Reconstructing Fort Union:

Reconstructing Fort Union John Austin Matzko, 2001-01-01 Here is the Crow Flies High band of Hidatsa who lived on the site in the late nineteenth century here is the wild west town of Mondak founded in 1904 to peddle alcohol to North Dakotans and here are the Park Service personnel whose mission to preserve what is left of the historic fort puts them in direct conflict with civic leaders who want the entire site reconstructed to draw more tourists Matzko chronicles the struggle with all the political plays bureaucratic snags and chance twists that led to the reconstructionists victory and to one of the largest archaeological excavations ever mounted by the National Park Service Fort Union Trading Post National Historic Site (32WI17) Material Culture Reports Steven Leroy De Vore, William J. Hunt (Jr.), 1993 The Constructed Past Philippe Planel, Peter G. Stone, 2003-09-02 The Constructed Past presents group of powerful images of the past termed in the book construction sites At these sites full scale three dimensional images of the past have been created for a variety of reasons including archaeological experimentation tourism and education Using various case studies the contributors frankly discuss the aims problems and mistakes experienced with reconstruction They encourage the need for on going experimentation and examine the various uses of the sites political economical and educational The Reconstructed Past John H. Jameson, 2004 Collection of original articles that examines issues in reconstructing archaeological sites fo the public both physically and virtually Visit our website for sample chapters Reconstructing Historic Landmarks Wayde Brown, 2018-09-03 Historic reconstructions have been a consistent part of the historic preservation and heritage conservation movements in the United States and Canada Indeed reconstruction has been the primary tool at the most influential historic sites for example the Governor s Palace and the Capitol at Colonial Williamsburg USA and in Canada the Fortress of Louisbourg Dozens of other reconstructions have appeared during the past century in North America undertaken by individuals communities states and provinces and by national agencies responsible for cultural heritage Despite this prevalence historic reconstructions have received little scholarly attention and the question of what motivated the proponents of these projects remains largely unexamined This book explores that question through detailed studies of ten historic reconstructions located throughout Canada and the United States ranging from 1908 to 2011 Drawing upon diverse archival sources and site investigations the proponents of each site are given voice to address their need to remake these landmarks be it to sustain to challenge or even subvert a historical narrative or with reference to contemporary heritage studies to reclaim these spaces Reconstructing Historic Landmarks provides a fascinating insight into these shifting concepts of history in North America and will be of considerable interest both to students and scholars of historic preservation and indeed to heritage professionals involved in reconstructions themselves CRM Bulletin United States.
