E. Smith,2015-11-03 Perseus snapped out of overdrive near the point of interest and Hilton stared motionless and silent Space was full of madly warring ships Half of them were bare giant skeletons of steel like the derelict that had so unexpectedly blasted away from them The others were more or less like the Perseus except in being bigger faster and of vastly greater power Beams of starkly incredible power bit at and clung to equally capable defensive screens of pure force As these inconceivable forces met the glare of their neutralization filled all nearby space And ships and skeletons alike were disappearing in chunks blobs gouts streamers and sparkles of rended fused and vaporized metal Hilton watched two ships combine against one skeleton Dozens of beams incredibly tight and hard were held inexorably upon dozens of the bulges of the skeleton Overloaded the bulges screens flared through the spectrum and failed And bare metal however refractory endures only for instants under the appalling intensity of such beams as those The skeletons tried to duplicate the ships method of attack but failed They were too slow Not slow exactly either but hesitant as though it required whole seconds for the commander or operator Or remote controller of each skeleton to make it act The ships were winning Hey Hilton yelled Oh that s the one we saw back there But what in all space does it think it s doing It was plunging at tremendous speed straight through the immense fleet of embattled skeletons It did not fire a beam nor energize a screen it merely plunged along as though on a plotted course until it collided with one of the skeletons of the fleet and both structures plunged a tangled mass of wreckage to the ground of the planet below Then hundreds of the ships shot forward each to plunge into and explode inside one of the skeletons When visibility was restored another wave of ships came forward to repeat the
