The Parthenon of Pericles and Its Reproduction in America Benjamin Franklin Wilson,1957 The Parthenon of Pericles and Its Reproduction in America Benjamin Franklin Wilson,1937 The Parthenon of Pericles and Its Reproduction in America ... Illustrated Benjamin Franklin WILSON,1937 Developing Your Design Process Albert Smith,Kendra Schank Smith,2014-09-04 Developing Your Design Process is your primary source for acquiring knowledge of how and why you design It will help you understand how architects think as well as learn why you should educate yourself about design culture You ll explore the spark of imagination that leads to a strong concept realize the importance of sketching and rough drafts focus your original concept to make your abstract idea visible and finally step away for a moment to critically question your concept by identifying its strengths and weaknesses You ll also be introduced to the language of design architectural terminology historic precedents and designers in addition to the why what and how of the design process The book is illustrated throughout with international examples of work by professionals and students in the discipline of architecture and other related design professions World's Fairs in a Southern Accent Bruce G. Harvey,2014-07-30 The South was no stranger to world s fairs prior to the end of the nineteenth century Atlanta first hosted a fair in the 1880s as did New Orleans and Louisville but after the 1893 World s Columbian Exposition in Chicago drew comparisons to the great exhibitions of Victorian era England Atlanta s leaders planned to host another grand exposition that would not only confirm Atlanta as an economic hub the equal of Chicago and New York but usher the South into the nation s industrial and political mainstream Nashville and Charleston quickly followed suit with their own exhibitions In the 1890s the perception of the South was inextricably tied to race and more specifically racial strife Leaders in Atlanta Nashville and Charleston all sought ways to distance themselves from traditional impressions about their respective cities which more often than not conjured images of poverty and treason in Americans barely a generation removed from the Civil War Local business leaders used large scale expositions to lessen this stigma while simultaneously promoting culture industry and economic advancement Atlanta s Cotton States and International Exposition presented the city as a burgeoning economic center and used a keynote speech by Booker T Washington to gain control of the national debate on race relations Nashville s Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition chose to promote culture over mainstream success and marketed Nashville as a Centennial City replete with neoclassical architecture drawing on its reputation as the Athens of the south Charleston s South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition followed in the footsteps of Atlanta s exposition Its new class of progressive leaders saw the need to reestablish the city as a major port of commerce and designed the fair around a Caribbean theme that emphasized trade and the corresponding economics that would raise Charleston from a cotton exporter to an international port of interest Bruce G Harvey studies each exposition beginning at the local and individual level of organization and moving upward to explore a broader regional context He argues that southern urban leaders not only sought to revive their cities but also to reinvigorate the South in response to northern prosperity Local businessmen struggled to manage all the elements that came with hosting a world's fair including raising funds designing the fair's architectural elements drafting overall plans soliciting exhibits and gaining the backing of political leaders However these businessmen had defined expectations for their expositions not only in terms of economic and local growth but also considering what an international exposition had come to represent to the community and the region in which they were hosted Harvey juxtaposes local and regional aspects of world's fair in the South and shows that nineteenth century expositions had grown into American institutions in their own right

Waste-Site Stories Brian Neville, Johanne Villeneuve, 2012-02-01 Ours is a wasteful society consumed with care for its remains according to the contributors of Waste Site Stories Here scholars from around the world probe current notions of waste and the ways in which remains of different kinds recover value in the act of recollection and recycling In the wake of destructive experiences that continue to trouble memory there is something compelling about today's theoretical and artistic interest in waste and recycling The two terms provide a purchase on changing conditions of cultural memory on technological development and its sometimes toxic ecological and social fallout and on the legacy of personal and historical trauma They suggest new resources for the stories of our engagement with the things of the past and the sites where traces of history survive

Architectural Model as Machine Albert Smith, 2007-03-30 This book offers an explanation of why scale models are important to the design process Albert Smith takes the reader through the history and significance of models in architecture from the magic of the Egyptian scale model to the present day Through this description of the relationship between architecture and the scale model Smith demonstrates the most effective process between concept and machine between the idea and the final building The great value of this book is to reveal the nature of the scale model and to unlock the tremendous potential of this design tool as a thinking and communicative advice His chronological analysis goes on from Egypt through Rome to the relationship between the Greek paradigm scale model and then on to Medieval and Renaissance models It concludes with the models of the Spanish architect Antonio Gaudi the Russian Constructivists the American architect Louis Khan and finally looks at the role of scale models in the present day through the work of the Polish American architect Daniel Libeskind and the American Frank Gehry
