Participating in the Knowledge Society R. Finnegan, 2005-09-27 In current debates about the knowledge society and the organization of research the spotlight is most often on the universities This interdisciplinary and transhistorical volume focuses on the less often recognized work of independent researchers creating and participating in knowledge outside the academy from seventeenth century north country astronomers to Victorian naturalists to today's think tanks community historians and new forms of researching and publishing through the internet These intriguing cases raise challenging issues about the location definition and validation of research about active participation in knowledge generation and about the perhaps changing boundaries of university today

Professional Learning in the Knowledge Society Karen Jensen, Leif Chr. Lahn, Monika Nerland, 2012-10-20 This book presents an entirely new approach to professional learning based on perspectives of the knowledge society and in particular an interpretation of Knorr Cetina's work on scientific epistemic cultures Starting with a conceptual chapter and followed by a suite of empirical studies from accountancy education nursing and software engineering the book elaborates how a knowledge production and circulation take distinct forms in those fields b how the knowledge objects of practice in those fields engross and engage professionals and in the process people and knowledge are transformed by this engagement By foregrounding an explicit concern for the role of knowledge in professional learning the book goes much farther than the current fashion for describing practice based learning It will therefore be of considerable interest to the research policy practitioner and student communities involved with professional education learning or interested in innovation and knowledge development in the professions

Universities in the Knowledge Society Timo Aarrevaara, Martin Finkelstein, Glen A. Jones, Jisun Jung, 2021-09-28. Springer is proud to announce that Universities in the Knowledge Society has received the ASHE CIHE award for Significant Research on International Higher Education. Congratulations to Timo Aarrevaara, Martin Finkelstein, Glen A. Jones, Jisun Jung, and all contributors. This book explores the complex, multi-faceted relationships between national research and innovation systems and higher education. The transition towards knowledge societies/economies is repositioning the role of the university and transforming the academic profession. The volume provides a foundational introduction to the concepts of knowledge society and knowledge economy, and these concepts ground the detailed case studies of eighteen systems located across five continents. Each case study was written by a leading expert in that jurisdiction and provides a critical analysis of the research and development infrastructure, the role of universities, and the implications for the academic profession. The book describes how nations in various geographic regions and at various stages of economic maturity are restructuring their university systems to adapt to the new imperatives and provides a cross-case analysis identifying common themes and distinctive features. In telling the story of higher education's on going global metamorphosis the contributing authors place current developments in the context of the university's historic evolution survey the changing metrics that national governments are adopting to measure university performance and describe a new international project the Academic Profession in the Knowledge based Society APIKS that involved a common survey of academics in more than twenty countries to take the pulse of developments on the ground while documenting the challenges confronting knowledge workers in the new economy

Learning across Contexts in the Knowledge Society Ola Erstad, Kristiina Kumpulainen, Åsa Mäkitalo, Kim Christian Schrøder, Pille Pruulmann-Vengerfeldt, Thuridur Jóhannsdóttir, 2016-02-10 Developments within the knowledge society especially those resulting from technological innovation have intensified an interest in the relationship between different contexts and multiple sites of learning across what is often termed as formal non formal and informal learning environments The aim of this book is to trace learning and experience across multiple sites and contexts as a means to generate new knowledge about the borders and edges of different practices and the boundary crossings these entail in the learning lives of young people in times of dynamic societal environmental economic and technological change The empirical research discussed in this book has grown out of a Nordic network of researchers The research initiatives in the Nordic countries tend to avoid the more spectacular debates over the future of the educational institutions that tend to dominate and obscure discussions on education in the knowledge society and which look to models of informal learning whether in the learning communities of workplaces and families or in the new socio technical spaces of the Internet as a source of alternative educational strategies Rather Nordic researchers more modestly ask whether it is possible to envisage new models of teaching and learning which take seriously both the responsibility to social justice and social wellbeing which at least rhetorically underpinned a commitment to mass education of the 20th century as well as to the radical challenges to traditional educational models offered by the new socio technical spaces and practices of the 21st century
