Dinh,2013-07-18 This book argues that light manufacturing is appropriate for a resource based country like Zambia While Zambia s recent growth has been impressive it has not been accompanied with adequate job creation Long term job creation in copper production is very small links to the rest of the economy tend to be weak as well Besides the development of natural resources tends to discourage job creating sectors such as manufacturing To be sustainable and to create productive employment for its people growth needs to be accompanied by structural transformation Such transformation entails a growing share of manufacturing output in the economy In the past Zambia s efforts to promote and facilitate industrial growth have not been very successful Policy regimes swung from one extreme to another In the 1980s Zambia put complete control of the industrial sector in the hands of the state When this model proved unsuccessful policy shifted in the opposite direction in the 1990s and all earlier government interventions were lifted Neither extreme led to sustained growth of manufacturing This book suggests an alternative directing government policies toward removing constraints in a few of the most promising light manufacturing sectors using practical and innovative solutions inspired by the fast growing Asian economies whose starting point 20 years ago was not very different from Zambia s today This book has several innovative features First it provides in depth cost comparisons between Zambia and four other countries in Asia and Africa at sector and product levels Second the book uses a wide array of quantitative and qualitative techniques to identify key constraints to enterprises and to evaluate differences in the performance of firms across countries Third it uses a focused approach to identify country and industry specific constraints It proposes market based measures and selected government intervention to ease these constraints Fourth it highlights the interconnectedness of constraints and solutions For example solving the manufacturing input problem requires actions in agriculture education and infrastructure The book shows that Zambia has the potential to become regionally competitive in several light manufacturing subsectors by leveraging its comparative advantage in natural resource industries such as agriculture livestock and forestry Interventions include both the provision of public goods and the removal of existing policy distortions in the economy Growing production of light manufacturing goods would allow Zambia to capture more value from its raw materials and create more jobs Outdoor Lighting for Pedestrians Frank Markowitz,2021-12-30 Outdoor Lighting for Pedestrians shows how outdoor lighting is important for pedestrians safety personal security and comfort with major impacts on street path and park aesthetics and neighborhood sense of place Providing clear basic technical background accessible to non engineers the book focuses especially on planning and policy concerns It covers the fundamentals of lighting technology benefits costs and possible adverse impacts of lighting enhancements traditional and innovative approaches planning and policy documents and practices aesthetics and placemaking and technology trends in lighting design This book is aimed primarily at practicing transportation planners and engineers generalist urban planners safety advocates and researchers and university students However lighting designers and other professionals will also find it useful It considers how lighting can be coordinated with other potential improvements to enhance the pedestrian environment for better walkability Light Manufacturing in Africa Hinh T. Dinh,Vincent Palmade,Vandana Chandra,Frances Cossar,2012-02-23 This book argues that light manufacturing can offer a viable solution for Sub Saharan Africa given potential competitiveness based on low wage costs and an abundance of natural resources that supply raw materials needed for industries Automotive Industries ,1917
