Sea Our Heritage British Maritime Interests Past And Present:

The Sea Our Heritage Jean Cantlie Stewart,1995 Traces the development of British sea power the Merchant Navy fishing industry Royal Navy shipbuilding and ship repairing industries Britain and the Sea Glen O'Hara,2010-06-30 O'Hara presents the first general history of Britons relationship with the surrounding oceans from 1600 to the present day This all encompassing account covers individual seafarers ship borne migration warfare and the maritime economy as well as the British people s maritime ideas and self perception throughout the centuries Bibliography of Nautical Books Alan Obin,2000-02 This is the 15th annual edition of the Bibliography of Nautical Books a reference guide to over 14 000 nautical publications It deals specifically with the year 2000 English/British Naval History to 1815 Eugene L. Rasor,2004-10-30 The English British have always been known as the sailor race with hearts of oak the Royal Navy as the Senior Service and First Line of Defense It facilitated the motto The sun never set on the British Empire The Royal Navy has exerted a powerful influence on Great Britain its Empire Europe and ultimately the world This superior annotated bibliography supplies entries that explore the influence of the English British Navy through its history This survey will provide a major reference guide for students and scholars at all levels It incorporates evaluative qualitative and critical analysis processes the essence of historical scholarship Each one of the 4 124 annotated entries is evaluated assessed analyzed integrated and incorporated into the historiographical scholarship Naval War College Review ,1998 The Mariner's Mirror Leonard George Carr Laughton,Roger Charles Anderson,William Gordon Perrin,1994 Naval War College Review Naval War College (U.S.),1998 Annual Bibliography of British and Irish History ,1999 The Sea Our Heritage Jean Cantlie Stewart,1993 The Seaforth Bibliography Eugene Rasor,2009-04-17 This remarkable work is a comprehensive historiographical and bibliographical survey of the most important scholarly and printed materials about the naval and maritime history of England and Great Britain from the earliest times to 1815 More than 4 000 popular standard and official histories important articles in journals and periodicals anthologies conference symposium and seminar papers guides documents and doctoral theses are covered so that the emphasis is the broadest possible But the work is far far more than a listing The works are all evaluated assessed and analysed and then integrated into an historical narrative that makes the book a hugely useful reference work for student scholar and enthusiast alike It is divided into twenty one chapters which cover resource centres significant naval writers pre eminent and general histories the chronological periods from Julius Caesar through the Vikings Tudors and Stuarts to Nelson and Bligh major naval personalities warships piracy strategy and tactics exploration discovery and navigation archaeology and even naval fiction Quite simply no one with an interest and enthusiasm for naval history can afford to be without this book at their side Routes and Roots Elizabeth DeLoughrey,2009-12-31 Elizabeth DeLoughrey invokes the cyclical model of the continual movement and rhythm of the ocean tidalectics to destabilize the national ethnic and even regional frameworks that have been the mainstays of literary study The result is a privileging of alter native epistemologies whereby island cultures are positioned where they should have been all along at the forefront of the world historical process of transoceanic migration and landfall The research determination and intellectual dexterity that infuse this nuanced and meticulous reading of Pacific and Caribbean literature invigorate and deepen our interest in and appreciation of island literature Vilsoni Hereniko University of Hawai i Elizabeth DeLoughrey brings contemporary hybridity diaspora and globalization theory to bear on ideas of indigeneity to show the complexities of native identities and rights and their grounded opposition as indigenous regionalism to free floating globalized cosmopolitanism Her models are instructive for all postcolonial readers in an age of transnational migrations Paul Sharrad University of Wollongong Australia Routes and Roots is the first comparative study of Caribbean and Pacific Island literatures and the first work to bring indigenous and diaspora literary studies together in a sustained dialogue Taking the tidalectic between land and sea as a dynamic starting point Elizabeth DeLoughrey foregrounds geography and history in her exploration of how island writers inscribe the complex relation between routes and roots The first section looks at the sea as history in literatures of the Atlantic middle passage and Pacific Island voyaging theorizing the transoceanic imaginary The second section turns to the land to examine indigenous epistemologies in nation building literatures Both sections are particularly attentive to the ways in which the metaphors of routes and roots are gendered exploring how masculine travelers are naturalized through their voyages across feminized lands and seas This methodology of charting transoceanic migration and landfall helps elucidate how theories and people travel positioning island cultures in the world historical process In fact DeLoughrey demonstrates how these tropical island cultures helped constitute the very metropolises that deemed them peripheral to modernity Fresh in its ideas original in its approach Routes and Roots engages broadly with history anthropology and feminist postcolonial Caribbean and Pacific literary and cultural studies It productively traverses diaspora and indigenous studies in a way that will facilitate broader discussion between these often segregated disciplines

International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature Chiefly in the Fields of Arts and Humanities and the Social Sciences, 1999 Proceedings of the Royal Colonial Institute Royal Colonial Institute (Great Britain), 1903 Proceedings of the Royal Colonial Institute Royal Commonwealth Society, 1903 Proceedings Royal Colonial Institute (Great Britain), 1903 Our Heritage of Wild Nature Arthur George Tansley, A. G. Tansley, 2013-01-17 Sir Arthur George Tansley 1871 1955 was an English botanist who made significant contributions to the development of ecology and the conservation movement In this volume which was first published in 1945 Tansley discusses the ways in which English natural habitats might be preserved in the face of post war modernisation processes The book puts forward the thesis that English rural beauty can only be protected through the deliberate conservation of much of our native vegetation a process that must be achieved through a proper understanding of plant ecology This process of course runs in tandem with the aim of protecting the various forms of animal life which find their homes within a diversity of habitats The text also contains numerous photographic figures and a detailed index This is a fascinating book that will be of value to anyone with an interest in ecology and botany Records of the Proceedings and Printed Papers of the Parliament Australia.
