Asian Development Experience Vol. 2 Yasutani Shimomura, 2004-01-19 This volume investigates the missing link the complicated realities of the relations between governance and development through case studies of ASEAN countries Its main objective is to explore a theoretical framework to overcoming the limitations of mainstream approaches by employing case studies on decentralization crisis management corporate governance and foreign aid management of both public and private entities From the beginning of the 1990s onwards the international aid community has increasingly stressed that good governance together with democracy and protection of basic human rights is indispensable for sustainable economic development. The terms, however, are complex, broad, and arguable. They largely refer to discipline of government institutions and the capacity of the public sector. While a wide variety of empirical studies has been done on the relations between good governance and development, it is still unclear how the differences in governance influence development performance in a real world.

Assessing University Governance and Policies in Relation to the COVID-19 Pandemic
Alaali, Mansoor A., 2021-09-10. In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, universities around the globe have taken numerous extraordinary measures and implemented many changes to their strategic, operational, and academic activities. Currently, there is a transformation taking place from the emergency decision-making in the early stages of the pandemic towards reflection and resolution on how the past months can shape governance and strategy. Higher education institutions have been facing challenges with the alignment of their university governance for their strategic and operational plans. Presently, university leaders have prioritized risk management and financial management over all else. Unfortunately, due to these priorities, university responses to the pandemic took the top-down approach of management, rejecting the shared governance structures and collegial practices of the institutions. The pandemic has accelerated the openness to change by creating an emergency or steering response team led by university presidents and provosts, with sub-teams focusing on operations and other academic advisory groups working together to deal with the fast-rising scenarios. The consequence is a clear flow of information and strong communication across the institution, which sequentially builds on mechanisms to respond to the secondary effects of the pandemic. Moreover, higher education institutions are continuously facing challenges with their strategic alignment of business objectives in order to have a diverse educational system in response to the pandemic.

Assessing University Governance and Policies in Relation to the COVID 19 Pandemic presents the latest research and studies investigating information on university governance and adapting previous existing and proposed models for the current pandemic This book is comprised of chapters contributed by various leading international authors to discuss and analyze all aspects of university governance in relation to their impact on strategies in finance sustainability academic issues research faculty and students leadership campus employment and recruitments and more This is an essential text for university presidents strategic planning authorities in universities college deans and academic department chairpersons government authorities and policymakers researchers students and academicians
