Psychology Of Emotion Morbid And Normal:

The Psychology of Emotion John T MacCurdy, 2013-08-21 This is Volume XII of nineteen in a collection of Abnormal and Clinical Psychology Originally published in 1925 this research stemmed from many discussions about the applicability of psychoanalytic principles to manic depressive insanity whether the symptoms could be traced to unconscious mental processes in the same way as Jung had demonstrated it to be possible in dementia praecox and ended up with the general objective moving from that of psychopathological to one of psychological conclusions The Psychology of Emotion John Thompson MacCurdy, 1999

The psychology of emotion John Thompson MacCurdy, 1999 Common Principles in Psychology & Physiology John Thompson MacCurdy, 1928 Common Principles in Psychology and Physiology John T. MacCurdy, 2013-12-05 Originally published in 1928 this book argues that the divide between psychology and physiology is largely artificial and that each discipline can contribute to further understanding of the other This book will be of value to anyone with an interest in the overlap of psychology and the more physical sciences The Person and Primary

Emotions Peter A. Bertocci, 2012-12-06 I shall propose that the unlearned motives of persons are primary emotions I am not surprised that many informed readers will wonder where I have been for the last five decades when even the conception of unlearned motives instincts drives urges has been shown to be little more than the result of undisciplined investigation And here I am proposing that in the nature and dynamics of some emotions that persons experience we can gain more adequate understanding of human motives at the unlearned level During the last five decades I have spent most of my time teaching the history of philosophy metaphysics philosophy of religion ethics and theory of value the psychology of personality and the philosophy of personality Increasingly I have paid special attention to the ways in which claims about the nature of man influence the theory of motives emotions and feelings What kept impressing me is the way in which the interpretation of the findings about motives feelings and emotion reflect unargued conceptions of human nature or that the views of fundamental motives feelings and emotions unduly dominate the underlying conception of the person In focusing attention first on the essential nature of a person I shall be discussing issues that are actually basic to our more analytical interpretation of the nature and dynamics of the primary motives or primary emotions ... Feelings and Emotions Martin Luther Reymert, 1928

The Journal of Neurology and Psychopathology, 1925 The Mystery of Emotions R D Hinshelwood, 2023-03-16 Psychoanalysis is above all the science of the emotions but as yet there is no single accepted theory of affects Instead there are many all of them too limited based as they are on idiosyncratic introspection R D Hinshelwood presents an extensive scoping of the prominent theories from the philosophy of mind and academic psychology alongside a review of psychoanalytic ideas based on instinct theory or object relations This wide review of divergent theories from various disciplines helps to mitigate variation and identify commonalities From this scoping exercise Hinshelwood creates a form of qualitative meta analysis which enables the most common dimensions to come to the fore namely 113 features of affects form a more general theory with four dimensions This more systematic view offers an affective space as a model for thinking about the nature of affects their origins and their consequences At the same time Hinshelwood retains the personal He starts with the memory which initiated his quest to understand how much we are rooted in the experience of our feelings and includes a chapter documenting his own idiosyncrasies to bring his own bias to the fore In this way the book preserves the especially personal and intimate quality of its universal topic Psychological Bulletin ,1925 Vol 49 no 4 pt 2 July 1952 is the association s Publication manual
