Subverting the Empire Paul Genoni, 2004 This paper examines the way in which contemporary Australian novelists use various tropes derived from exploration in order to embellish themes of personal search in their fiction By doing so they have borrowed from the language and myths created by what was essentially an exercise in imperialism and applied them to the quest by individuals in the settler society to find a permanent spiritual home in the new country The exploration imagery proves to be apposite in that just as the empire s hopes were dashed when exploration of the inland was repelled by the barren heart of the continent so too has the metaphysical exploration of the same spaces foundered on uncompromising and withholding landscapes Words for Country Tim Bonyhady, 2002 Stories and phrases can powerfully shape the ways we experience and manage our environment What languages have been used to characterise Australian landscapes and how have they influenced the way we see and treat our environment How do stories take root in particular places How do we find the right words for those parts of the country that matter to us Words for Country answers these questions while exploring the inter relationship between Australia s landscape and language Tim Bonyhady and Tom Griffiths have brought together a collection of essays whose subjects range from the Ord River in the far north west to Antarctica in the south from the centre to the coast the prehistoric to the present Their terrain is environmental and cultural political and poetic Words for Country reveals not just how language grows out of the landscape but how words and stories shape the places in which we live

England Through Colonial Eyes in Twentieth-Century Fiction A. Blake, L. Gandhi, S. Thomas, 2015-12-27 Much attention has focused on the imperial gaze at colonised peoples' cultures and lands But during and after the British Empire what have writers from those cultures made of England the English and issues of race gender class ethnicity and desire when they have travelled expatriated or emigrated to England This question is addressed through studies of the domestic novel and the Bildungsroman and through essays on Mansfield Rhys Stead Emecheta Lessing Naipaul Emecheta Rushdie and Dabydeen

The Magic Phrase Margaret Harris, 2000 This is the first volume of essays by various hands on the work of the great Australian novelist Christina Stead 1902-83 It provides an overview of Stead criticism including pioneering classic essays together with a selection from the burgeoning critical literature of the 1980s and 90s and several articles not previously published Henry Handel Richardson Michael Ackland, 2004-06-29 This 2004 book is a complete biography of Henry Handel Richardson Australian Literary Studies, 2001 De-Scribing Empire Alan Lawson, Chris Tiffin, 2002-03-11 De-Scribing Empire is a stunning collection of first class essays Collectively they examine the formative role of books writing and textuality in imperial control and the fashioning of colonial world views The volume as a whole puts forward strategies for understanding and neutralising that control and as such is a major contribution to the field It will be invaluable for students in post colonialist criticism The Cartographic Eye Simon Ryan, 1996-09-13 The Cartographic Eye is about the mythologies of land exploration and about space and the colonial enterprise in particular An innovative investigation of the presumptions aesthetics and politics of Australian explorers' texts it concentrates on the period 1820-1880 Simon Ryan looks at the journals of John Oxley Thomas Mitchell Charles Sturt and Ludwig Leichhardt and shows that they are not the simple unadorned observations the authors would have us believe but are complex networks of tropes The Cartographic Eye scrutinises and undermines the scientific and literary methodology of exploration Its insightful analysis of the tendencies of colonialism will make a major contribution to new historicist interrogations of colonialism It will be a crucial text for readers in Australian literary and cultural studies and for those interested in colonial discourse and postcolonial theory

Enigmatic Christina Stead Teresa Petersen, 2016-10-18 This is a remarkably stimulating new approach to Stead's fiction and to her psyche In this very strong reading often against the grain the author illuminates Stead's fiction in a way that has never been done before Chris Wallace Crabbe Christina Stead is arguably Australia's greatest female novelist Born and educated in Sydney she spent the greater part of her life abroad having left in 1928 to satisfy a wandering impulse The most famous of her thirteen novels The Man Who Loved Children 1940 is an acknowledged masterpiece of twentieth century fiction Stead's concentrated emotional intensity her interest in extraordinary passion and her keen sense of fantasy and the grotesque have led to comparisons with D H Lawrence Dostoevsky and Dickens Immediately striking are her strong imaginative power and range her verbal brilliance and her acute penetration of character The enigma identified and skilfully unravelled by Teresa Petersen surprisingly has hitherto been unexamined Overtly Stead presents the heterosexual norm as the paradigm par excellence yet she portrays no happy heterosexual relationships or marriages only miserable compromises More covertly lesbian eroticism pervades her fiction Usually shrouded in silence it imperceptibly surfaces and disappears sliding in and out of the narrative Petersen argues compellingly that although Stead s texts appear on the surface to be saturated with the heterosexual norm this is a fa ade that masks both lesbian and male homosexual desire By elucidating Stead s subtextual preoccupation with homosexuality Petersen challenges conventional scholarship and shifts our view of both Stead s work and her life

Seeking the Centre Roslynn D. Haynes,1998 The desert has a hypnotic presence in Australian culture simultaneously alluring and repellent The Centre is distant and unknown to most Australians yet has become a symbol of the country This exciting book highly illustrated in full colour reveals the singular impact that the desert both geographical and metaphorical has had on Australian culture At the heart of the book is the profound relationship that Aboriginal Australians have with the desert and the complex ways in which they have been seen by white people in this context
