Parenting and the Retarded Child Caroline Hastings Babington,1981 You and Your Retarded Child Samuel Alexander Kirk,1968 The Mentally Retarded Child Abraham Levinson,1952 The Mentally Retarded Child at Home Laura L. Dittmann,1959 You and Your Retarded Child Samuel Alexander Kirk,1961 A Guide and Handbook for Parents of Mentally Retarded Children Olga F. Pader,1981 Teaching Your Retarded Child Margaret Anne Johnson,1978 Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein,2005-02-16 Despite the fact that most people become parents and everyone who has ever lived has had parents parenting remains a mystifying subject about which almost everyone has opinions but about which few people agree Striking permutations on the theme of parenting are emerging single parenthood blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads Divided into four volumes the Handbook of Parenting is concerned with different types of parents basic characteristics of parenting forces that shape parenting problems faced by parents and the practical sides of parenting Contributors have worked in different ways toward understanding all of these diverse aspects of parenting and look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent has wondered about Because development is too subtle dynamic and intricate to admit that parental caregiving alone determines the course and outcome of ontogeny volume 1 concerns how children influence parenting Volume 2 relates parenting to its biological roots and sets parenting in its ecological framework Volume 3 distinguishes among the cast of characters responsible for parenting and is revealing of the psychological make ups and social interests of those individuals Volume 4 describes problems of parenting as well as the promotion of positive parenting practices Written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting each chapter addresses a different but central topic in parenting and is rooted in current thinking and theory as well as classic and modern research on that topic All chapters follow a standard organization including an introduction to the chapter as a whole followed by historical considerations of the topic a discussion of central issues and theory a review of classic and modern research forecasts of future directions for theory and research and a conclusion In addition to considering their own convictions and research the chapter contributors present and broadly interpret all major points of view and central lines of inquiry Children ,1970 Adoption and Foster Care for Special Needs Children Project Share,1981 Parenting Assessments in Child Welfare Cases Terry D. Pezzot-Pearce,John W. Pearce,2004-01-01 Perry Pezzot Pearce and John Pearce guide practitioners through the steps of assessment from negotiating the initial referral through data collection and report writing to court testimony Understanding Mental Retardation Edward Zigler,Robert M. Hodapp,1986-08-29 Understanding Mental Retardation draws on our knowledge of normal development to inform their discussion of various aspects of retardation The Child ,1966 Parents and Young Mentally Handicapped Children Helen McConachie,2016-01-08 First published in 1986 this book reviews research on the role parents play in fostering the early development of children with mental handicaps

Professionals and parents must work together to give such children the chance of living as ordinary lives as possible and here the author develops a broadly based conceptual framework for the involvement of parents as teachers of their young handicapped children McConachie identifies characteristics of parents which seem of particular relevance to the design and success of intervention programmes Although written in the 1980s this book discusses topics that are still important today

Helping Parents Help Their Kids Ennio Cipani, 1999 Helping Parents Help Their Kids is a guide both for clinicians who help families and for parents who have children with behavior problems The author provides three ways to address clinical issues in designing and implementing child behavior management plans a general behavioral consultation model a specific behavioral model and an empirically tested advice package for problems that can occur in different family contexts Each chapter provides early research on a specific strategy and several forms to use in the clinical environment Parents will find this book helpful because the information is presented in a user friendly format The author explains how parents can learn specific strategies to deal with six common problems These problems include teaching both children and adolescents to comply with the rules of the house dealing with disruptive behavior and addressing problems in school Helping Parents Help Their Kids offers both clinicians and parents effective procedures without the technical jargon many typical behavioral texts use Instead the author explains these methods in common sense terms that will be a welcome change for all who want to find solutions for their child's behavioral problems

Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping, 2025-08-05 Modern practice in the 1980s was to involve parents increasingly in the education of their children and was supported by legislation Particularly when children had special needs parents required structured training and support to ensure they affectively sustained their vital role as educators at home Many large scale programmes to provide this had been developed throughout the world at the time for example Home Start Portage Home Visiting Projects and Paired Reading Projects However not all of these had been thoroughly evaluated and the existing literature was scattered and difficult to access Some projects demonstrated spectacular results and high cost effectiveness while others proved more disappointing Originally published in 1986 this book critically analyses over 600 international English language research reports on the effectiveness of parent training programmes In addition a detailed guide to the practicalities of planning projects is provided together with a comprehensive directory of useful resource materials After an introductory overview the evidence on the effects on child progress of parental involvement in school activities is reviewed as is research on the impact of schemes of regular structured communication between home and school Programmes designed to train parents to accelerate the development of their children at home are considered in the subsequent chapters starting with ordinary children Much of the book reviews projects targeted on children with some sort of special educational need from children whose special needs stem from a widespread difficulty such as poverty or second language learning systematically through to children whose needs stem from rarer and more severe issues Each chapter has its own summary for ease of reader use while an overall summary chapter points out best buys and directions for future developments This volume will be of major interest to teachers psychologists social workers community health personnel community educationalists researchers many others working with parents and children and to some parents themselves This book is a re issue originally published in 1986 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication Children Today ,1980
