Mainstreaming the Prelingually Deaf Child, 1978 Language, Cognition, and Deafness Michael Rodda, Carl Grove, 2013-08-21 First published in 1987 This book is intended as an introduction to the field of communication and deafness with particular reference to cognition and the various forms of language used by hearing impaired people It is aimed at an audience comprising teachers and student teachers of the deaf speech pathologists and students of speech pathology social workers and students of social work psychologists and students of psychology and to some extent the parents of deaf children and deaf people themselves It attempts to provide a concise summary of the topic and indeed as well as being for the audience just described it will be useful to anyone with an interest in the psychological sociological and linguistic ramifications of hearing loss Deaf Children in Public Schools Claire L. Northern, Marion P. Downs, 2002 This edition provides a reference and description of the current state of knowledge on hearing and auditory disorders in infants toddlers and young children

Open to the Public Jonathan D. Breul, 2017-07-05 Open to the Public grows out of concern with evaluation in the public arena and the struggle to understand how best to use the information it generates Many concepts and models of evaluation how to undertake it and how to make it more useful were developed before government performance became of so much interest to the public In fact it is arguable that recent changes in the forms shapes structures and media through which the information developed in the process of evaluation becomes public require new ways of thinking about its role in society What is the role of evaluative information in the public arena today How when and under what circumstances does the actual use of evaluative information take place and what are the forces at play By compiling and comparing international case studies this book considers forces that make the information produced in evaluations increasing open to the public They provide insights into the many factors that influence evaluation and its use in the public arena Their case studies include such current topics as spin doctoring of information by the media and this practice's relationship to evaluation studies the hotly debated issue of school performance and information about it aired in the public arena and the controversial link between budget processing and government performance This book will be invaluable to those conducting evaluations public employees and commissioners and those studying public administration
