Searching For Life:

Searching for Life Rita Arditti, 1999-04-19 FROM THE BOOK I want to touch you and kiss you You are my mother's sister and only one year older you must have something of my mother in you A found child after being returned to her family Searching for Life traces the courageous plight of the Grandmothers of the Plaza de Mayo a group of women who challenged the ruthless dictatorship that ruled Argentina from 1976 to 1983 Acting as both detectives and human rights advocates in an effort to find and recover their grandchildren the Grandmothers identified fifty seven of an estimated 500 children who had been kidnapped or born in detention centers The Grandmothers work also led to the creation of the National Genetic Data Bank the only bank of its kind in the world and to Article 8 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child the right to identity that is now incorporated in the new adoption legislation in Argentina Rita Arditti has conducted extensive interviews with twenty Grandmothers and twenty five others connected with their work her book is a testament to the courage persistence and strength of these traditional older women The importance of the Grandmothers work has effectively transcended the Argentine situation Their tenacious pursuit of justice defies the culture of impunity and the historical amnesia that pervades Argentina and much of the rest of the world today In addition to reconciling the living disappeared with their families of origin these Grandmothers restored a chapter of history that too had been abducted and concealed from its rightful heirs

Searching for Life Across Space and Time National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, 2017-10-12 The search for life is one of the most active fields in space science and involves a wide variety of scientific disciplines including planetary science astronomy and astrophysics chemistry biology chemistry and geoscience In December 2016 the Space Studies Board hosted a workshop to explore the possibility of habitable environments in the solar system and in exoplanets techniques for detecting life and the instrumentation used This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop

An Astrobiology Strategy for the Search for Life in the Universe National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Astrobiology Science Strategy for the Search for Life in the Universe, 2019-04-20 Astrobiology is the study of the origin evolution distribution and future of life in the universe It is an inherently interdisciplinary field that encompasses astronomy biology geology heliophysics and planetary science including complementary laboratory activities and field studies conducted in a wide range of terrestrial environments Combining inherent scientific interest and public appeal the search for life in the solar system and beyond provides a scientific rationale for many current and future activities carried out by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA and other national and international agencies and organizations Requested by NASA this study offers a science strategy for astrobiology that outlines key scientific questions identifies the most promising research in the field and indicates the extent to which the mission priorities in existing decadal surveys address the search for life's origin evolution distribution and future in the universe This report makes recommendations for advancing the research obtaining the measurements and realizing NASA's goal to search for signs of life in the universe

The Search for Life's Origins National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Planetary Biology and Chemical Evolution, 1990-02-01 The field of planetary biology and chemical evolution draws together experts in astronomy paleobiology biochemistry and space science who work together to understand the evolution of living systems This field has made exciting discoveries that shed light on how organic compounds came together to form self replicating molecules the origin of life This volume updates that progress and offers recommendations on research programs including an ambitious effort centered on Mars to advance the field over the next 10 to 15 years The book presents a wide range of data and research results on these and other issues The biogenic elements and their interaction in the interstellar clouds and in solar nebulae Early planetary environments and the conditions that lead to the origin of life The evolution of cellular and multicellular life The search for life outside the solar system This volume will become required reading for anyone involved in the search for life's beginnings including exobiologists geoscientists planetary scientists and U S space and science policymakers

The Search for Life on Other Planets Bruce Jakosky, 1998-10-15 Does life exist on other planets This 1998 book presents the scientific basis for thinking there may be life elsewhere in the Universe It is the first to cover the entire breadth of recent exciting discoveries including the discovery of planets around other stars and the possibility of fossil life in meteorites from Mars Suitable for the general reader this authoritative book avoids technical jargon and is well illustrated throughout It covers all the major topics including the origin and early history of life on Earth the environmental conditions necessary for life to exist the possibility that life might exist elsewhere in our Solar System the occurrence of planets around other stars and their habitability and the possibility of intelligent extraterrestrial life For all those interested in understanding the scientific evidence for and likelihood of extraterrestrial life this is the most comprehensive and readable book to date

