Recognizing Spiritual Needs In People Who Are Dying:

Recognizing Spiritual Needs in People who are Dying Rachel Stanworth, 2004 This book is based on the author's time spent with twenty five patients at St Christopher's Hospice in South London. It aims to help to understand and recognise spiritual issues even when religious language is not used. The author refers to this as a language of spirit. Recognizing Spiritual Needs in People who are Dying Rachel Stanworth, 2004. Listening carefully to patients at the end of life is at the heart of good palliative care and this book provides a means of recognizing and talking about spiritual needs even when religious language is not used. The author refers to this as a language of spirit. The book is based on interviews with patients who are dying and the language that they use to describe their experiences. It deals with death, dying, the experiences of patients and the relief of spiritual pain by looking closely at patient stories, drawings and behaviour. The book explains why it is often easier to recognize than to explain spiritual issues. Part One explores the psychological, spiritual and theological interpretations of human experience. A detailed account is given of how the patients' own stories were collected. Drawing on a broad literature which is grounded in patients' words and deeds. Part Two introduces a non-religious language of spirit. Illuminated by patient art. Part Three shows what patients use this language to say about their situation and how it is mediated through various metaphors. Part Four suggests ways of responding positively to patients' spiritual needs. Aimed primarily at palliative care specialists and specialist nurses, this book will also appeal to health care chaplains, pastoral support workers, theologians, social researchers and psychotherapists. The numerous illustrations given by patients' comments as they tell their story make this book a truly fascinating journey through an important area of end of life care. Dame Cicely Saunders OM DBE FRCP Founder President St Christopher's Hospice London. The emphasis on allowing patients to speak for themselves is striking; the author has presented the topic in a sensitive and refreshing way. I think this book will be well received and it will be an important contribution to the literature of palliative care. Dr Odette Spruyt, Head of Pain and Palliative Care Department, Peter MacCallum Cancer Institute, East Melbourne, Australia. Spiritual Needs in Research and Practice Arndt Büsing, 2021-05-28. Based on information gathered from the internationally used Spiritual Needs Questionnaire, this book offers analyses of the spiritual and existential needs among different groups of people such as the chronically ill, elderly, adolescents, mothers of sick children, refugees, patients, relatives and others. The theoretical background, specific empirical findings and the relevance of addressing spiritual needs is discussed by experts from different professions and cultural contexts. Supporting a person's spiritual needs remains an important task of future healthcare systems that wish to more comprehensively care for the healthcare needs of patients and of religious communities to ensure that spiritual concerns of all persons, independent of their religious orientations, are met in and outside healthcare settings. Spirituality and Coping with Loss Wendy Greenstreet, 2017-04-28. Spirituality and Coping with Loss: End of Life Healthcare Practice describes a research study that reflects nurses' experience of the nature of loss encountered in end of life care settings as Integrating Spirituality in Health and Social Care Wendy Greenstreet,2006 This practical guide considers spiritual care as an explicit component of health and social care and takes into account not only religious cultural and spiritual views but also the value of music art and other creative therapies Charismatic Pastoral Care of the Terminally Ill and Chronically Disabled Jomon K. John,2016-09-02 Healing of the sick is a prominent theme in the biblical narratives However when it comes to caring for the chronically and terminally sick there are no clear directives in the New Testament describing how the church may minister to them There are significant differences in the way many churches approach this matter Even among the charismatic churches that believe that the gifts of the Holy Spirit including miraculous healing are available to present day believers there are differences in the way the sick are cared for This book investigates the pastoral challenges with regard to chronic infirmities and terminal illnesses in a charismatic church context This is undertaken with the understanding that many who are chronically and terminally ill in this context present poor medical prognosis and have remained unhealed in spite of prayers Clear foundational values are drawn for defining the pastoral challenges and objectives Three true cases present in public domain are presented and analyzed to identify the challenges The pastoral care objectives are defined and strategies are drawn to meet these The findings and conclusions would be relevant to the pastors the sick and those who care for them and indeed the whole church The author is personally involved in the care of the sick as a practicing surgeon as well as a pastor Being a pastor in a charismatic church that believes in praying for miraculous healing of the sick and practicing modern medicine the author is faced with the challenges of pastoral care for those with poor medical prognosis who remain unhealed in spite of believing in prayers they are very close to his heart The author provides the foundational principles and goals in the pastoral care of such situations and outlines the strategies for doing so without compromising the conviction that Jesus Christ still heals the sick for terminally ill patients and their families is challenging. Patients with life limiting illness require the skills of many professionals but also the support of their community. While most clinicians are comfortable in assessing a broad range of physical problems it is often the psychosocial issues that prove the most complex. These issues range from psychosocial assessment to the treatment and care of patients with life limiting illnesses. Evaluating emotional, social and spiritual needs in particular requires excellent teamwork. This fully updated and expanded new edition takes a comprehensive look at current practice and provision of psychosocial support as applied to a range of palliative care patients. A number of important areas are covered including community approaches of psychosocial care, neonatal palliative care, the provision of psychosocial care to families, the role of volunteers in supporting palliative care professionals and the needs of the frail elderly, marginalised patients and those with dementia. Including multiple case study examples, this highly practical text examines current literature and evidence to demonstrate the best research based practice in psychosocial care. It is an essential resource for professionals working within hospitals and communities in the fields of medicine, nursing, social work, chaplaincy, counselling, primary care and mental health.

Aging, Spirituality and Palliative Care Rev Elizabeth Mackinley, 2006-10-24. Gain greater depth of understanding of end of life spiritual issues for older adults. When Professionals Weep Renee S. Katz, Therese A. Johnson, 2016-01-22. When Professionals Weep speaks to the humbling and often transformational moments that clinicians experience in their careers as caregivers and healers. Moments when it is often hard to separate the influence of our own emotional responses and worldviews from the patient's or family's. When Professionals Weep addresses these poignant moments when the professional's personal experiences with trauma, illness, death and loss can subtly, often stealthily, surface and affect the helping process. This edition, like the first, both validates clinicians' experiences and also helps them process and productively address compassion fatigue, burnout and secondary traumatic stress. New material in the second edition includes increased emphasis on the burgeoning fields of hospice and palliative care, organizational countertransference, mindfulness and compassionate practice. It includes thought provoking cases, self assessments and exercises that can be used on an individual, dyadic or group basis. This volume is an invaluable handbook for practitioners in the fields of medicine, mental health, social work, nursing, chaplaincy, the allied health sciences, psychology and psychiatry.
