Mug House Arthur H. Rohn,1989-02 Mug House Arthur H. Rohn,2017-10-21 Excerpt from Mug House Mesa Verde National Park Colorado Since 1916 the National Park Service has concerned itself with the preservation and interpretation Of notable works of nature and of significant works of man both historic and prehistoric in the United States Mesa Verde National Park in southwestern Colorado contains a vast array of prehistoric ruins in a virtually unspoiled natural setting I invite your attention to this report and to forthcoming publications that have emanated from scientific researches conducted by the Park Service in conjunction with the National Geographic Society in a section of the park known as Wetherill Mesa These studies reveal man in congenial relationship with his austere environment It is mandatory that we adopt a comparable ecological approach to life if we are to continue to inhabit this planet About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Wetherill Mesa Excavations Arthur H. Rohn,1971 Mug House, Mesa Verde National Park-Colorado Arthur H. Rohn,1971 From 1959 through 1963 the National Park Service with generous support from the National Geographic Society carried out a comprehensive field study of the archeology and ecology of Wetherill Mesa in Mesa Verde National Park Wetherill Mesa is being developed so that increasing numbers of visitors will be able to observe the evolution of a prehistoric culture both here and in the nearby and more familiar section of the park known as Chapin Mesa This report recreates in all possible detail the life of a southwestern Indigenous community of some 700 years ago Long House, Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado George S. Cattnach,Richard Page Wheeler,1980 Mug House Arthur H. Rohn,1971 Mesa Verde's Secret Garden Christopher Barns,2025-05-13 Mesa Verde National Park is the only congressionally designated land based Wilderness to prohibit all recreational use While backcountry use was encouraged for decades stewardship changed over time as gardening the park for aesthetic purposes decreased while secrecy increased The reasons for these changes as Christopher Barns discovered are multifaceted but ultimately they reflect a desire to protect the park s thousands of archaeological sites including six hundred Ancestral Puebloan cliff dwellings while allowing natural processes to continue However much of the park is without recognizable cultural features and if the public is prohibited from experiencing the surrounding landscape Barns asks what is being protected and for whom Mesa Verde s Secret Garden is an authoritative history of Mesa Verde National Park s management The book utilizes unpublished primary sources from the park s archives including internal memos public reports interviews and anonymous marginalia and contextualizes them in the evolving and often conflicting federal and local priorities for Wilderness conservation and the national parks The result of this painstaking research is a fascinating chronicle of national park administration and development over a nearly 120 year history that provides unique insights into the people and protocols that have shaped the very landscape of Mesa Verde Archeological Research Series ,1971 Archeological Research Series Jervis D. Archaeology of Households, Kinship, and Social Change Lacey B. Carpenter,Anna Marie Prentiss,2021-11-24 Archaeology of Households Kinship and Social Change offers new perspectives on the processes of social change from the standpoint of household archaeology This volume develops new theoretical and methodological approaches to the archaeology of households pursuing three critical themes household diversity in human residential communities with and without archaeologically identifiable houses interactions within and between households that explicitly considers impacts of kin and non kin relationships and lastly change as a process that involves the choices made by members of households in the context of larger societal constraints Encompassing these themes authors explore the role of social ties and their material manifestations within the house dwelling or other constructed space how the household relates to other social units how households consolidate power and control over resources and how these changes manifest at multiple scales The case studies presented in this volume have broader implications for understanding the drivers of change the ways households create the contexts for change and how households serve as spaces for invention reaction and or resistance Understanding the nature of relationships within households is necessary for a more complete understanding of communities and regions as these ties are vital to explaining how and why societies change Taking a comparative outlook with case studies from around the world this volume will inform students and professionals researching household archaeology and be of interest to other disciplines concerned with the relationship between social networks and societal change
