

Parkinsons

Disease

Information:

- 1 A disorder of the central nervous system that affects movement caused by a loss of brain cells in the substantia nigra
- 2 People may experience difficulty in walking and talking, mental and behavioral changes, sleep problems, depression, memory difficulties, and fatigue. Levodopa, the most effective Parkinson's disease medication, is a natural chemical that passes into your brain and is converted to dopamine.
- 3 A recent approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration will allow MSK researchers and their collaborators to open the first clinical trial testing an investigational stem cell therapy aimed at restoring lost brain cells called neurons in people with advanced Parkinson's disease

Intracerebral Transplantation in Movement Disorders Olle Lindvall,Anders Björklund,Håkan Widner,1991 The development of the clinical application of cell transplantation to the central nervous system is currently in a very dynamic phase Nevertheless it needs to be emphasized that neural grafting still constitutes an experimental approach and not a therapy It is highly important to maintain a close contact and interaction between clinical and animal experimental research Unfortunately there is a risk that the clinical trials do not have a solid experimental base and that they are performed in a manner that does not permit a stringent scientific evaluation of the results This book as was the aim of the symposium on which it is based creates a dialogue between representatives of basic neuroscience and clinical research in order to promote the further development of intracerebral transplantation into a therapy in movement disorders
