technology the music and the musicians from Edison's phonograph to the compact disc. The great artists Caruso, Toscanini, Louis Armstrong, Elvis Presley and their successors all achieved fame through the medium of records and in turn have influenced the recording industry. But just as important are the record producers, those invisible figures who decide from behind the scenes how a record will sound. The history of recording is also the history of record companies; the book follows the vicissitudes of the multinational giants without neglecting the small pioneering labels which have brought valuable new talents to the fore.

The Arts and the American Home, 1890-1930 Jessica H. Foy, Karal Ann Marling, 1995-07. Between 1890 and 1930 the domestic arts as well as the daily life of the American family began to reflect rapid advances in technology, aesthetics and attitudes about American culture. Pictorial, literary, musical and decorative arts from this era all reveal a shift from clutter to clarity and from profusion to restraint as modern conveniences ranging from pre-stamped needlework patterns to central heat were introduced into the domestic environment. However, the household arts were also affected by an enduring strain of conservatism reflected in the popularity of historically inspired furnishing styles. In this collection of essays, ten experts in turn of the century popular and material culture examine how the struggle between modernity and tradition was reflected in various facets of the household aesthetic. Their findings touch on sub-themes of gender, generation and class to provide a fascinating commentary on what middle class Americans were prepared to discard in the name of modernity and what they stubbornly retained for the sake of ideology. Through an examination of material culture and prescriptive literature from this period, the essayists also demonstrate how changes in artistic expression affected the psychological, social and cultural lives of everyday Americans. This book joins a growing list of titles dedicated to analyzing and interpreting the cultural dimensions of past domestic life. Its essays shed new light on house history by tracking the transformation of a significant element of home life: its expressions of art.

Recording History Peter Martland, 2013. In Recording History, Peter Martland uses a range of archival sources to trace the genesis and early development of the British record industry from 1888 to 1931. A work of economic and cultural history that draws on a vast range of quantitative data, it surveys the commercial and business activities of the British record industry like no other work of recording history has before. Martland's study charts the successes and failures of this industry and its impact on domestic entertainment. Showcasing its many colorful pioneers from both sides of the Atlantic, Recording History is first and foremost an account of The Gramophone Company Ltd, a precursor to today's recording giant EMI, and then the most important British record company active from the late 19th century until the end of the second decade of the twentieth century. Martland's history spans the years from the original inventors through industrial and market formation and final take-off, including the riveting battle in recording formats. Special attention is given to the impact of the First World War and the that followed in its wake. Scholars of recording history will find in Martland's study the story of the development of the recording studio of the artists who made the first records from which some, like Italian opera tenor Enrico Caruso, earned a fortune and the change records wrought in the relationship between performer and audience transforming the reception and appreciation of musical culture Filling a much needed gap in scholarship Recording History documents the beginnings of the end of the contemporary international record industry The New Amberola Graphic ,1997 Columbia Phonograph Companion: Hazelcorn's guide to the Columbia cylinder graphophone Howard Hazelcorn,1999 Victrola and 78 Journal ,1994 Nipper Collectibles Joan Rolfs,Robin Rolfs,2007 The Compleat Talking Machine Eric L.
