In her groundbreaking book Taming Your Wild Child, Tangee presents the brilliant concept that it is the wild child in YOU that you need to tame. By using the 7 Proven Principles, which allow you to become more compassionate toward your children and help create connection and a loving PARTNERSHIP with them rather than a relationship of power over them, they will also reflect the same confidence and compassion toward themselves and others. happier All Children Flourishing Howard Glasser, 2007 The Nurtured Heart Approach was originally designed to help families help their difficult children better adapt to school and family life During years of using this approach with these children however I discovered that it works beautifully to foster inner strength higher achievement happiness security and exemplary conduct in every child It is not just another positive approach to parenting designed to improve behavior Rather it is an approach to greatness a method of recognizing and appreciating the gifts each child possesses Parents who had been desperate to find something that worked and adopted the Nurtured Heart Approach with their difficult child typically also used the approach with their other children because it is just easier that way They would then report similar extraordinary results they described their other children as flourishing beyond anything they had ever seen or experienced before This approach gives parents enormous power to help every child navigate an ever more complex world with confidence and an inner compass of greatness Children now more than ever need a real inheritance not monetary wealth but inner wealth We can no longer just occasionally urge our children to feel self worth to make better choices and to have a better attitude A more proactive approach is needed We have to give them irrefutable evidence in real time that they are successful right here and right now Parenting in the Wild: a Guided Journal to Support Parent's Mental Health and Wellness

Brave Parenting Krissy Pozatek, 2014-04-01 How do we build resilient children who can handle life's challenges As parents today we often feel that our role is to protect our children from the world to cushion them when they fall to lift them over obstacles and to remove sharp rocks from their path But controlling a child's entire environment and keeping all pain at bay isn't feasible we can't prepare the world for our children so instead we should focus on preparing our children for the world The solution is not removing impediments from our children's lives writes Krissy Pozatek it is compassionately encouraging them to be brave We need to show our kids how to navigate their own terrain If our kids face small hurdles small pains at a young age and learn to overcome these obstacles they will be much better equipped to face larger trouble later in life Early lessons in problem solving teach self confidence and self reliance and show us that our kids are tougher than we think Krissy draws her lessons from her experience guiding children in wilderness therapy and from her Buddhist practice showing us that all life is as unpredictable as mountain weather that impermanence is the only constant and that the most loving act a parent can do is fearlessly ready their child to face the wilderness For parents of children of all ages
