Reading and Writing the Electronic Book Catherine Marshall, 2022-06-01 Developments over the last twenty years have fueled considerable speculation about the future of the book and of reading itself This book begins with a gloss over the history of electronic books including the social and technical forces that have shaped their development The focus then shifts to reading and how we interact with what we read basic issues such as legibility annotation and navigation are examined as aspects of reading that ebooks inherit from their print legacy Because reading is fundamentally communicative I also take a closer look at the sociality of reading how we read in a group and how we share what we read Studies of reading and ebook use are integrated throughout the book but Chapter 5 goes meta to explore how a researcher might go about designing his or her own reading related studies No book about ebooks is complete without an explicit discussion of content preparation i e how the electronic book is written Hence Chapter 6 delves into the underlying representation of ebooks and efforts to create and apply markup standards to them This chapter also examines how print genres have made the journey to digital and how some emerging digital genres might be realized as ebooks Finally Chapter 7 discusses some beyond the book functionality how can ebook platforms be transformed into portable personal libraries In the end my hope is that by the time the reader reaches the end of this book he or she will feel equipped to perform the next set of studies write the next set of articles invent new ebook functionality or simply engage in a heated argument with the stranger in seat 17C about the future of reading Table of Contents Preface Figure Credits Introduction Reading Interaction Reading as a Social Activity Studying Reading Beyond the Book References Author Biography

Not a Big Deal Paul Ardoin, 2021-08 Not a Big Deal asks how texts might work to unsettle readers at a moment when unwelcome information is rejected as fake news or rebutted with alternative facts When readers already recognize defamiliarizing texts as a category how might texts still work toward the goals of defamiliarization When readers refuse to grapple with texts that might shock them or disrupt their extant views about politics race or even narrative itself how can texts elicit real engagement This study draws from philosophy narratology social neuroscience critical theory and numerous other disciplines to read texts ranging from novels and short stories to graphic novels films and fiction broadcasted and podcasted all of which enact curious strategies of disruption while insisting that they do no such thing Following a model traceable to Toni Morrison's criticism and short fiction texts by Kyle Baker Scott Brown Percival Everett Daniel Handler David Robert Mitchell Jordan Peele and Colson Whitehead suggest new strategies for unsettling the category based perceptions behind what Everett calls the insidious colonialist reader's eye which infects America Not a Big Deal examines problems in our perception of the world and of texts and insists we do the same
