Recollections Of Gran Apacheria:

Recollections of Gran Apacheria MR Pete Hamill, Edward Dorn, 1975 Recollections of Gran Apachería Edward Dorn, 1974 Ed Dorn Live Edward Dorn, 2007 Collects the commentary of the later years and last days of one of America's most powerful and unique poets The Modern Percussion Revolution Kevin Lewis, Gustavo Aguilar, 2014-07-17 More than eighty years have passed since Edgard Varèse's catalytic work for percussion ensemble Ionisation was heard in its New York premiere. A flurry of pieces for this new medium dawned soon after challenging the established truths and preferences of the European musical tradition while setting the stage for percussion to become one of the most significant musical advances of the twentieth century. This revolution, as John Cage termed it, was a quintessentially modernist movement: an exploration of previously undiscovered sounds, forms, textures, and styles. However, as percussion music has progressed and become woven into the fabric of Western musical culture, several divergent paths comprised of various traditions and a multiplicity of aesthetic sensibilities have since emerged for the percussionist to pursue. This edited collection highlights the progressive developments that continue to investigate uncharted musical grounds. Using historical studies, philosophical insights, analyses of performance practice, and anecdotal reflections authored by some of today's most engaged performers, composers, and scholars, this book aims to illuminate the unique destinations found in the artistic journey of the modern percussionist.

Golston, 2023-11-19 How the tropes of science fiction infuse and inform avant-garde poetics and many other kindred arts. This insightful, playful monograph from Golston does exactly what it advertises: modeling poetics based on how poetry and some parallel artistic endeavors have filtered through a century-plus of science fiction. This is not a book about science fiction in and of itself, but it is a book about the resonances of science-fiction tropes and ideas in poetic language. The germ of Golston's project is a throwaway line in Robert Smithson's Entropy and the New Monuments about how cinema supplanted nature as inspiration for many of his fellow artists. The movies give a ritual pattern to the lives of many artists and this induces a kind of low budget mysticism which keeps them in a perpetual trance. Golston charts how the demotic appeal of sci fi much like that of the B movie cross pollinated into poetry and other branches of the avant garde. Golston creates what he calls a regular Rube Goldberg machine of a critical apparatus drawing on Walter Benjamin, Roman Jakobson and Gilles Deleuze. He starts by acknowledging that per the important work of Darko Suvin to situate science fiction critically the genre is premised on cognitive estrangement. But he is not interested in the specific nuts and bolts of science fiction as it exists but rather how science fiction has created a model not only for other poets but also for musicians and landscape artists. Golston's critical lens moves around quite a bit but he begins with familiar enough subjects: Edgar Rice Burroughs, Mina Loy, William S. Burroughs. From there he moves into more alien terrain: Ed Dorn's long poem Gunslinger, the discombobulated work of Clark Coolidge, Sun Ra, Ornette Coleman and Jimi Hendrix all come under consideration. The result of Golston's restless rich scholarship is the first substantial monograph on science fiction and avant garde poetics using Russian Formalism, Frankfurt School dialectics and Deleuzian theory to show how the avant garde inherently follows the parameters of sci fi in both theme and form.

St. Andrews Review, 1974 New Wests and Post-Wests Paul S. Varner, 2013-10-03

The writers of these chapters are often working with changing assumptions about literary and media interpretations of an American West. Here we see critical approaches to a West that never was, a West of myth so enduring that the myth dominates nearly all artistic representation about this place that never was. In this collection we see critical approaches to a New West, a West that is a state of mind, not a geographical place but a mythic space with no boundaries and no political inevitabilities. These New Western studies accept the idea of a West that includes Canada, Mexico, Alaska and in the case of the US every geographic and historical point west of the historic founding settlements. The West we study today is a post West, an idea of the West past the traditional views of an old West dominated by white US nationalism and gendered as uncompromisingly masculine. The idea itself of a single West no longer holds validity. We now understand that all renderings of the West are renderings of multiple Wests: Wests constructed by American nationalists, Wests constructed by EuroAmerican writers and filmmakers, Wests constructed by native peoples or Wests constructed outside the geographical boundaries of the US. This collection presents an eclectic array of new scholarship ranging freely over the New Wests and Post Wests, dealing with issues such as the literature of a 1950s California West, eco crime genre fiction, the West of Edward Dorn and the Beat Movement, images of prostitution in California, Gold Rush literature, European perspectives on film representations of the first peoples, the six shooter and the American West, German Westerns and Italian Westerns. The Authentic Death of Hendry Jones by Charles Neider and films such as The Treasure of Sierra Madre, Into the Wild, There Will Be Blood and The Last Picture Show. A unique aspect of this collection is the range of writers interpreting the American West in film and literature besides those writing from within the United States five of the writers provide international perspectives from the United Kingdom and the Universities of Tunis Vienna and Rome Each chapter includes a review of scholarship on its subject and an extended bibliography for further research Edward Dorn, Charles Olson, and the American West Paul Varner, 2020-03-12 This book examines the poetics of the 20th century American West depicted by Edward Dorn through the influence and inspiration of his Black Mountain College mentor and fellow poet Charles Olson It considers some of the most important and challenging poetic representations of the 20th century American West to come out of the Beat Movement and avant garde literary scene
