THE MALADY OF THE AGE On a fine evening in the month of September 1836 a man about thirty years of age was leaning on the parapet of that quay from which a spectator can look up the Seine from the Jardin des Plantes to Notre Dame and down along the vast perspective of the river to the Louvre There is not another point of view to compare with it in the capital of ideas We feel ourselves on the quarter deck as it were of a gigantic vessel We dream of Paris from the days of the Romans to those of the Franks from the Normans to the Burgundians the Middle Ages the Valois Henri IV Louis XIV Napoleon and Louis Philippe Vestiges are before us of all those sovereignties in monuments that recall their memory The cupola of Sainte Genevieve towers above the Latin quarter Behind us rises the noble apsis of the cathedral The Hotel de Ville tells of revolutions the Hotel Dieu of the miseries of Paris After gazing at the splendors of the Louvre we can by taking two steps look down upon the rags and tatters of that ignoble nest of houses huddling between the quai de la Tournelle and the Hotel Dieu a foul spot which a modern municipality is endeavoring at the present moment to remove In 1836 this marvellous scene presented still another lesson to the eye between the Parisian leaning on the parapet and the cathedral lay the Terrain such was the ancient name of this barren spot still strewn with the ruins of the Archbishopal Palace When we contemplate from that quay so many commemorating scenes when the soul has grasped the past as it does the present of this city of Paris then indeed Religion seems to have alighted there as if to spread her hands above the sorrows of both banks and extend her arms from the faubourg Saint Antoine to the faubourg Saint Marceau Let us hope that this sublime unity may be completed by the erection of an episcopal palace of the Gothic order which shall replace the formless buildings now standing between the Terrain the rue d'Arcole the cathedral and the quai de la Cité      Library of the World's Best Literature, Ancient and Modern, 2012-02-07 This is a reproduction of a book published before 1923 This book may have occasional imperfections such as missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc that were either part of the original artifact or were introduced by the scanning process We believe this work is culturally important and despite the imperfections have elected to bring it back
