Reviews and Essays of Austin Clarke Austin Clarke, 1995 Austin Clarke is widely regarded as one of 20th century Ireland's most important poets In this selection of nearly fifty essays and reviews written over Clarke's long career he demonstrates that he is an astute and provocative literary critic as well Having grown up in Dublin when the excitement of the Irish Literary Revival was still running high Clarke knew many of the principal figures of that movement personally and his readings of Yeats Joyce Synge O Casey Lady Gregory George Moore and others enjoy the advantages of an insider's point of view Moreover committed in his own poetry to the basic assumption that fuelled the Literary Revival that the most productive course for Irish literature lay in the direction not of England but of Ireland Clarke in his criticism provides a way of understanding and judging the Revival's major writers in terms of their relationships to Ireland's rich literary and cultural traditions At the same time these essays call attention to a number of distinctly Irish but often overlooked writers working on the margins of the revival As Yeats observed more than once the Irish for all the contributions that they have made to modern fiction poetry and drama have fallen somewhat short in the genre of literary criticism Austin Clarke's essays and reviews many of which were written under a pseudonym and so not attributed to Clarke for years go a long way towards filling that gap

Sean O'Casey, The Shadow of a Gunman Patrick Raftoidi, 1983

Samuel Ferguson Peter Denman, 1990-01-01 This book provides a critical assessment and examination of the prose and poetry of Ireland's Samuel Ferguson It presents a clear understanding of the shape and purpose of Ferguson's career as a writer which extended over half a century The scholarly sources from which Ferguson extracted many of his themes are carefully examined as are the times during which Ferguson lived and wrote This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Irish literature and the politics and history of nineteenth century Ireland
