Constructing Civil Liberties Ken I. Kersch,2004-08-02 This book provides a revisionist account of the genealogy of contemporary constitutional law and morals Get a Job Robert D. Crutchfield,2014-05-02 Are the unemployed more likely to commit crimes Does having a job make one less likely to commit a crime Criminologists have found that individuals who are marginalized from the labor market are more likely to commit crimes and communities with more members who are marginal to the labor market have higher rates of crime Yet as Robert Crutchfield explains contrary to popular expectations unemployment has been found to be an inconsistent predictor of either individual criminality or collective crime rates In Get a Job Crutchfield offers a carefully nuanced understanding of the links among work unemployment and crime Crutchfield explains how people's positioning in the labor market affects their participation in all kinds of crimes from violent acts to profit motivated offenses such as theft and drug trafficking Crutchfield also draws on his first hand knowledge of growing up in a poor black neighborhood in Pittsburgh and later working on the streets as a parole officer enabling him to develop a more complete understanding of how work and crime are related and both contribute to and are a result of social inequalities and disadvantage Well researched and informative Get a Job tells a powerful story of one of the most troubling side effects of economic disparities in America
