Orphaned Landscapes Patricia Spyer, 2021-11-02 Less than a year after the end of authoritarian rule in 1998 huge images of Jesus Christ and other Christian scenes proliferated on walls and billboards around a provincial town in eastern Indonesia where conflict had arisen between Muslims and Christians A manifestation of the extreme perception that emerged amid uncertainty and the challenge to seeing brought on by urban warfare the street paintings erected by Protestant motorbike taxi drivers signaled a radical departure from the aniconic tradition of the old colonial church a desire to be seen and recognized by political authorities from Jakarta to the UN and European Union an aim to reinstate the Christian look of a city in the face of the country's widespread Islamicization and an opening to a more intimate relationship to the divine through the bringing into vision of the Christian god Stridently assertive these affectively charged mediations of religion masculinity Christian privilege and subjectivity are among the myriad ephemera of war from rumors graffiti incendiary pamphlets and Video CDs to Peace Provocateur text messages and children's reconciliation drawings Orphaned Landscapes theorizes the production of monumental street art and other visual media as part of a wider work on appearance in which ordinary people wittingly or unwittingly refigure the aesthetic forms and sensory environment of their urban surroundings The book offers a rich nuanced account of a place in crisis while also showing how the work on appearance far from epiphenomenal is inherent to sociopolitical change Whether considering the emergence and disappearance of street art or the atmospherics and fog of war Spyer demonstrates the importance of an attunement to elusive ephemeral phenomena for their palpable and varying effects in the world Orphaned Landscapes Violence Visuality and Appearance in Indonesia is available from the publisher on an open access basis

Interpreting the English Village Mick Aston,Christopher Gerrard,2013-02-07 An original and approachable account of how archaeology can tell the story of the English village Shapwick lies in the middle of Somerset next to the important monastic centre of Glastonbury the abbey owned the manor for 800 years from the 8th to the 16th century and its abbots and officials had a great influence on the lives of the peasants who lived there It is possible that abbot Dunstan one of the great reformers of tenth century monasticism directed the planning of the village The Shapwick Project examined the development and history of an English parish and village over a ten thousand year period This was a truly multi disciplinary project Not only were a battery of archaeological and historical techniques explored such as field walking test pitting archaeological excavation aerial reconnaissance documentary research and cartographic analysis but numerous other techniques such as building analysis dendrochronological dating and soil analysis were undertaken on a large scale The result is a fascinating study about how the community lived and prospered in Shapwick In addition we learn how a group of enthusiastic and dedicated scholars unravelled this story As such there is much here to inspire and enthuse others who might want to embark on a landscape study of a parish or village area Seven of the ten chapters begin with a fictional vignette to bring the story of the village to life Text boxes elucidate re occurring themes and techniques Extensively illustrated in colour including 100 full page images
