities to tackle the hardest questions about assimilation aspiration and family Lan wrestles with her identities as not merely an immigrant but a refugee from an unpopular war She has bigoted teachers who undermine her in the classroom and tormenting inner demons but she does achieve either despite or because of the work ethic and tight support of a traditional Vietnamese family struggling to get by in a small American town Lan has ambitions for herself and for her daughter but even as an adult feels tentative about her place in her adoptive country and ventures through motherhood as if it is a foreign landscape Reflecting and refracting her mother's narrative Harlan fiercely describes the rites of passage of childhood and adolescence filtered through the aftereffects of her family's history of war tragedy and migration Harlan's struggle to make friends in high school challenges her mother to step back and let her daughter find her own way Family in Six Tones speaks both to the unique struggles of refugees and to the universal tug of war between mothers and daughters The journey of an immigrant away from war and loss toward peace and a new life and the journey of a mother raising a child to be secure and happy are both steep paths filled with detours and stumbling blocks Through explosive fights and painful setbacks mother and daughter search for a way to accept the past and face the future together Glenburn; or, In country and town, by F.W.I. F.