Water and the Search for Life on Mars David M. Harland, 2007-09-24 Mars has long been believed to have been cold dead and dry for aeons but there is now striking new proof that not only was Mars a relatively warm and wet place in geologically recent times but that even today there are vast reserves of water frozen beneath the planet s surface As well as casting fascinating new insights into Mars past this discovery is also forcing a complete rethink about the mechanisms of global planetary change and the possibility that there is microbial life on Mars David Harland considers the issue of life on Mars in parallel with the origin of life on Earth At the time the Viking instruments were designed it was thought that all terrestrial life ultimately derived its energy from sunlight and that the earliest form of life was the cyanobacteria with chlorophyll for photosynthesis It was assumed the same would be the case on Mars and that microbial life would be on or near the surface that the Vikings had sampled In parallel with these NASA projects the European Space Agency developed the Mars Express remote sensing orbiter which has detected traces of methane that may have been released by microbes If microbial life is found on Mars will it be based on DNA Will this indicate that life developed independently Or that it has characteristics in common with the most ancient forms of terrestrial life If life is found on two planets in the same planetary system this would favour the panspermia hypothesis And if martian life is radically different then in light of the discovery of planetary systems around other stars this would as remarked by Philip Morrison of MIT transform life from the status of a miracle to that of a statistic These are all questions that the exploration of Mars for life are aimed to answer

Life in the Universe, 5th Edition Jeffrey Bennett, Seth Shostak, Nicholas Schneider, Meredith MacGregor, 2022-08-23 The world s leading textbook on astrobiology ideal for an introductory one semester course and now fully revised and updated Are we alone in the cosmos How are scientists seeking signs of life beyond our home planet Could we colonize other planets moons or even other star systems This introductory textbook written by a team of four renowned science communicators educators and researchers tells the amazing story of how modern science is seeking the answers to these and other fascinating questions They are the questions that are at the heart of the highly interdisciplinary field of astrobiology the study of life in the universe Written in an accessible conversational style for anyone intrigued by the possibilities of life in the solar system and beyond Life in the Universe is an ideal place to start learning about the latest discoveries and unsolved mysteries in the field From the most recent missions to Saturn s moons and our neighboring planet Mars to revolutionary discoveries of thousands of exoplanets from the puzzle of life s beginning on Earth to the latest efforts in the search for intelligent life elsewhere this book captures the imagination and enriches the reader's understanding of how astronomers, planetary scientists, biologists, and other scientists make progress at the cutting edge of this dynamic field. Enriched with a wealth of engaging features, this textbook brings any citizen of the cosmos up to speed with the scientific quest to discover whether we are alone or part of a universe full of life. An acclaimed text designed to inspire students of all backgrounds to explore foundational questions about life in the cosmos. Completely revised and updated to include the latest developments in the field, including recent exploratory space missions to Mars, frontier exoplanet science, research on the origin of life on Earth, and more. Enriched with helpful learning aids, including in-chapter "Think about It" questions, optional "Do the Math" and "Special Topic" boxes, "Movie Madness" boxes, end-of-chapter exercises and problems, quick quizzes, and much more. The Search for Extraterrestrial Life: Recent Developments M.D. Papagiannis, 2012-12-06 PROCEEDINGS IAU SYMPOSIUM 112 Michael D. Papagiannis, Department of Astronomy, Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts 02215, USA. 1. THE SYMPOSIUM AND THE PROCEEDINGS IAU Symposium 112. The Search for Extraterrestrial Life: Recent Developments was held in Boston and, in particular, at the new Science Center of Boston University, June 18-21, 1984, and was attended by about 150 participants from 18 different countries. It was the first official scientific meeting organized by IAU Commission 51, the youngest of all IAU Commissions, which was established only in 1982 at the 18th IAU General Assembly at Patras, Greece. This volume of the Proceedings contains nearly 70 papers with about 90 authors from 20 different countries, including two papers from our Soviet colleagues Kardashev and Slysh, who had not been able to attend our Symposium in Boston. The volume is divided into eight sections, the first of which serves as a general introduction, and the other seven correspond to the seven sessions of the Symposium.

Searching for Evidence of Life Beyond Earth, 1993 Life At The Center Of The Energy Crisis: A Technologist's Search For A Black Swan George H. Miley, 2013-04-30

Life At The Center Of The Energy Crisis: A Technologist's Search For A Black Swan describes the story of the author's work and struggles in the field of energy research. The author's experience in the field spans from work with Admiral Rickover and the Nuclear Navy to research with NASA designing propulsion for spacecraft to travel to Mars. The book provides insights into the differences between nuclear research done during the Cold War by the two superpowers and offers a commentary on the flaws in each system, with hope for change in the future. The book also provides a look into the development of the nuclear engineering program at the University of Illinois from the author's years as a professor and an administrator.
