Race, Religion, and the 'Indian Muslim' Predicament in Singapore Torsten Tschacher, 2017-11-10 Indian Muslims form the largest ethnic minority within Singapore's otherwise largely Malay Muslim community. Despite its size and historic importance, however, Singaporean Indian Muslims have received little attention by scholarship and have also felt sidelined by Singapore's Malay-dominated Muslim institutions. Since the 1980s, demands for a better representation of Indian Muslims and access to religious services have intensified, while there has been a concomitant debate over who has the right to speak for Indian Muslims. This book traces the negotiations and contestations over Indian Muslim difference in Singapore and examines the conditions that have given rise to these debates. Despite considerable differences existing within the putative Indian Muslim community, the way this community is imagined is surprisingly uniform. Through discussions of the importance of ethnic difference for social and religious divisions among Singaporean Indian Muslims, the role of culture and race in debates about popular religion, the invocation of language and history in negotiations with the wider Malay Muslim context, and the institutional setting in which contestations of Indian Muslim difference take place, this book argues that these debates emerge from the structural tensions resulting from the intersection of race and religion in the public organization of Islam in Singapore.

'Pre-Islamic Survivals' in Muslim Central Asia R. Charles Weller, 2023-04-30 The book traces the conceptual lens of historical cultural survivals from the late 19th century theories of E. B. Tylor, James Frazer, and others in debate with monotheistic degenerationists and Protestant anti-Catholic polemicists back to its origins in Jewish, Christian, and Muslim traditions, as well as later, more secularized forms in the German Enlightenment and Romanticist movements. These historical sources, particularly the dual faith tradition of Russian Orthodoxy, significantly shaped both Tsarist and later Soviet ethnography of Muslim Central Asia, helping guide and justify their respective religious, missionary, social, legal, political, and other imperial agendas. They continue impacting post-Soviet historiography in complex and debated ways. Drawing from European, Central Asian, Middle Eastern, and world history, the fields of ethnography and anthropology, as well as Christian and Islamic studies, the volume contributes to scholarship on syncretism and conversion, definitions of Islam, history, identity, and heritage, and more. It is situated within a broader global historical frame, addressing debates over pre-Islamic survivals among Turkish and Iranian, as well as Egyptian, North African, Berber, Black African, and South Asian Muslim peoples, while critiquing the legacy of the Geertzian cultural turn within Western post-colonialist scholarship in relation to diverging trends of historiography in the post-World War Two era.

Sunquist, 2013-09-15 This comprehensive introduction helps students, pastors, and mission committees understand contemporary Christian mission historically, biblically, and theologically. He traces the mission of the church throughout history in order to address the global church and offers a constructive theology and practice for missionary work today Sunquist views spirituality as the foundation for all mission involvement for mission practice springs from spiritual formation He highlights the Holy Spirit in the work of mission and emphasizes its trinitarian nature Sunquist explores mission from a primarily theological rather than sociological perspective showing that the whole of Christian theology depends on and feeds into mission Throughout the book he presents Christian mission as our participation in the suffering and glory of Jesus Christ for the redemption of the nations Resources in Education ,1998 The Struggle over Singapore's Soul Joseph B.
